Hollinger and Dome Extension Move Up and Down in Erratic Manner and Wind Up Day Comparatively Unchanged-Cobalts

World Office, Saturday Evening, June 22. Prices underwent considerable read-Prices underwent considerable readjustment in the mining exchanges during the short session to-day. In the first hour heavy liquidation carried the leaders, Hollinger and Dome Extension, down precipitately, the former selling down 15 points to $11.85, while the latter was carried back to 25 1-2c, a net decline of 3 1-2 cents a share from the preceding close. The last hour, however, brought an extensive recovery in which the recession was almost completely wiped out, so that the covery in which the recession most completely wiped out, so that in list closed comparatively unchanged for the day.

Current gossip was to the effect that the bear interest had seized upon the occasion as one particularly favorable for the revival of liquidation, but the manner in which all offerings were taken up after the preliminary decline and more particularly the way in which bids were raised on the cessation of the onsiaught could only be viewed as indicative of the error of any such deduction. The result of the movement was to wipe out a good many weakly held accounts and the situation was thereby strengthened to just that extent.

The above record does not include the actual had been renewed and that he moved and that he materially of late. The actual production of 1911 was $15,000,00, or over a million dollars shaded of 1910. The total output of the camp from 1904 to Jan.

thereby strengthened to just that extent.

The report that the pool in Dome Extension had been renewed and that 80,000 shares had been tied up again proved the turning point of the day's events. Sentiment was undoubtedly established on a more favorable basis by the announcement, the removal of so many shares of the stock as a market influence being viewed as a bullish factor of considerable weight.
