THE CHIEF ENGINEER-James T. MacLean, C. H. M. & M. E., who has had a large, practical experience in mining, milling, hydraulics, placer work, and every part of the industry. He is an engineer of great ability, absolutely reliable, and a hard worker.

There are no salaried directors, and there will not be until over ten per cent. dividends are being paid.

PROPERTY-The mining property of this Company is situated in the northwest corner of Jackson County, Oregon, in the "Cascade Forest Reserve," about 60 miles north of California, and on the western foothills of the Cascade Range. There are 12 full locations (240 acres), which practically cover all the surface of what is known locally as

"Buzzard Mountain," a rounded peak, of volcanic origin, nearly 3-4 of a mile in diameter, rising over 700 feet above the level of the mill site on Elk Creek. The entire mountain is a mass of uartz-porphyry intersected by stratas or veins of rich "rotten quartz." IT IS ALL: MILLING ORE. The estimate of the quantity above mill level by C. W. Evans, C. & M.E., of Ashland, Oregon, and James T. MacLean, C.H.M. & M.E., of New York—both thoroughly competent, reliable, and conservative engineers—is four hundred million tons. As the ore is similar to the rich Tonopah ores, it is expected to run to great depth, and the values to steadily increase. It is a free-milling, concentrating and cyaniding proposition. The ore can be delivered at the mill in immense quantities for less than 25 cents per ton. It is easily quarried and still more easily milled. All the ore will pay handsomely for treatment. Apart from the rich veins, the gold values are from $8 per ton and upwards. The rich "pay-streaks" or stratas of "rotten quartz" vary from 3 inches to 20 feet wide. They run parallel to each other about 22 feet apart. One of these, 40 inches wide, stripped or tunneled for 800 feet, averages: Gold, $28.00; silver, $24.40. Another one, over 20 feet wide, gave over $10.00 per ton on the plates of the testing mill, besides the rich sulphurets. The ore is somewhat similar to the quartz at the great Treadwell Mine, on Douglas Island, Alaska, but is very much more easily mined and milled, and at least

WATER POWER: An immense water power within five miles of the property can be harnessed to supply up to 8,000 horse power. There is an unlimited water supply on the property of all milling require-

TIMBER AND WOOD: There is over one million feet of clean, tall timber on the property. There is an abundance of wood for fuel.

RAILROADS AND ROADS: The nearest railway station is Central Point on the Oregon and Southern Pacific, distant 44 miles. There is a good wagon road to the property, the last eight miles of which was built by the former owners. The heaviest machinery necessary can be taken in to the mine. A railroad now being built will pass with-

CAMPS: Good camp accommodation for twenty men is provided. Everything is practically ready to proceed with operations.

DEVELOPMENT: Over 1200 feet of tunnels have been cut into this mass for testing purposes. A 3 1-2 foot Huntington Mill was installed by the original owners, who knew very little about mining, and still less about milling, yet in the sampling and testing of the different classes of ore they made enough to pay most of the development and a living besides.

MILLING: The present owners have lately purchased this property. The small mill is now being properly installed, and will be at work before the end of August. It will earn over $50.00 net per day. A milling plant will at once be ordered and installed, capable of fully treating 200 tons or over per day. When this initial plant has demonstrated the most economical and profitable method of milling this particular ore, then a large plant will be installed, capable of handling from 12,000 to 15,000 tons per day.

THE ORE IS PILED UP READY FOR MILLING

(A Statement from the Treasurer.)

The owners of this mine are practical mining men. They are thoroughly posted on all the improved methods of securing values from the ore. It is a very simple proposition in this instance. The ore carries good values right from the "grass roots." Money can be made by "any old method." Operations were commenced the moment the property was secured. The "Testing Mill" will be running before the end of August and earning from $50.00 to $100.00 per day. Preparations are now under way to instal a large "Initial Plant" to handle at least 200 tons per day.

The application for Incorporation is being prepared, and the Charter will be obtained as quickly as possible. The titles have been passed by our attorneys. They are the usual mining titles, without a flaw on the record.

We offer the public 60,000 shares at twenty cents on the dollar, that isa $5.00 share for $1.00, to raise $60,000.00. Every dollar received will be used on or in connection with the property to enlarge the milling operations. No application will be received for less than 100 shares. Only 60,000 shares will be sold. Every applicant will receive his subscription in full until that point is reached. All the necessary data in this advertisement to form the basis of subscription. Subscribers will please send 25 per cent. of their subscriptions with their application. The balance will be due and payable on five days' notice, when the Charter has been obtained, so that legal certificates can be

The operations will go on whether the public subscribe or not, but necessarily more slowly. The present small milling plant can be steadily increased until a large output is provided for. Only the richest ore need be milled. In a letter received to-day (August 14) from the mine, Mr. MacLean says:

"I have devoted my time for a few days to the ore that has been opened "up by tunnels, containing millions of tons. I have panned some of the virgin "ground that would go over $100.00—free gold_to the ton."

The lowest estimates, based on many tests and mill runs, place the bullion values at over $8.00 per ton of ore. The ore is easily milled, and at the utmost the cost of mining and milling will not exceed $1.50 per ton.

Monthly reports will be sent to every shareholder, and the smallest shareholder will receive exactly the same fair treatment and dividends as the largest.

We have every reason to believe that this is a larger and better property in every way than the Alaska-Treadwell, which is capitalized at $5,000,000, and has paid $8,785,000.00 in dividends; or the Homestake, which is capitalized at $21,840,000.00 and has paid dividends of $16,080,250.00. Both of these properties carry values of less than $4.00 per ton. Their ore is hard, has to be mined and hoisted, and their mines steadily unwatered.
