

ROBBER FOR PHILIBUSTERING

In What the United States Seem to Be Just Now When Spanish Interests Are at Stake.

New York, Sept. 22.—A special from Manila to The Herald says: Mariana Comenol Oribe Rizal, the widow of Dr. Hozme Rizal, who was executed in the Philippine Islands by General Playfaja on Dec. 6, 1896, is in Philadelphia. Dr. Rizal was the leader of the revolution. He had been President of Manila University. Mariana Comenol Oribe has been a student in the university. An attachment had sprung up, and on Dec. 4 the girl went into the thick of the battle to meet her lover and the young husband was captured. The Spanish General visited the prisoner, and offered him life, liberty and passports for himself and wife if he would persuade the insurgents to yield. He refused to buy his freedom at such a price, and was shot to death by the Spaniards.

Making Guns for Philippines.

Mrs. Rizal went to Japan, and there found sympathy and encouragement. Through her, arms and supplies were sent to the insurgents in the Philippines. Many cases of arms and ammunition have been seized by the authorities, and she will be sent to Japan from Philadelphia. A well-known arms manufacturing establishment is said to be completing thousands of rifles, and is at work completing more for the same purpose. A band of recruits will be sent from America as soon as they can be collected. The work has all been done so secretly that the presence of Mrs. Rizal in Philadelphia has been known only to two or three of her most trusted friends. One of the most important steps yet taken by the Philippine insurgents has been their resolution to join forces with Cuba for mutual interests.

GRAY HAIRS SAVED HER.

A Burglar Was Driven Off by an Aged Woman, Who Asked, "My God, Haven't You a Mother?"

New York, Sept. 22.—It was 2 o'clock last Sunday morning when Mrs. Pardon Hazeltine, gray-haired and lonely, was awakened by a creaking noise and started by the sight of a dimly outlined figure in the door of her bedroom. She lives in a cottage on the outskirts of Mount Vernon and of neighbors has but few. In a few moments the figure had advanced to the bedside and a gruff voice said: "I want you to get up and give up everything you got and go with me. With a quick leap the aged woman was on the floor. In an instant the man grabbed her arm. Like a flash he was covered. Mrs. Hazeltine's voice shook the courage from the man's breast: "Don't you have a hand on me?"

Reynolds, freight agent of the Mississippi Valley Railroad. The cases are all improving, and are considered out of danger. Chief O'Connor has placed another engine at the disposal of a special volunteer force, and the downtown streets, alleys and back yards are being thoroughly scrubbed.

New Cases at Edwards.

DILL V. THE DOMINION BANK.

Text of the Settlement Arrived at This Office—All Parties Fully Satisfied.

As some misunderstanding exists as to the settlement of the action brought by Mr. John Dill against the Dominion Bank the official account thereof is here published: Dill v. Dominion Bank—Before the Hon. Chief Justice Armour at the Court House, Toronto, Monday, the 20th day of September, 1897.

Mr. Dill: The account is to be treated as a 4 per cent. savings bank account, interest to be computed half-yearly until 1892 inclusive, and thereafter yearly; the bank to credit for or deduct the two cheques, one of $200 and one of $100, but not to deduct the cheque for $500, and to allow over and above the balance so ascertained, $400. The bank will pay the sum of $12,000. The plaintiff is to be entitled to elect between the sum to be ascertained by putation and the $12,000. No costs to either party. The account to be treated of the present date. All errors to be eliminated, and a correct balance to be reached. Any disputed calculation to be referred to an accountant to be named by the Judge.

My lord, in this case there were grave irregularities in the Eastern-branch branch, and the directors of the bank instructed Mr. Dill to go to the bank and endeavor to adjust them as far as possible, irrespective of strict legal rights, and have him adjust all but this one, where we were too far apart. My learned friend thinks, perhaps, I have not concurred enough. I think I have concurred a great deal too much, and I have concurred in matters with a view of getting what was fair under the circumstances than because we admitted the liability.

Mr. Shepley: I do not add anything to that, my lord, it is not because I have not concurred enough. I think you are well out of it, Mr. Shepley.

Mr. Shepley: I think the bank is pretty well out of it, too, my lord.

In connection with the case it may be stated that Sir Frank Smith sent for the solicitors of the bank before the trial, and gave them instructions to deal in the fairest possible manner with this claim, as he said, the bank had no other interest than to treat every one with the strictest fairness and even liberality.

AT THE SESSIONS.

Complicated Case Respecting Cattle—Charge of Stealing Several Animals.

At the sessions yesterday, and will be concluded to-day, the address yet having to be delivered. Alexander Shields, a Brantford farmer, is the complainant, and James Christie, a farmer and cattle dealer of York Township, is the prisoner, who is accused by Shields of stealing a number of cattle. According to a statement of Mr. Christie, Shields owed him $90 on a chattel mortgage on some horses which Christie sold. Shields claimed that his chances of getting his money were somewhat slender, and he should work out his indebtedness by pasturing and herding Shields' head of cattle. The 23 horses were handed over, and Christie's brother, James Christie, was to be in charge of the horses. Christie claimed that only 12 horses were delivered, one being lost between Toronto and Brantford, and never found. Shields accepted the explanation, and committed Christie from time to time. The latter told him the cattle were doing well, and said he would sell two cows for $22 each. Shields told him to take it. He forbade him to trade in a cow for some horse, but allowed him to place some of the cows with neighbors who had a charge of them for their milk. In December Shields advertised his cattle for sale, and went to Christie's place to see the cows. He was offered $24 for two cows, and $10 for a man named Biggs. He got two, and one died. Altogether he received four cows, named Charlton's payment for ten, and apparently lost the remainder. Christie gave this memorandum: "Traded two heifers for a cow and a buggy; exchanged three cows for springer and $10; exchanged springer and $10 for mare; sold cow for mare and cow for cut; exchanged one cow for bull and sold for $15; sold ten cattle for Charlton, five cattle left."

RICE RIOTS IN JAPAN. IT MEANS SOMETHING.

Calcutta Ltd to Be Sliced to Death for Accidentally Killing His Mother—News from the Orient. Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 22.—The steamship Empress of India arrived last evening from the Orient, bringing the following advices: Serious riots have occurred in Nagano Prefecture in consequence of the discount felt over the high price of rice. A mob of 2000 persons attacked the railway cars in leaving the financial office of the manager of a rice mill, and the police had to charge them with drawn swords before they were dispersed. Several persons were killed and wounded and numerous arrests made.

Reports from all parts of Japan indicate that the rice riots will exceed anything seen during the past ten years. The Japanese Government is reported to have taken 200,000 out of the remaining 300,000 shares of the Pormosa Railway, and has persuaded Formosans to take up the balance. Locomotives and cars are expected shortly from America. The work will be proceeded with immediately.

Several Japanese officials have been arrested for fraudulent acts in connection with the distribution of Government aid to the victims of the earthquake which was felt at Uawajima on Sept. 4. On the same day heavy rainstorm caused floods at Takahashi and the River Niagawa overflowed its banks.

Korea has joined the international telegraphic convention. Several Japanese papers claim that the days of the present Cabinet are limited. Its main policy is to carry out the policy and also as regards Formosa are said to have caused its downfall.

A CHUNK OF GOLD

As Big as a Cake of Soap Chipped Off a Rock—Fabulous Report. The World young man, while on a trip to the East, had a conversation with Mr. H. H. Jones of Edmonton, the number of a kind of gold, reputed to be fabulous.

Mr. Jones is a business man, well known in this city, whose word can be relied upon. He says that some years ago an Indian discovered a ledge of white quartz in a spur of the Rocky Mountains containing a deposit of gold. The ledge was about 200 feet long and 10 feet wide, and he broke off a piece of solid gold about one-half the size of a brick. It is said, in the possession of one of the men to whom the ledge in the Indian reported to show an immense area of solid gold. He gave explicit directions as to the location of the ledge, and he conducted a party to it, but had no unfortunate accident ended to the man besides Mr. Jones, and they are about to accompany Mr. Jones to the ledge, with means for the purpose of locating and securing the "riches."

Should the route to Klondike be opened up in good measure from Edmonton, it will be a comparatively easy matter to reach the gold fields. Mr. Jones expects to start about the latter end of the month, and will be on the ground before the streams rise in June.
