Pile Carpets, better still. No floor covering is so soft, so rich, so grateful to the foot and so pleasing to the eye as the English Axminsters. And, a close second, comes the Wilton.

Axminsters are deeper in pile than Wiltons. They have greater possibilities of color combination than any other machine-made carpet. They have a hand-tufted appearance some rugged in character—some refined and smooth.

The Wiltons are close and thick, like short cropped fur. They are great carpets to wear. As a rule the Wiltons come
