Pastor Russell's Sermon

THE DESIRE CF Te t: "I Will Shake All Nations, J The Desire of All Nations ALL NATIONS. nail Come." (Haggai ii, 7).

this place Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle addressed the International Bible Students' Association-about 4000. He said

The great Messiah, "King of Glory," has long been waited for by the civilized nations. Tor thirty-five centuries the Jews have waited for him as the great Prophet foreshadowed by Moses and foretold by him (Acts ii, 22); and as the Great King foreshadowed by their kings, David and Solomon; and as their glorious Priest, typified by Aaron, but specially in the former's majesty as king and priest foreshown by Melchiesdak a priest was him.

They claim that his presence is to be expected speedily. Christians of every shade, in proportion as they are conversant with the Bible (Old Testament and New) believe, also, in a great temple builder who died because of his faithfulness to the divine plans, re the spiritual temple, the elect church (I. Peter ii, 4, 5). Him they expect to come a second time "in power and great glory" to complete the temple which is His body, and in and thru that spiritual and glorious temple to bless all the families of the earth. His second presence in glory and power, but invisible to men, is believed to be imminent.

The Mohammedans, also worshipping the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and David and Solomon, are also expecting a great Heavenly Messenger to bless them and all peoples by the establishment of a heavenly kingdom. They have awaited His coming for centuries. They believe His Kingdom to be near at hand.

The same glorious personage will ful-fill all these desires—these hopes. Is it not time that all of these peoples, fearing God and hoping in His prom-ises, should come together in one hope, in one expectation?, It must be so, for do we not read prophetically, "The de-sire of all nations shall come!"

We are well aware that great barriers lie between these multitudes; but we hold that they are chiefly barriers

World Office, Saturday Evening, July 30. With the holiday season in full swing nd many brokers and speculators out of the city, it was only natural to look for a narrow market for Cobalt stocks during the week just closed. That such was realized is quite evident from the list of transactions, which were of only moderate volume, some 532,145 shares being traded in during the five business days. But there was another reason outside of the usual midsummer inactivity to account for the restricted dealing in mining shares, and that was the violent action of the big securities markets. The sensational movements on Wall street were the one topic on the "street," and on this account the Cobalt issues were left more to them-Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.L.A., received the following letter from his Thompson Gowganda claims on Saturday, in response to the telegram published a Gowganda, July 26, 1910.

Dear Mr. Gamey,—We certainly got the goods now, that is so far as it looks on surface. We struck another big vein just east of other big vein; this one is running east and west. We have it uncovered now for one hundred feet. It's still strong at twelve inohes wide; every place we pick into the vein there is silver; some places the calcife is six inches wide and half silver, also handfuls of nuggets in the cracks. This vein looks better than anything yet; this is far the

The only noteworthy feature in connection with the silver mining shares at the moment is the fact that very little stock is coming out on the slight price changes which are in evidence from day to day. Holders of Cobalt stocks are evidently in a frame of mind where they are satisfied to keep their securities. This is not at all surprising when it is considered that surprising when it is considered that the big majority of market followers For this, the last holiday of the summer, the management of Hanlan's Point have furnished a number of special features.
