

EVEN MONEY ON JEFFRIES AND JOHNSON IS TO RULE

This is Dictum of Coffroth and Tom Corbet—Hockey, Athletic, Baseball, Ring, Bowling and Skating News

"Jeffries and Johnson will go into the ring with even money and take your pick posted about their chances," said Jim Coffroth, the San Francisco fight promoter.

"Either man may be the post favorite by a shade. Just which one will be selected on the long end is a matter that late training will decide, but even money will rule during the greater portion of the betting."

Coffroth is admittedly the best judge of prices on boxing matches in the country.

The discussion came up in a New York hotel, frequented by sporting men. An offer was made to wager on the big white undefeated champion at 2 to 1. Coffroth jumped at the chance, and offered to cover any reasonable amount at such a figure.

"Not that I have formed any opinion about the match," he explained, "but I am sure the quotation is out of line. I could lay the bets off at a price that would net me a nice sum without risk."

Bearing out Coffroth's opinion that the betting on the Jeffries-Johnson fight would be at even money, Tom Corbett, the best betting commissioner of the coast, has set the betting on the championship fight at even money. Corbett has $10,000 to wager without odds that Jeffries wins. The sum will remain open to any one to accept it.

At the time the men enter the ring, Corbett said that he would bet $20,000 on Jeff if the big fellow over fights Kaufman. "I have been waiting twenty years for something soft like that," he said.

There is a strong likelihood that Ralph Calloway and Jimmy Barry will be seen in action at the Armory, Club, Boston, early next month.

Billy Rolfe and Kyle Whitney, who put up such a terrific battle the other night at the National A. C. have been rematched to box 15 rounds at the Queen City A. C. Manchester, Nov. 19.

Hockey At a largely attended meeting of hockey enthusiasts in the board of trade rooms last night, it was unanimously decided to appoint a committee of six to interview the leading citizens of this city and ascertain whether or not enough money can be obtained to warrant the starting of an All-St. John team this winter. The only rink available for hockey purposes is the Queen's and to secure this rink it will be necessary to raise the sum of $800. Unless this amount is raised there is little prospect of any hockey here this winter.

The All-St. John team, which will be made up of the best players in the city, intend to practically take control of hockey matters and expect to form a septette that will make some of the provincial teams hustle. The team will be purely amateur and no "tourists" will be allowed in the lineup. It is their intention also to form a senior city league, games to be played on three nights of the week. If St. John is to produce a St. John trophy winning team this winter it is up to the citizens of St. John to furnish funds with which to start such a team.

The members of the committee are G. Patterson, J. Kennedy, H. Clawson, J. Roberts, E. Inches and J. Phillips.

The Ottawa Hockey Club met Wednesday evening and appointed Percy M. Butler and David E. Mulligan delegates to the annual meeting of the Eastern Canada Hockey League to be held in Montreal tonight. The only new club they are in favor of admitting is one from Toronto. They will oppose applications of the Montreal Star. The old Wanderers are pre-ferred, which claims most of last year's Wanderer men.

Matters seem to be pretty much quiet in hockey just at present, says the Montreal Star. The old Wanderers are prepared to put in a new team of which Art Ross, Walter Small, and Riley Hara are to be the nucleus but it is rumored that they have not yet finally decided to whom they will swear allegiance.

They have made strong efforts to get Messrs. Russell Bowie and Dunham to join forces with them, but these gentlemen, although appreciative of the suggestion, have respectfully declined.

Word was received in a letter from Winnipeg to Frederick Lake, in Ottawa, that the Shamrock hockey team of that place will send one of the strongest teams to Ottawa this winter, after the Stanley cup, that ever came east. No less celebrities than Tom Phillips and Lester Patrick may be seen on the line-up of the Winnipeg Paddy Chambers, who is a member of the team, declare both Patrick and "Kenora Tom" will be on the Shamrock seven.

It does not appear that the Intermediate Football League is so finish out the season amicably. Just at present the three teams are in a tussle as to which one shall gain possession of the cup now in the hands of the Currie team, who won it in 1908. A meeting of the teams was held at the university last night at which the Micmacs forfeited the game which they were to have played today with the Currie aggregation. In this case the Carleton and Currie teams would have to play off for the cup as each team have won one game and tied one. This the Carleton management did not agree to. They state that as the Micmacs are out of the winning they wish to aid the Currie team by forfeiting the game.

Manager Baskin, of the Carleton team, last night stated that he would place the matter before the trustees of the cup at the earliest opportunity and the Carleton team would abide wholly by their decision. Should a play off be decided on they are willing to go on the gridiron and let the best team win.

The intermediates did not seem to take the same interest in the league this year as they did last, and as a result they have not been playing the game as well as they should have. The Micmacs had a strong team together last season and made the Currie team hustle to win the championship. So far this year they have been unable to get anything near a winning team together, and as a result have decided to give their last game in the series to the Currie team. This does not seem altogether right as a championship team should always win on their laurels and not have a "hand-out." However, should the Carleton team agree to play-off, the local followers of the game will be given a chance to see "some" football as both teams will, no doubt, be out to win. The Carleton boys have the heaviest team in the league this season and stand a good chance to win.

The Turf St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 12.—Director, 21 years old, 2,314, which set a world record for four-year-old trotters in 1893 on the Nashville track, died Thursday at

Terms have been agreed upon, and it is only necessary now to await the consent of the two stars.

Skating

At the annual meeting of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada, in Montreal on Monday night, the following officers were elected for the new year:—Hon. President—W. G. Ross; president—James A. Taylor; 1st vice-president—Major Freeman; 2nd vice-president—Frank White (St. John, N. B.); Hon. Sec. Treas. Louis Rubenstein; executive—Sir Montagu Allan; Dr. H. B. Haining; Hon. O. H. Dods; W. C. Finley and P. D. Ross (Ottawa).

It was decided to continue the plan started last year of awarding medals for events decided at the city indoor rinks during the winter months, the events to be special ones held under the auspices of the Skating Association.

Figure skating will be encouraged more than it has been in some years. The International Skating Union, of which Mr. Rubenstein is president, will meet soon in Chicago, and there the question of arranging figure skating programmes on the style adopted in Europe will be taken up and an effort made to standardize the competitions.

Whether a championship meet for Canada will be held in Montreal as last winter will depend upon later developments and the international meeting in Chicago. There is some talk of the meeting going to Toronto, but so far there is nothing definite.

Bowling

The Star team defeated the Times yesterday afternoon on the Victoria Bowling Academy, winning all four points. The Star team this year a comfortable lead. The scores yesterday were:—

Table with 2 columns: Name, Score. Includes Sullivan, Robb, McQuinn, Taylor, etc.

At a largely attended meeting of hockey enthusiasts in the board of trade rooms last night, it was unanimously decided to appoint a committee of six to interview the leading citizens of this city and ascertain whether or not enough money can be obtained to warrant the starting of an All-St. John team this winter.

The only rink available for hockey purposes is the Queen's and to secure this rink it will be necessary to raise the sum of $800. Unless this amount is raised there is little prospect of any hockey here this winter.

The All-St. John team, which will be made up of the best players in the city, intend to practically take control of hockey matters and expect to form a septette that will make some of the provincial teams hustle.

The members of the committee are G. Patterson, J. Kennedy, H. Clawson, J. Roberts, E. Inches and J. Phillips.

The Ottawa Hockey Club met Wednesday evening and appointed Percy M. Butler and David E. Mulligan delegates to the annual meeting of the Eastern Canada Hockey League to be held in Montreal tonight.

The only new club they are in favor of admitting is one from Toronto. They will oppose applications of the Montreal Star. The old Wanderers are preferred, which claims most of last year's Wanderer men.

Matters seem to be pretty much quiet in hockey just at present, says the Montreal Star. The old Wanderers are prepared to put in a new team of which Art Ross, Walter Small, and Riley Hara are to be the nucleus but it is rumored that they have not yet finally decided to whom they will swear allegiance.

They have made strong efforts to get Messrs. Russell Bowie and Dunham to join forces with them, but these gentlemen, although appreciative of the suggestion, have respectfully declined.

Word was received in a letter from Winnipeg to Frederick Lake, in Ottawa, that the Shamrock hockey team of that place will send one of the strongest teams to Ottawa this winter, after the Stanley cup, that ever came east.

No less celebrities than Tom Phillips and Lester Patrick may be seen on the line-up of the Winnipeg Paddy Chambers, who is a member of the team, declare both Patrick and "Kenora Tom" will be on the Shamrock seven.

It does not appear that the Intermediate Football League is so finish out the season amicably. Just at present the three teams are in a tussle as to which one shall gain possession of the cup now in the hands of the Currie team, who won it in 1908.

A meeting of the teams was held at the university last night at which the Micmacs forfeited the game which they were to have played today with the Currie aggregation. In this case the Carleton and Currie teams would have to play off for the cup as each team have won one game and tied one.

This the Carleton management did not agree to. They state that as the Micmacs are out of the winning they wish to aid the Currie team by forfeiting the game.

Manager Baskin, of the Carleton team, last night stated that he would place the matter before the trustees of the cup at the earliest opportunity and the Carleton team would abide wholly by their decision.

Should a play off be decided on they are willing to go on the gridiron and let the best team win.

The intermediates did not seem to take the same interest in the league this year as they did last, and as a result they have not been playing the game as well as they should have.

The Micmacs had a strong team together last season and made the Currie team hustle to win the championship. So far this year they have been unable to get anything near a winning team together, and as a result have decided to give their last game in the series to the Currie team.

This does not seem altogether right as a championship team should always win on their laurels and not have a "hand-out." However, should the Carleton team agree to play-off, the local followers of the game will be given a chance to see "some" football as both teams will, no doubt, be out to win.

The Carleton boys have the heaviest team in the league this season and stand a good chance to win.

The Turf St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 12.—Director, 21 years old, 2,314, which set a world record for four-year-old trotters in 1893 on the Nashville track, died Thursday at

HER DEATH WAS HOURLY EXPECTED

Enterprise, Ont., Oct. 1st, 1909. For seven years I suffered with what physicians called a "Water-Tumor." Hypodermics of morphia had to be given me to ease the pain.

THE FORESTRY QUESTION IN DOMINION OF CANADA

Every Province Should Have a Bureau of Forestry Says Dr. Fernow—The Timber License System

Dr. B. E. Fernow, dean of the faculty of forestry of the University of Toronto, recently lectured before the Canadian Club at Berlin, Ont., on the subject of Forestry in Canada. Dr. Fernow dealt with the subject from a patriotic standpoint. He showed that the three factors in the progress of a nation were men, natural resources and accumulating wealth of capital.

The most important of these was the men. The natural resources, great resources had sunk to decay because of lack of character, while others in lands poorly endowed by nature had become great by energy and foresight. Forestry was essentially a patriotic subject, as it meant the leaving of the resources in the best condition for future generations. The forest, because it produced absolutely necessary wood, and because of its power of reproduction and its effect on climatic and water conditions, was the greatest single resource of any country.

Later he said that the timber license system of Ontario, under which the crown retained ownership of the land and growing timber, and sold only the mature timber fit for harvest, was the most ingenious device, which in the early pioneering stages could hardly have been improved, except for the abuses, which had grown up around it, but which were not a necessary part of the system. Appraisers, in fact, the forest areas needed to be made useful and revenue derived therefrom, and to do so capital was needed to be attracted. Yet the land itself, at least as far as it was available for farming purposes, needed to be reserved for settlement.

As long as mere exploitation of the surplus of virgin timber and the opening up of the country was the object, this system worked well, although an unnecessary and undesirable liberality allowed the timber limits to be retained in the hands of licensees and their claims to be extended not only to the grown but to the growing timber. Now, however, when it was recognized, first, that the virgin timber supply was not only inexhaustible but near exhaustion, when there was no more need to force settlement, when there was no more difficulty to induce capital to embark in timber exploitation, when the revenue question was not any more urgent, and the need of considering the future of the land to be most prominent, the timber license system had become an evil, which should be excised or thoroughly reformed.

It must be realized that radical changes could practically only be made by the government assuming in an equitable manner any financial loss caused by changes of contract. Moreover, he was convinced that the only way of making the existing conditions would not satisfy the situation, but a radical change of attitude and radical cure was needed. This he believed could be brought about by the appointment of a royal commission which should ascertain the conditions and devise new plans in accordance with the facts.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

After expressing the belief that each province would soon have a bureau of forestry, and expressing the hope that Canada would make a progress like that of Germany, Dr. Fernow went on to refer to the work the Ontario government was doing in the relating of its lands to the Norfolk. There were at least 125,000 acres of such waste land in Lambton, Norfolk, and the beginning was small, and while the beginning was small, it was in the right direction and should be encouraged, and should be continued on a definite basis like the Prussian policy.

THE LLOYD-GEORGE TAXES; BY THE MAN WHO IS RESPONSIBLE

Chancellor of Exchequer Writes of Scope and Purpose—The Issues of the Budget

In the course of an article in the Nation, entitled "The Issues of the Budget," the chancellor of the exchequer writes as follows: "There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day."

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

There are ominous signs that we may be approaching a stage of the budgetary struggle for over 250 years. If the struggle comes, it is a subject for gratification that it should arise over a measure which probably raises in a more direct and more decisive fashion than any other legislative proposal living memory, some of the most important issues of the day.

TROPHY WON IN ST. JOHN

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

The handsome silver trophy won by G. Footes for the 30-mile bicycle road race in the Every Day Club sports at St. John, three weeks ago is on exhibition in W. L. Tuttle's window.

REVIVING DEAD TREES

Orchards Not Worthless After a Visit From the Scale

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspondent N. Y. World.) Peaches four inches in diameter and fourteen of which more than filled a half bushel basket, exhibited by Ludd S. Richardson, a gardener of this town, as proof of what can be done with fruit trees reclaimed from the ravages of the scale.

(Burlington Correspond