The terms of the Irish agreement as announced in the House of Commons Thursday night by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, are as follows:

- First—Peace is today declared.
- Second—From today the two governments undertake to co-operate in every way in their power with a view to the restoration of peaceful conditions in the unsettled areas.
- Third—The police in Belfast are to be organized in general in accordance with the following conditions:

 - 2—An advisors' committee composed of Catholics will assist in the selection of Catholic recruits for the special police.
 - 3—All police on duty, except the usual section service men to be uniformed and officially numbered.
 - 4—All arms and ammunition issued to the police to be deposited in a barracks in charge of a military or other competent officer when policemen are not on duty, and an official record must be kept of all arms issued and ammunition used.
- Fourth—A court is to be constituted for the trial, without jury, of persons charged with serious crimes, the court to consist of the lord chief justice and one of the lords justices of appeal in Northern Ireland.
- Fifth—Any person committed for trial for a serious crime is to be tried by that court (a) if he so requests, or (b) if the attorney-general for northern Ireland so directs. Serious crimes are those punishable by death, penal servitude or imprisonment exceeding six months. The government of northern Ireland will take steps to pass necessary legislation to give effect to this article.
- Sixth—A committee is to be established in Belfast, with equal numbers of Catholics and Protestants, and with an independent chairman, preferably a Catholic or Protestant alternately in successive weeks, to hear and investigate complaints of intimidation, outrages, etc., such committee having direct access to the heads of the government.
- Seventh—The local press is to be approached with a view of inserting only such reports of disturbances, etc., as shall have been considered and communicated by this committee.
- Eighth—Irish Republic Army activities are to cease in the six counties, and thereupon a method of organizing special police in the six counties outside of Belfast shall proceed as speedily as possible on lines similar to those agreed to in Belfast.
- Ninth—During the month immediately following the passing into law of the Free State, being the month within which the northern parliament is to exercise its option, and before any address, in accordance with Article XII of the treaty, is presented, there shall be a further meeting between the signatories of the agreement with a view of ascertaining (a) whether means can be devised to secure unity in Ireland, or (b) failing this, whether an agreement can be devised at on the boundary question otherwise than by recourse to the boundary commission under the treaty.
- Tenth—The return to their homes of persons expelled is to be secured by the respective governments and the advice of the committee mentioned in article five is to be sought in cases of difficulty.

The northern signatories agree to use every effort to secure the restoration of the expelled workmen, and wherever this proves impracticable owing to trade depression they will be afforded employment on relief work.
- Twelfth—The two governments can in cases agreed upon between the signatories, arrange for the release of political prisoners in prison for offences committed before the date hereof. No offences committed after March 31 shall be open to consideration.

Perfection At Last

The Range You've Longed For

WHEN Westinghouse engineers designed this range they thought of every cooking convenience a woman could wish for—and the result was the perfect range, the range so simple even a child can operate.

Mechanically this range is superior to any other. The oven lining is porcelain enamel; every single part is removable, which means it can be kept permanently sweet, spotless and rustless. The fuses are mounted on the front of the range and can easily be changed. Every heating unit plugs in and can be detached by hand.

The WESTINGHOUSE RANGE has so many exclusive features, you'll want to see it demonstrated before you buy. Ask the dealer to tell you about it or write us for booklet.
