no desertion, he says. Ira Thomas, catcher of the Philadel-phia American League baseball team, and that club's delegate to the Baseball Players' Fraternity, denied that the world's champions have deserted the cause of the fraternity.

"It is true that the Athletics did not sign the paper which contained the demands of the National and American Leagues," said Thomas, "but that was because we were busy with the world's series when the meeting was held, and the series was too important for us to bother about other things."

"Our players are in sympathy with the fraternity and we will go along with that body as we agreed to do."

"It is also true that some players in other clubs have little grievances which they wish straightened out, but I can-

President Farrell that Knight would not be needed next season. Farrell immediately closed the Toledo deal.

Diamond Sparkles. The next day or two should settle were Tinker, deposed Cincinnati manager, is to play next year.

It is interesting to note that Lajoie, famous Cleveland veteran, accepted more chances at second per game, than Collins of the Athletics.

Once more is Christy Mathewson, the king of National league pitchers, the veteran is certainly one of the most remarkable pitchers of all time.

Three Chicago National league players whose contracts expired in 1913 have signed for 1914. They are Outfielder Schulte, Pitcher Koestner, a new man from the Pacific coast, and Pitcher Stuck.

No Desertion, He Says. Ira Thomas, catcher of the Philadel-phia American League baseball team, and that club's delegate to the Baseball Players' Fraternity, denied that the world's champions have deserted the cause of the fraternity.

"It is true that the Athletics did not sign the paper which contained the demands of the National and American Leagues," said Thomas, "but that was because we were busy with the world's series when the meeting was held, and the series was too important for us to bother about other things."

"Our players are in sympathy with the fraternity and we will go along with that body as we agreed to do."

"It is also true that some players in other clubs have little grievances which they wish straightened out, but I cannot see why there should be the slightest friction over the items. That does not apply to the Athletics, however, for we all feel that Mr. Mack is more than fair to us, and we do not look upon him as a manager, but rather as a father.

"Even if we signed the fraternity request we should not do so with the thought that they applied to Mr. Mack."

The defeat of Wells. The quick defeat of Bombardier Wells in the world's series was a hard jolt to the English sportsmen. It appears, more on account of the British champion's swiftness than because they expected him to win. A cable to the New York Times says:

"The fight which was scheduled to go twenty rounds, for a purse and stakes amounting to $20,000, the largest ever offered by the National Sporting Club, attracted greater attention than any contest in the last decade. Newspapers for days have printed columns discussing the comparative merits of the two men, with the result that, although Englishmen were prepared to back Wells at even money, they were not overconfident of his chances of victory, despite his big advantage in the matter of weight, height and reach."

"Wells' biggest handicap, however, was his nerves. He entered the ring looking like a beaten man, whereas Carpenter was the coolest-looking individual in the building."

"If Wells were the worst-trained man in the world," says one report, "it would not account for the miserable exhibition he gave, as his training had nothing to do with it. It was sheer absence of a fighter's temperament and inability to give of the best he had on a great occasion that beat Wells, and with all his advantages, he was a poor fighter who is not also a born fool."

"Wells' nervousness was apparent when he wasted much time over the preliminaries to the contest, the spectators losing patience and making audible comments regarding the Englishman's tardiness."

When time was called Carpenter came from his corner full of confidence and fight. He lost no time in sparring, and evidently saw the best tactics were to give Wells time to feel his feet and recover his nerves."

RUNNING. Quail Won Amherst Race.

Billy Quail, A. E. Woods and Alfred Shrubbs was the order in which the runners finished in the twelve mile race at Amherst last night. The time was sixty-five minutes four seconds.

ATHLETIC. Britain Will Enter Games.

Despite the fact Great Britain does not approve of the present methods of conducting the Olympic games, she feels committed to the coming contest in Berlin, 1916. So Oxford University has endorsed the appeal of the British Olympic Council for $500,000 to defray the expenses of the athletes selected to represent their country.

At the same time the English athletic leaders do not feel that they are committed to any future event beyond 1916, and wish to make this point plain to other countries.

Box Postponed.

The twenty-round bout scheduled for last night between Willie Ritchie and Tommy Murphy in San Francisco, was postponed on account of rain.

Masterpiece. The London Mail had a long interview with Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian author, on the subject of boxing. Maeterlinck concluded his remarks by donning the gloves and giving the correspondent a lively three rounds.

Maeterlinck ridiculed the idea that boxing was degrading, saying: "It is the discipline of violence. It is violence civilized by conventions that are almost countless. The boxer is never a rowdy. On the contrary, his knowledge gives himself confidence. Combative instincts are an integral part of our nature; the man who lacks them lacks mental vigor."

News of the Boxers.

Willie Lewis, middleweight, who has been in Paris for some time, was accidentally wounded in the leg by Frank Moreau, a French boxer, while they were shooting near Paris the other day.

Harry Lewis, a Philadelphia middleweight, who had a close call from death in that city some weeks ago, is out of the hospital, but may never be able to box again.

Willie Beecher and Young Shugrue are booked for a bout in Troy on Jan. 4.

At the end of the fourth round of the bout between Johnny Gant of Cleveland and Grover Hayes of Philadelphia in Pittsburgh on Monday it was discovered that Gant had broken his left arm.

The fight was called off by Referee Bill Crowley of Hartford, Conn. after Dr. George E. Reynolds had made an examination and pronounced that Gant had broken the ulna bone.

May Be Victim of Asphyxia.

On Friday of this week the unsolved mystery of Dorothy Arnold will be three years old. The coincidence has suggested all manner of analogies, but these, like many of the clever hints and suggestions, have led to nothing.

"We have absolutely no news of my daughter yet," said Robert G. McCann, "I can only hope the newspapers will keep up their good work in aid of us."

Then the distracted father begged that his message to the missing girl might be published again, in the hope that it might find her wherever she may be.

"For God's sake, Sis, come come to your heartbroken parents. Your mother is distracted and will die if you don't return soon," he said. "Sis" was a family nickname.

Members of the family are about ready to accept the suggestion of the family physician Dr. Roger Durham, appearance.

that the girl has broken down and may be wandering somewhere a victim of asphyxia.

The police also believe that Miss McCann will return home before very. They were particularly interested in the fact that on Thursday morning at the breakfast table, an hour or so before she left home, she received a letter. After reading this she began to weep. Members of the family, however, believe the letter has no bearing on the girl's disappearance.
