Many Reforms Are On Programme For

These Include Abolition of Patron-Feeble-minded, Woman Suffrage, Woman Factory Inspector, Referm of Election Laws, and form of Election Laws, and Others of Importance

The social service council of New Brunswick yesterday passed resolutions calling for a number of important reforms and appointed committees to gather information and press these matters upon those in authority.

The meeting was held in the board of frade rooms, with the president, A. M. Belding, in the chair. Beside him on the platform were Rev. Dr. Shearer and Rev. Dr. Moore of Toronto, joint secretaries of the social service council of Canada. The meeting lasted for more than three hours and a very great deal of business was dealt with in a business-like way. The president was authorized to appoint a committee to consider amendments to the provincial election law and take the matter up with the government. The government will be urged to abolish the patronage system. The organization of a dominion labor bureau with branch bureaus throughout the country, as urged by Miss E. St. John Wileman, was endorsed. The council endorsed the prohibition enforcement league. It also declared its support of the new compensation act based on acts of Nova Seotia and the western provinces. The provincial government will be urged to appoint a word of the new compensation act based on acts of Nova Seotia and the western provinces. The provincial government will be urged to appoint a woman factory inspector. Matters relating to the marriage laws, public health, McDonough Brought to End of His and some others were also dealt with.

Dr. Shearer and Dr. Moore paid a warm tribute to the business-like manner in which this council is taking up its work

Canada.

Before leaving the city Dr. Shearer and Dr. Moore had a short interview with Walter E. Foster, the coming premier. They left last night for Halifax a South End hotel, spending and giving

THE MAN WHO WINS

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will—they are leaders. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are always neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole are fullistes that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. The "Kid" was well dressed, having "A Battle of Hearts," starring the talented actor, William Farnum, is the first filmed story of sea life presented by William Fox. In this picture, now being shown at the Star Theatre, Mr. Farnum acts the part of a noble sailor character, brave and capable of great self-sacrifice. He is in love with a sea captain's daughter, a part taken by Elda Furry, his new leading lady, but through the piots of the villain of the story the girl does not realize the capacity of his love until the end of the play.

Incidental to the story, which was enacted on Catalina Island, off the California coast, there is a shipwreck in which both Mr. Farnum and Miss Furry figure. The excitement as produced on those viewing the picture, is no less than that of the actors, who were in real personal danger during the making of this part. The heroine's other lover becomes a smuggler of the coast, and the plot includes some thrilling adventures of the male star with the seacoast outlaws on the rocky cliffs of Catalina.

ures of the male star with the seacoast outlaws on the rocky cliffs of Catalina. The scenes of the little fishing village are most accurately portrayed. The village was built for the purpose by Director Oscar C. Apfel, and the fishermen and fisherwomen are shown true to type. The picture play has a happy ending the wronged fisherman finally winning his first love and the villain being properly exiled from their lives.

Spent Money Lavishy.

Investigation of how the money was spent is a story that he bought a chauffeur a $50 overcoat, and that the chauffeur he had in New Bedford for a week and who brought him to Boston, was paid $30 a day, given his meals, etc.

Then it is told that a panhandler was in great luck. He was on Shawmut avenue great luck. He was on Shawmut avenue after coming out of a liquor store. The panhandler hit him up asking for enough for a plate of beans.

I desire to take this opportunity of thanking the many patrons of this store, and the public generally, for their hearty co-operation during the selling-off of this stock. My health would not permit of my continuing the business, and I had no alternative but to sell out everything and close it up. The past few weeks' selling has brought it down to the last few thousand dollars worth, and now I am very anxious to get through with the strain which it has necessitated. I fully realize that only the most drastic measures will accomplish my object in the short space of time now at my disposal. If you will read the prices carefully, you will fully appreciate the fact that I am in real earnest. I don't care what we get for the balance of the stock-
