Fear That Schooner Floyburg Has Been Wrecked on the West Coast.

Was in a Stiff Blow Off Carmanah Point Yesterday-Other Shipping News.

With colors flying the schooner Floyburg sailed out of the harbor this afternoon bound for the Danish colony at Cape Scott. Captain Hansen was in charge, and he took a crew of six with him, the remaining members of the colony having gone up on the steamer Tees on Saturday evening. The Floyburg was formerly an American fishing schooner, but as Captain Hansen intends using her for the business of the colony, and he has become a British subject, he has transferred her from the American to the British flag. Considerable repairs were made to her prior to her departure, a new mast having been stepped and the schooner re-decked. Captain Hansen is loud in his praise of the treatment accorded to him and his compatriots during their stay trouble by that doctor. Had she known in this city.

Mr. Daykin, the operator and lighthouse keeper at Carmanah, telegraphed this afternoon that the Indians reported a schooner ashore near Nitinat and it is feared that the Floyburg, belonging to the Cape Scott Danish settlement, has met with disaster. The Floyburg left here Monday morning for Cape Scott. About 5 last evening she, or at least a schooner answering her description, got into a blow two miles west of Carman-ah and lost her jib. It was blowing strong, but in the opinion of Mr. Daykin she had lots of time to get off shore before the wind hauled to the southwest at 9 p.m. However, Mr. Daykin, has sent a man to investigate the story.

The steamer Bertha cleared from Seattle yesterday afternoon for Cook Inlet, direct. She has aboard a full cargo for the Anchor Point Mining Company, which last year, under the name of the Bestow Mining Company, established a big station at Coal Harbor. There is a large amount of lumber aboard, besides mining machinery and supplies for the season: A large number of men go up for the company to engage as miners prospectors, laborers, etc. The Bertha is under charter to the Anchor Point Company. When she discharges at the Inlet she will sail for Juneau to go on her run.

Captain Oliver, of the steamer Boscowitz, which is due from the north tomaster of that steamer. He is one of the company who have purchased the Georgetown mill and the steamer Nell. and in the future he will have charge of the latter steamer. The Nell will leave for the north early next week. Captain Steele wil succeed Captain Oliver as master of the Boscowitz.

Several of the fumber vessels which have loaded on the Sound or, at British Columbia ports have been reported, among them being the bark Colorado, which arrived at Melbourne with a carfrom Chemainus. The British ship Heluslea, cargo laden from Vancouver for Dieppe, France, was spoken on ering of strength. March 14, and the City of Glasgow arrived at Cork on March 13 with a cargo of lumber from Tacoma.

Baker, of the sealing schooner Pioneer, by Mr. A. Bechtel, it is learned that the Pioneer, which at the time the letter was written was at Drake's Bay, on the California coast, had 562 seal skins on hoard. The Pioneer spoke the Ainoko on the 11th instant, when that vessel reported that she had taken 174 soth vessels are experiencing very rough weather

The British bark Northbrook, which arrived in Royal Roads from San Francisco last week, will probably receive a charter to load lumber on the Sound for Australia.

Towns in Alabama Swept Out of Existence-Stories of Death and Destruction.

A School House Utterly Demolished-Floods Follow the Rain and Wind.

New Orleans, March 24.-The Times-Democrat's Eufaula, Ala., special says: This city has been swept by a cyclone which death and disaster played a Duncan, informing him that his patient dreadful part. Hourly the record becomes more appalling. For several days there has been summer mildness all with the provincial police, who imme- through southwest Georgia and southeast Alabama, and the country tributary to the Chattahoochie river.

The thermometer went up to 80 and the air was as oppressive as ever it felt during the June solstice. With the coming of night the skies were beclouded and rain began to fall about midnight. Toward morning leaden skies and in-creasing wind told of a storm, which soon came along with terrific and wrenching force. When the storm struck, shutters, roofs, and buildings gave way, and for two hours there was terror and desolation, when the cyclone passed off to the northwest, coursing along the Chattahoochie valley.

Ine reports soon coming in told of the devastation. The town of terrible Blakeley, in Georgia, was almost lifted out of existence, and people seeking refuge in doors were as badly knocked unable to dodge fence rails and flying

The most shocking story of all, however, was that which came from Arling-It was about eight o'clock when the pupils of the Arlington Acad-emy began to assemble, and there were about 50 present when Prof. Covington, noticing the coming storm, called them in for shelter. On and on came the storm, with a roaring sound, increasing until it lifted two cabins across the way into midair, crushing them splinters. The sight of this so affrighted the children that they clung piteously to Prof. Walker and Prof. Covington, who vainly tried to quiet them. A crackling noise was heard, and the shutters and swinging doors were wrenched from their hinges. Then came a twisting and careening, and the north partition gave way, falling with deadly effect upon the group of children were clinging to the professors. The doors and windows gone, the storm shrieked through the rocking building, and the little ones thrown to the floor were crushed under flying debris. The cries of the wounded and the groans of the dying are described as heartrending. The people of the town, regardless of the wreckage of their own homes, ran to the school, where they knew their children were, only to find many dead, and arms and legs broken and cannot live through the night.

The scenes around the building were most pitiful. The rain began to pour torrents as soon as the wind passed Some remarkable escanes were relat-

Further Statements on the Subject by Mainland Papers.

New Westminster Columbian: The Vancouver World on Saturday announc- Pink Pills, and with feelings of gratied in its editorial columns that "the in- tude recommend them as a medicine spector of fisheries, Mr. John McNab, of New Westminster, it is reported, has been notified by the department of marine and fisheries at Ottawa that a change has been made in the system of bringing salmon caught in the traps in American waters beyond Point Roberts into the Fraser river for canning purposes." The News-Advertiser of Sunday also had something to the same effect and said that "consternation prevails amongst the cannerymen on account of the report from Ottawa of a change in the fishery regulations." Desiring to get at the truth of the matter, a representative of the Columbian interviewed Mr. McNab, fisheries inspector, this morning, and ascertained that the sole communication from Ottawa of late, bearing upon the fishery regulations, was the following letter received by the inspector on Thursday last from Prof. Prince, Dominion Bisheries commissioner, which explains itself, and showed that the impression conveyed by the Vancouver papers was rather mixed and somewhat erroneous: Ottawa, March 12, 1897.

CYCLONE 22nd ultimo, asking for instructions in the case of applications received by you for salman trap net licenses in Boundary Bay, I am to state that, as the International Fisheries Commissioners re port against the issue of licenses for any nets except gill nets in the British Columbia waters frequented by the Fraser river salmon, the department would not be able to favor these requests. The experiment of Boundary Bay pound nets has not been successful, and its extension is not, therefore, justifiable. Yours, etc. EDWARD E. PRINCE.

Dominion Fisheries Commissioner Inspector McNab stated that the above letter was in answer to a request by him for more definite instructions than existed with regard to granting licenses for traps in Canadian waters at Boundary Bay. About ten traps, it seems, were operating there last season, and the inspector had received application, for about sixteen trap licenses for the coming season. Mr. Aulay Morrison, M.P., also interviewed, said he knew nothing affecting the fishery regulations beyond the letter received by Mr. McNab. From Vancouver World, Monday: what the World has been able to learn concerning the proposed trap fishery regulations, off Point Roberts and beyond the international boundary, it is more than probable that the enforcement some time.
