ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 24, 1901.

FOR SIX CENTS PER WEEK.

Subscriptions continue to come into the Star office in the most gratifying way. There is great interest in the ward forming competition, which is attracting the attention of many besides the younger folk. This issue of the Star will reach the eye of some who are not regular subscribers. They are invited to read it carefully, observe what a large amount of news of interest to them is contained in brief and readable form in its columns, and then ask themselves if so good a paper at six cents per week is not a good investment for every family in the city.

SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL.

The Telegraph on Friday called attention to the fact that the response to appeals for a monument in honor of the New Brunswick men who fell in South Africa have not met with a general and hearty response. It is nearly a year since the Star started the movement, and though for a time contributions came in quite freely there has been nothing like the response the proposition deserves. It is gratifying to know that the north end ladies are meeting with a fair degree of success with their memorial fountain project, but even in their case great effort has been necessary. In another column will be found a description of the monument to be erected in Halifax.

THE MARKET.

The Star has frequently referred to the need of greater care and cleanliness in the country market. Action must now be taken by the city council, and it should be thorough. Not only should all meat or produce unfit for food be rigidly excluded but proper receptacles for all refuse should be provided, and the regulations concerning cleanliness should be rigidly enforced. It is in the public interest that the market should be kept in the best possible condition. All who frequent the place know that there is at present great room for improvement.

In the appointment of a new deputy clerk of the market the council should be governed solely by a desire to secure the best possible service. There are always applicants for positions, and it is understood there are several who would cheerfully accept the office of deputy clerk. It should go to the man best qualified by knowledge and experience to serve the public in that important position. If the work is properly done the office is no sinecure.

THE HARVESTERS.

The latest news from the west indicates that the harvest excursionists will all get work, though there has been some delay in locating them. Referring to the matter the Ottawa Journal very properly observes: "When next Manitoba wants harvest help, the government of the province should consider it a duty to open a registration bureau in which farmers who need help shall enter their names." When men are taken out there in thousands provision should be made to bring them into touch with the farmers with as little delay as possible.

LONGER LIFE AVERAGE.

The mortality statistics for the year 1900 issued by the American census bureau, show a decrease in the general death rate of 1.8 per thousand of population. They also show increased longevity, the average age at death being 33.3 years, whereas ten years ago it was 31.1 years. The improvement shown by these statistics is attributed to the advance made in medical science and sanitation and in the preventive and restrictive measures enforced by the health authorities. The statement gives the number of deaths from fifteen principal diseases, and every one shows a decrease since 1890, the most notable being in consumption, which decreased 54.9 per hundred thousand. The statement of the percentage in various cities shows that Portland, Oregon, with a death rate of 9.5 per thousand, had the lowest mortality, and Shreveport, Louisiana, with 45.5, the highest.

Discussing the fact that statistics both in the United States and the old country show that the average life of the individual has lengthened, the New York Mail and Express submits that the life insurance companies can afford to lower their rates, and adds a rumor that the Actuarial society of America is likely to undertake the compilation of new mortality tables, to learn if there has been such an improvement in the United States as it is shown that there has been in England.

THIS WAS EXCITING SPORT.

Capturing a swordfish 17 Feet Long that Dressed 85 lbs.

The Carrie F. Roberts has just come into Boston from a trip off shore and landed the biggest swordfish introduced to the Boston market within recent memory. Before he was cut up or saved off he tipped the scales at nearly half a ton. His length was close to 17 feet. He was armed with a rapier of three feet with which he might have rammed and sunk a dory if not the schooner. After dressing he weighed exactly 850 pounds.

Abroad the Carrie F. Roberts it was stated that the capture had been made southeast of the Isles of Shoals. The old fisher was seen swimming along near the surface of the water, a fin exposed. A man with nerve, an eye that was unerring and a hand that was steady, ran out on the bowsprit and hurled at the fish a shaft of wood on the end of which was a metal dart. The dart pierced its victim. The pole was instantly disengaged, leaving the piece of metal in the flesh and tied to a small rope wound round a keg. The keg was thrown overboard, and the swordfish quickly ran out the line. The dories were launched and the fishermen began the task of killing the swordfish.

They drowned him.

Picking up the "keg" they secured the rope and started the play which lasted for two solid hours. They pulled the fish in and let him run time after time. Once the big fellow went down the whole length of the line and the boat down to the gunwale in the water. Again he dashed away so fast and so furiously that the schooner under sail could hardly keep within speaking distance. But he was growing weaker, and at the end was vanquished.

When the swordfish had been sufficiently drowned to be trailable, a lance was thrust into him at the gills. A lance stuck into him at any other point of the body would have tickled, rather than slaughtered him. Then a stout rope was tied about his tail, and he was lifted aboard ship by manual labor of the hardest kind. But the work was lightened by the thought that 850 was on the string that they were hauling.

VICE IN LONDON.

Lords Roberts and Wolseley Join in Movement for its Suppression.

London, says a cable of last Wednesday is on the eve of the greatest vice crusade in its history. More than a thousand prominent persons, representing every borough in the metropolis, have associated themselves for the purpose of repressing public immorality, disorderly houses, obscene language, pernicious pictures, publications and plays. Among the active supporters of the undertaking are Lord Roberts, Lord Wolseley, the Bishop of London, Baron Kinnaird, Cardinal Vaughan, Archbishop Wilberforce, Sir W. G. Broadbent, M. D. Sir Dyer Duckworth, M. D. Sir Douglas Fox, Canon Gore, the Rev. Hugh Price Hughes and many other equally well-known persons.

Out of the 120 borough councillors 64 have already pledged their support to the crusade. According to their programme twenty-nine centres of work are to be opened, covering the whole of London.

Bishop Alfred Barry, vice chairman of the movement, says: "The social sins and miseries of London have a firm hold of the community, which is unabashed by aggressive immorality, and have assumed the dimensions of a vested interest and international trade. The metropolis is becoming the absolute headquarters of iniquity. We intend to the best of our ability to grapple with the horrors of prostitution and other forms of faunting sin. While we do not profess to compass the suppression of immorality, we hope to help redeem London from the reproach of being an open market for body and soul."

The promoters announce their readiness to provide homes for women willing to earn an honest livelihood.

SALVATION ARMY HOME.

An entertainment was given at the Evangelical Home and Hospital of the Salvation Army on St. James street last evening.

Adjutant John, matron of the Home, gave the report of the work done in the half year beginning Jan. 1st, 1901, showing that of those accommodated there in that time eleven have been of the Church of England, thirteen Baptist, five Methodist, six Presbyterian, twenty-five Catholic, four Jews, and three of no particular denomination. The number of girls in the Home Jan. 1st was 18, and from that time to July 1st 48 more were admitted. Of these 31 have secured situations, 23 have gone to friends, one has been married, four gone to the hospital, one to another home and two have been dismissed as unsatisfactory, leaving 15 in the Home at the expiration of the half year. The number of children in the Home Jan. 1st was 11. Since then 11 have been admitted and 18 born. Of these 20 remain with their mothers, three have been adopted, 13 have died, two have been sent to the hospital and two to other homes. July 1st there were ten children in the Home.

The financial statement shows receipts of $1,260.53 and expenditure of $1,259.27. Of the income $491.59 was retained for work done in the home. The balance consisted largely of donations of money and food. Rev. George Steel, who was present, warmly commended the officials of the home for their labors in behalf of the physical and moral welfare of those under their charge.

THE FREEMAN AND TELEGRAPH

The Freeman this morning publishes a letter signed "Liberal Protestant," which protests against the "malignity" of the "uncalled for and violent attack in the Telegraph upon the alleged writer of an article which appeared in the Freeman of the 10th inst."

The Freeman repeats with approval an editorial from the Sun, which it says "states the case of the Catholics of St. John as against the liberal party very clearly and impartially." And it adds "that the great body of Catholic electors in the city and county voted the liberal ticket and without their votes neither the Hon. A. G. Blair nor Col. Tucker would have been elected; and that 'the conservative party when in power bestowed good governmental positions on Irish Catholics in St. John and elsewhere throughout the province despite the fact that the great body of Irish Catholic votes opposed that party at the polls.'"

The Freeman makes no reference whatever to the Telegraph's attack upon the police magistrate.

DROWNED IN MOOSEHEAD LAKE

Patrick Costello, a woodsman, who left Bangor on Monday in a crew bound for Smith & Gynn's camp in the Moosehead region, while crossing the lake in the steamer Comet from Greenville Monday evening, fell overboard and was drowned. It is supposed he was a native of New Brunswick. The men had been drinking before they left Bangor and were unusually noisy and quarrelsome on the trip up. Owing to this fact some of the woodsman think that he may have been pushed overboard while bickering on the steamer.

The steamer was stopped immediately when Capt. Robinson learned of the accident, but no trace of the man could be found. On Thursday a crew was at work with grapnels in the vicinity where the accident occurred—Bangor Commercial.
