

Ten Thousand Soldiers Have Been Sent Forward and the Army Will Follow—Commandant Olivier Has Six Thousand Men—Death of General Joubert Regretted by the London Press.

London, March 29-5.15 a. m.—Lord Roberts has sent 10,000 troops to Glen, 10 miles north of Bloemfontein, on the railway. This is preliminary to the general advance. Immense quantities of stores have been accumulated at Bloemfontein and Lord Roberts' infantry is seemingly about to move. An impression, which can be traced to the war office, is abroad that the advance will begin next Monday. Boer observation parties are hovering near Bloemfontein, but Lord Roberts has 125 miles to cover before reaching the great position which the Boers are preparing at Kroonstad. Moving 10 miles a day is probably the best he can do with field transport. Therefore he can hardly engage the Boers in force for two weeks. The reconstruction of the railway behind him may even delay an invasion of the Transvaal until May. Meanwhile all the important towns in the Free State, within Lord Roberts' reach, are being garrisoned. Thaba Nchu, Philippolis, Boshof and Jagersfontein are thus held. Sir Alfred Milner is touring in the disturbed newly acquired territory, investigating conditions and arranging the administrative. He is understood to be getting material for a report to Mr. Chamberlain concerning a plan of civil government. All the morning papers print singularly kind editorials concerning General Joubert. They praise his military skill; uphold his chivalrous conduct and regret that so strong and noble a mind should be absent from the final settlement of the dispute. Although some of the younger commanders thought the old soldiers wanting in dash and enterprise, his raid into the country south of the Tugela is considered the best piece of Boer leadership during the whole war, and one which he crossed the Tugela with only 3,000 men and six guns, but so bold and rapid were his movements that the British commanders thought 10,000 Boers were marching on Pietermaritzburg. For a few days, although in the presence of greatly superior forces, he exhibited General Buller's brigade at Estcourt and at the same time threatened General Buller's camp at Mooi River. Then as British reinforcements were pushed up, Joubert's army of 10,000 men, without losing a prisoner, a wagon, or a gun, General White's estimate of him, pronounced on Tuesday, before he was shot, as a general who had a brave and honorable opponent, strikes the tone of all British comment. The foreign office, according to the Daily Chronicle, arranged with Portugal to send thousands of British troops to be landed at Beira and sent by the Rhodesia Railway from Masi-Kesso to Umtali. A permanent arrangement is understood to exist for the use of this route to transfer the Rhodesia police. The possibility of foreign protest is suggested by the Daily Chronicle. Among the items cabled from Pretoria is a statement that prominent Boers there object to a defence of Pretoria and desire that President Kruger retire to Lydenburg. It is alleged that the principal buildings at Johannesburg have been mined by order of Kruger. London, March 29.—The Bloemfontein correspondent of the Morning Post telegraphing Tuesday, says: "The Boers are already at Glen. The Gordons and the cavalry brigade moved Sunday. The three span bridge at Glen was dynamited two hours before the Guards reached it. The necessary repairs to the bridge were made in a few hours. The Boers' forces are now arriving." London, March 29.—A Pretoria despatch to the Daily Mail, dated March 28, says: "An official despatch reports a heavy bombardment of Mafeking in progress on Monday, March 28, which was meeting with a spirited response. 'Mr. Michael Davitt had an interview with President Kruger today.'"

CONSERVATIVE SENATORS RULE THE PEOPLE.

Ottawa, Ont., March 28.—Hon. Mr. Mills closed the debate in the Senate today on the Redistribution Bill. Sir Mackenzie Bowell's amendment to give the bill the six months' hoist was carried by 41 for to 19 against—a majority of 22.

The following is the division: Yeas—Hon. Messrs. Aikens, Allan, Armand, Baird, Baker, Bernier, Bolduc, Debouchereville, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir John Carling, Casgrain (Windsor), Clewom, Cochrane, Dickey, Dobson, Drummond, Ferguson, Forget, Kirchoffer, Landry, Lougheed, MacDonald (P. E. I.), MacDonald (B. C.), MacInnes, Mackeen, McCallum, Macdonald (C. B.), McKay, McLaren, McMillan, Mernee, Miller, Montplaisir, O'Brien, Owens, Perley, Primrose, Prowse, Reid, Vidal, Villeneuve. Yeas, 41. Nays—Hon. Messrs. Burpee, Carmichael, Casgrain (De La Vaudiere), Dandurand, Dever, Fiset, Keer, King, McSweeney, Mills, O'Donahue, Power, Scott, Shehyn, Templeman, Thibaudeau (Valliere), Wark, Yeo and Young. Nays, 19.

The Public Business Was Transacted Rapidly at Ottawa Yesterday Afternoon—Mr. Charlton Wants Long Speeches Suppressed.

Ottawa, March 28.—Sixty-one questions were on the order paper today and it took the House of Commons one hour and a half to dispose of them. This is the last Wednesday that will be devoted exclusively to private members' business. Considerable progress was made in running through the motions on the paper. Mr. Foster moved for a number of returns relating to the dismissal of officials from the public service. "Hon. Dr. Borden laid upon the table of the House returns of the correspondence between the Dominion and Imperial governments relating to the repatriation of the Col. (O'Brien) district officer commanding the province of British Columbia to raise a corps of mounted men for service in South Africa. In reply to Mr. Russell of Halifax, Hon. F. W. Borden, stated that arrangements for the raising of the Strathcona Horse in Ottawa on March 17 were made by Lt. Col. (O'Brien) district officer commanding. The arrangements for a church parade of the Corps in Halifax were made by Lieut. Col. Irving, D. O. C. All these arrangements were made by Lt. Col. O'Brien, with the officer commanding the Corps and there was no difference in the procedure in regard to the raising of the Strathcona Horse in Halifax. The minister of militia in reply to Sir Adolphe Caron, said that Lieut. Col. Steele, holding a commission in the militia, had applied to Lieut. Col. Otter, holding a Canadian commission. The minister said he would not be revised pending changes in the Imperial act. In reply to Mr. Douglas, Hon. James Sutherland stated that the original land grant of 6,400 acres per mile for 450 miles of the Great Northern Central Railway would have cost $20,000,000. Hon. Sydney Fisher stated that the government had accepted the offer to participate in the pan-American exhibition at Buffalo in 1901, but no arrangements had yet been made. John Charlton of North Norfolk then proposed the following resolution: "Resolved, That the House of Commons do express its appreciation of the great length in the Canadian House of Commons has introduced a discursive style of speaking that is destructive of pertinent debate on questions, is a waste of valuable time, unreasonably increases the length of the sessions of parliament, is in marked contrast to the practice with regard to debate that prevails in the British House of Commons and tends to impede the consideration of the proceedings of parliament. That it is desirable that rules be adopted limiting, under certain conditions, the length of speeches and regulating the general conduct of debate in that regard. That a special committee, should be appointed to consider the question of the conduct of debate, and proper methods for securing greater promptitude in the dispatch of business, so far as may be consistent with the parliamentary rights of the public, and report its recommendation to this House. Mr. Lariviere spoke to the motion for 40 minutes. Mr. Burt spoke in favor for 27 minutes and Dr. Sprule was speaking when the speaker left the chair at 6 o'clock. After recess the Brandon and Southwestern Railway Company, which has been so vigorously opposed by the Western members, was read a third time and passed. Col. Donville's bill respecting the North-Western Telegraph Co., was read a third time and passed. Mr. Costigan's bill to incorporate the Quebec and New Brunswick Railway Company, was read a third time and passed. The bill respecting the Dominion Atlantic Railway, was read a third time and passed. Mr. McLeary of Welland, renewed the debate on the transportation problem and public utility. Messrs. McCarthy, Corby, Campbell and Clarke also spoke. The House adjourned at 11.30.

Canadians After Long Marches Through Heat, With Little to Eat and Hardly Any Sleep, Were at the Surrender of Cronje—Complimented by Gen. Buller.

Ottawa, Mar. 28.—The following is Lieut. Col. Otter's official report to the minister of militia of the battle of Paardeberg, Drift, in which Canadians were engaged and at which 13 Canadians were killed and 62 wounded. In field three miles north of Paardeberg, Drift, 23rd Feb., 1900. Leaving Belmont on the 21st inst., with 800 of all ranks, the remainder being either British or Boer, the battalion joined the 19th brigade (Col. Smith-Johnson), 19th division, (Major General Colville) at Gras Pan the same evening. The Nineteenth Brigade left Gras Pan at 5 a. m. of the 13th inst. After a very trying march of 12 miles we reached Drift at 3 p. m. The day was very hot and the water was very scarce. Fully 50 men fell out. The transport was badly muled, heavily laden, and caused many delays. Moving again at 5 a. m. of the 14th inst., a good march of 12 miles was made to Waterval Drift on the left river, but here great delay took place in the crossing of the transport, and as the battalion had to find all the duties for the day, large fatigues to assist in the crossing had to be furnished by it, notably 200 men for the two 4.7 guns in the crossing, of which great credit was given for the work. It was 6 p. m. before the battalion crossed and the officers and men were very tired. The commander-in-chief, Field Marshal Lord Roberts, joined the battalion on its passage and complimented the men for their physique and appearance as they passed him. I had to leave 44 men at the Dam Dam unit to march. On the 15th the battalion marched at 4 a. m. being the advanced guard to the brigade. Seven men were left at unit to march. Wegroove Drift on the left was reached at 8.30 a. m., after a march of 9 miles, and the battalion furnished the outposts for the Nineteenth Brigade (whole battalion). On the 16th inst., the day's march was begun at 8.30 a. m. and was completed at 10 a. m. Leaving Jacobsdal (two miles) the advanced guard, a very tedious night march began, which ended in a slip Drift at 8.30 a. m. of the 17th inst. A force of the enemy under General Cronje, who was in command, had been fighting with him yesterday night. It was impossible to advance against. The fight continued, however, until dark when both sides withdrew their forces. Our firing line opened fire at about 600 to 800 yards from the enemy and after the charge we occupied positions varying from 100 to 500 yards from the point of the enemy. I am not able to give you a more detailed report of the engagement as we have practically been on the verge of action ever since, and moving from one position to another. In connection with the subject of the enemy a fuller report will follow. The night of the 18th and 19th was devoted to collecting the dead and wounded, of whom I called up a list on the 19th, and during that day the men rested until 3 p. m. They were very much out of tired and hungry. At 5 p. m. of the 19th, the battalion moved up to within 2,500 yards of the enemy's larger on outpost duty, and on the 20th, at 7 a. m., was pushed on to within 1,000 yards, where it lay all day to a "sniping" rifle fire from the enemy was as occasional fire from their "pom-pom" Vickers-Nordenfeldt gun, which is most demoralizing to the nerves, though not very effective. Four men in the reserves were wounded (at about 1,000 yards) during the day, the report of which was called on the 22nd. I am now forwarding a copy of my diary to the 17th inst., all I can at present get time to have copied, and a parade statement. This shows only 708 others killed and men effective I regret to say. Who report I cannot give, it being impossible to locate or report upon them, they being so scattered. W. D. OTTER, Lt.-Col. Commanding R.C.M.P., 2nd Battalion. P. S.—The battalion is well and has been on half rations for a week and it is impossible to give more than two meals a day and those most unreliable. We are on outpost duty and night. W. D. O.

Telegraphic Despatches.

The Northwest boom bill was recommended with amendments by the corporations committee of the local legislature last night. It was the last bill to come before the committee this session. Mrs. Copping, widow of Isaac Copping, Chatham, died yesterday morning aged 81. A daughter is Mrs. Kay, Moncton, and two sons are Isaac and Thompson Copping. A galloway boiler in Chatham pulp mill burst Monday night. William Buckley's head and face were badly scalded. Last evening, at Truro, N. S., Rev. John Lewis Munroe, Presbyterian minister of Antigonish, and Miss Elizabeth Blanche Lewis, daughter of Mrs. John Lewis, Truro, were married by Rev. J. W. Falconer and Rev. Christopher Munroe. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, says an Ottawa despatch, stated last night that there was nothing in the story that Hon. Jos. Chamberlain was in communication with him in respect to the South African settlement. The bridge charges investigation was resumed last evening. Chamberlain's report on the proceedings published in the Sun and Gleaner. He characterized them as glaring falsehoods and showed this by comparison with the official report of T. B. Winstone, which was called and examined by Dr. Stockton. The committee adjourned until this morning. There is no word yet from the witness Johnson, who went to Montreal for papers. A Moncton despatch says there scarcely seems any justification for such alarming reports from a Tory source as have been circulated about the Boer and its operators. The men are working under agreement between the railway and the Boers, and the management claiming again under Tory rule. The only point of difference seems to be the question of two weeks' vacation, the management claiming that as overtime is allowed vacation would cease. At Fredericton yesterday, in the disclosure suit of T. Lynch vs. Judge Vanwart, Lt. Col. Vincent testified. He produced a trust deed executed by Judge Vanwart to him in June last, assigning the judge's salary of $4,000 to him, and his interest in his house and furniture, subject to a $10,000 mortgage to L. P. Fisher of Woodstock. Col. Vincent was to pay interest on the mortgage, premium of life insurance to secure Fisher's installments per year on an attached list of creditors, the balance of the salary, some $1,100 to be paid Judge Vanwart. The list of creditors shows the amount of $60,366.42, which is said to be but a partial statement of the judge's indebtedness. Judge Vanwart will be on the stand on April 6, to which time court adjourned. Waterville, Me., March 28.—George York, of this place, who was in the Boer army with his brother Fred last Sunday, fell through a hole in the ice and passed under a large field of ice on the upper waters of the Kennebec River. His brother, who did not go in, ran down the stream to open water and when the body came down, he jumped in and swam across with it. Life was still in the body when he was rescued, but he was in a very critical condition Tuesday evening and fears were entertained that he would not recover. St. John, N.B., March 28.—The Newfoundland bill will not meet with the approval of the Hon. Mr. Chamberlain. The Hon. Mr. Chamberlain will confront the assembly with a speech from the throne, which will show the necessity of the railway contract, thereby indicating that this matter is to be dropped. The speech will show the colony's support of Great Britain in the war in South Africa. It is expected that the Hon. Mr. Chamberlain will also refer to the patriotic loan, as a proof of this support and will praise the liberality of the citizens of Newfoundland in subscribing to the patriotic fund. It will also forewarn a public grant from the treasury of $20,000 to the same fund. So far as legislation is concerned, the speech from the throne indicates nothing of the medical franchise bill and a measure for reducing the duty on fishermen's lines and vessels. The Hon. Mr. Chamberlain's successful results of the fisheries and other industries, and will announce that the surplus revenue is almost $200,000, although this, of course, was realized under the predecessors for the present government. Paris, March 28.—The Gaulois, in an article dealing with the Delagosa Hay arbitration, says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and English show impatience to receive the indemnity. In case England desires money, complicated with a political arrière-pensée, everything indicates that she has not lost her head. The Gaulois also speaks of the Delagosa Hay arbitration, and says that the Americans and