that Sir John A. Macdonald, after being defeated in his attempt to bring about a legislative rather than a federal union for the dominion, looked to the Supreme court and privy council to defeat the enactment of the confederation act in this respect. Thomas D'Arcy McGee and Geo. Brown were both in favor of a federal union. It was their view that prevailed. Mr. Fitzpatrick was a Liberal himself and as much believed in decentralization and selfish standpoint the doctors in the west Mr. Fitzpatrick was a Liberal himself and as much believed in decentralization and local self government as essential to the development of individual ability, a wholesome individual independence and the development of Canada upon the principles best suited to her varied resources and conditions. Legislative union would be especially distasteful to Quebec and inimical to the strength of Canada as a whole.

The solicitor general opposed likement was the result of an expressed determination of Governor Crane and those representing the merchants of Boston to bring all possible pressure to bear upon the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, Company to the country.

Mr. Demers held that the bill was not without authority of the federal parliament.

The solicitor general opposed like-wise the motion from the chair. He fully agreed with what had been already said that the initiative in this matter ought to come from the provinces them-solves. Lacking as parliament did the legislatures wanted action taken they would be heard from.

Mr. Demers, of St. John's, Iberville, discussed the matter in French till 6 o'clock, when the order of business changed and the matter for the time being dropped. Mr. Demers said that Mr. McLean ought to have a seat in the French chamber of deputies where they change the country's constitution every month.

At the evening session an act respecting Edmonton, Slave Lake Railway Company was read a third time.

In reply to Col. Sam Hughes, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said no communication was received from the imperial authorities stating that a commission of 3 per cent. would be allowed the Canadian govern-

Ottawa, March 13.—(Special)—The bill to provide for the establishment of a medical council in Canada was read a second time in the house today and referred to a special committee. a special committee.

Dr. Roddick moved the second reading of his bill for the establishment of a medical council in Canada. In doing so he said that there were very few of the Canadian doctors who could now prac-Canadian doctors who could now practise in more than one of the provinces. It very frequently happened that medical men were being fined for crossing the boundary line to save the life of a citizen. There was therefore every reason for the establishment of a central board or medical council to provide against such a condition of affairs. Clause 91 of the B. N. A. act provided for order and good government, and the changes could be made under it. Such a state of affairs as exist in Canada now does not exist in any other country in the world. Even between Germany and France, two unfriendly nations, it was arranged that friendly nations, it was arranged that there was neutral territory of 15 miles whereby a medical man might go and as sist the sick or wounded of either nation sist the sick or wounded of either nationality. At present a medical man from Ontario could not practice in Quebec simply because he had not passed the matriculation examination of the medical board of the province of Quebec. There was another object which the bill had in view in addition to permitting a medical man to practice his profession beyond the province in which he was located and had obtained his diploma. The other object was to obtain reciprocity with Great Britain. As soon as Canada had a medical board such certificates would be recognized in Great Britain under the act of 1836. Provision was made in that act to recognize a colonial diploma on the payment of certain fees which would permit the holder to register as a colonial practhe holder to register as a colonial practitioner. To get this privilege a central board would be necessary as the British board would not deal with the provinces. This, too, would open positions in the army and navy for Canadians.

Roddick said that in South Africa Dr. Roddick said that in South Africa Canadian doctors were good enough to attend to Canadian soldiers, but not good enough to attend to Tommy Atkins. He had no desire to interfere with the act of confederation. There would still be local medical boards confining certificates to one province. Manitoba, Quebec and Nova Scotia would still have their own boards. The bill was a permissive one. It would be necessary to get the consent of the provinces. The difficulty in the past to get unanimity in favor of the board, the number of representatives to be given to the different provinces. What he now proposed was to give one representative on the board for every one hundred medical men or fraction over one government would have the power to ap-point one from each province. There would also be one member from each matter of the proposed resolution of Dr. Russell's rather one of academical importance. Under the B. N. A. act nothing could be done without the consent of the provinces. Clearly, therefore, it would be necessary for the provinces to themselves pronounce upon the idea first, in other words for them to get together and say when they are prepared to commit twice. That was what a legislative union meant; because, take away from the local legislatures the control over property and civil rights, and what would they have left? They would have no reason for further existence.

W. F. MacLean—"So much the better." Mr. Fitzpatrick found it interesting to discover from the speech of Mr. Haggart that Sir John A. Macdonald, after being defeated in his attempt to bring about a legislative rather than a federal union for each province and two to P. E. Island, or 36 in all, which with the three homeopathic doctors would make 39. He did not think the three would be any objections to the government appointing a representative in each province or eight in all. He intended that the board could be used by the government spointing a representative of the city, ably seconded by the chief executives of the city and discover from the speech of Mr. Haggart that Sir John A. Dr. Borden defended the permanent corps, which was necessary if for no other purpose than a school of teachers. The purpose than a school of teachers. The permanent corps was steadily improving and those members of the force who were in South Africa did excellent work.

Further consideration of the militia estimates was postponed until the departmental report which is now in the printer's hands, is received.

The inland revenue estimates were next proceeded with. A sharp discussion was brought about by the western members as to the quality of coal oil sold in Manitoba and the Northwest. The minister said that the department was investigating the matter and if it was found that inferior oil was sold, action would be taken by the department. Mr. Cowan has given notice of a bill to amend the criminal code. At present there is no time specified when action may be taken for publication of an alleged criminal libel. The bill says that such must be taken within six months after publication, also that if a civil action is taken, a criminal action cannot be taken.
