FREE OF ALL OTHER DISEASES

"Fruit-a-lives" Brought Him Perfect Health

"Avon, Ont., May 14th, 1913. My younger sister I have been taking 'Fruit-a-lives'. I was troubled very badly with Piles, Constipation and Stomach Disorder, but I found 'Fruit-a-lives' was the panacea for the whole three.

Now I am free of all these diseases and enjoying perfect health, and able to work whenever I like. Five years ago, I started taking 'Fruit-a-lives'. I took two every night and they worked wonderfully for me.

"No other medicine I could get was so good as I took 'Fruit-a-lives'. I found out before I found out how good 'Fruit-a-lives' were.

"I keep 'Fruit-a-lives' on hand all the time, and am never without them. I even take some when I go on a long trip, so I can have them handy. 'Fruit-a-lives' are worthy of every good word that can be said about them. The fact that they cured me of Piles was something to be exceedingly thankful for."

STRATHCONA LEAVES ANNUITY TO STEPSON

Sets Aside $125,000 for James H. Smith of Brookline, Mass. — Bequeaths $500,000 to Yale as Gratitude for Profitable Investments in American Railways.

New York, Feb. 4.—James H. Smith, of Brookline (Mass.), who announced a few days ago that he intended to put in his will for the benefit of the estate of his stepfather, the late Lord Strathcona, bequeaths the will. The income of $125,000 is placed in trust for him and he receives outright real estate in Pietou (N. S.).

This was disclosed when the text of the will was made public in this city. Smith was the son of Lady Strathcona by a former husband.

In regard to the bequest of $500,000 to Yale University, Lord Strathcona stated that it is an expression of his appreciation of the benefits he gained from investments in the United States, particularly from the St. Paul, Minnesota, and Manitoba & Great Northern Railways.

The will directs that the money be used for the promotion of the modern sciences and for instruction in the practical questions arising from the application of scientific knowledge to the industrial, scientific and economical problems of the time, it being his special duty to have the said sum expended so far as in the opinion of my trustees may be deemed advisable for instruction in civil and mechanical engineering, with special reference to the construction, equipment and operation of transportation of passengers and freight, whether by land, water, the financial and legislative questions involved.

The university is empowered to equip buildings or to employ chairs for the promotion of these ends, and instructions are given that scholarships in the scientific or graduate departments be provided for sons of officials, or employees of the two railway companies.

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL (Domestic Science Lecturer) Proper Use of Recipes

There never was a time when there was so much reliable, useful information within easy reach of housekeepers as there is today. But keeping house is not a matter of reading the experiences of thousands of other women who have learned how to do certain things in the best way; it is learning how to make their experience fit your needs.

We do not need more recipe books nor more directions for work; what women want is to be told how to do what must be done most easily. So few can discern between the needful and the needless and this discernment is what makes or saves toil.

I have watched two women use the same recipe for a simple cake; by the time one had her batter in the oven she had one large and two small bowls, a fork, several large and small spoons and two cups soiled. The baking table, the apron and the floor were liberally bespattered with flour and she was exhausted. The second woman put all the articles she needed on a tray, so that she made out one trip from her pantry to her table. She creamed her butter and sugar in the mixing bowl and added her eggs. The whites of the eggs she whipped on a platter and sifted her flour into her batter after it was measured in the same cup used for her butter and sugar. When she finished she had only three or four articles to wash and had all the signs of having labored hard, but the mixture in the mixing bowl was completely incorporated. If you really know the meaning of the directions given in recipes and directions you will do your daily tasks in the easiest way. An intelligent understanding of home duties is the magic key to a happy home, economical, satisfied and healthy.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS. Individual tastes are always attractive and make an agreeable change for the luncheon table.

Brown tulle is introduced on many of the evening gowns.

Most of the smart gowns have sashes of a contrasting color.

Moire is almost as fashionable for afternoon costumes as velvet.

Small buckles are used to fasten vest effects on the new spring suits.

The trend of fashion emphasizes the importance of the tunic dress.

Brocaded satin and velvet shoes are worn with dark dresses at afternoon dances.

The woman who means to economize on labor in her home will have a little bright metal as possible.

An old catalogue kept near the stove is handy to set a kofty pan on in an emergency.

Velvet which has been used can be made to give further surface by changing it into panne velvets by simply ironing it on the wrong side.

Save the crusts cut off sandwich bread and make crostons or bread sticks of them, or they can be used for bread-crumbs, or "breadmeal."

A most effective mixture for the stinging of sore throat is the following: One-third of peroxide of hydrogen, one-third listerine and two-thirds water.

When preparing chicken or turkey for roasting, try rubbing the inside with a piece of lemon. It will lighten the flesh and make it more tender.

Sheets that are greasy out should have their seividge sides sewn together, then they should be cut down the middle and have the new sides hemmed.
