

Canadian Poultry Review.

DEVOTED TO POULTRY AND PET STOCK.

VOL. 6.

STRATHROY, ONTARIO, JUNE, 1883.

No. 6.

PIED POUTERS.

The Pouter.

The Pouter, in my opinion should rank first among pigeons, although I know that many fanciers, especially those of the "old school," would put the Carrier first.

What sight so delights the eye of the enthusiastic fancier, as a loft full of well-bred Pouters, with all their varied colors, especially in the spring time when they are full of life and vigor, and seem intent on showing themselves off to the best advantage, as if to compel our admiration. I can just