

treated by the greatest medical men in Europe and America. One really gets the treatment these men give at a very nominal cost. To visit some of the specialists whose medicines are obtainable at small amount would cost a small fortune in some cases, and yet the benefit of their knowledge is brought right to our homes. This is the only true way to get a helpful remedy. It is said that there is not a Rexall remedy that is claimed to cure any incurable disease. In fact, the policy of the Rexall manufacturers seems to be the direct opposite of the old-fashioned patent medicine manufacturer. A guarantee in the form of a request goes out with all Rexall goods. It is so worded that one sees its sincerity at once. It simply asks you to take back to the store from which you purchased it any Rexall remedy that has failed to do what you expected of it and that druggist will refund your full purchase price.

This is as it should be. Why should a druggist not guarantee his wares to do what you expect? Almost any other class of manufacturer does this.

The Rexall manufacturers are very careful into whose hands they place the sale of their remedies. A druggist must have established a reputation for fair dealing before he is allowed to sell them to you at all and then he must be willing to refund the purchase price to each dissatisfied user without question.

It is gratifying to see that such a policy is so well received by the public. It has all but done away with the old-fashioned patent medicines sold indiscriminately. There is only one Rexall druggist in each city of this size.

ADULT REMEDIES

Beef, Wine and Iron

A standard tonic. This is the original formula. It does not affect the teeth as do many under the same name. Each fluid ounce contains:

Extract Beef, 4½ grs.

Beef Peptone, 22-3 grs.

Sol. Iron Chloride, 27⅞ grs.

Citric Acid, 2 grs.

Soda Bicarb., 31½ grs.

Sugar.

Pure Sherry Wine to make an ounce.

This should be prepared in at least a sixteen-ounce bottle to have the desired effect.

Celery and Iron Tonic

An admirable combination of nerve tonics, grateful to the palate and particularly acceptable to people with delicate digestion. Your druggist will know the proper amounts of each ingredient.

Iron and Ammon. Cit.

Oil Celery Seed

Cascara Segrada

Oil Nutmeg

Oil Cardamon

Sherry Wine

Gingerine

Have this put up in a sixteen-ounce bottle.
