Hon Mr. Justice

Interview
Coghlan Briscoe's Great

Our reporter had an interview with Hon. Mr. Justice Briscoe on his return from the Isles, by the SS. Parisian. The interview was most interesting and was published in the Glasgow Herald. He spent "fair" weeks when all the workers in the factories were enjoying their holidays, and the city was smoky.

HON. MR. JUSTICE BRISCOE

Speaking of London, he said it is a world in itself. The kindness of Lord Strathcona was favored with admission to the House of Lords and Commons as well. He was particularly interesting in being present at the National Agricultural Exhibition, one of the Nationalists delivered a very able speech, but he has almost entirely lost his voice. Each speaker in succession admitted that the Irish had been treated in a most unjust manner, when their titles were suppressed.

The Judge spoke gratefully of the Irish Party, and of the hospitality in London, he met Mr. D. MacMaster, K.C., formerly of Canada Bar. He has attained a prominent position at the Bar in London, and his friends claim he will soon figure in the House of Commons.

The Judge paid a visit to Old Ireland. Speaking of the country said: "All that poets have sung of is no exaggeration." Of the first, however, to Wexford, his city with its narrow streets, people he found high-spirited, no beggars, and the great joy were well dressed and working.

In Dublin he met many old friends, their hospitality is beyond description. The city looked very well, was filled with visitors attracted to the International Exhibition and went to Belfast, where the Causeway, visiting Newry, where father came from. Belfast is a city of great industrial activity, but the military were still on guard. Referring to social and political conditions, he found that hardly any of the subjects poverty, about, and an almost total absence of intelligence. His Majesty King is invariably spoken of as a friend of Ireland. Mr. Birrell is very popular, despite the disappointment caused by the measure of his recent Irish Government measure. The people are sanguine that a bill will soon be passed, a law. The Judge said he did not think anything in the world could be hoped for before a half-century, and then, possibly, the measure of Birrell would carry over the way. For the present, people are doing all they can to make home-made goods, and are substituting as far as possible, except in being made to

An Old Journalist Dead.
Mr. D. J. Mungovan, for 20 years editor of the Dufferin Post, died on Tuesday at Orangeville, Ont., after an illness of several months. Mr. Mungovan, who was born near Stratford, was educated with a view to entering the priesthood, but abandoned that for law, and later took up journalism, for which he was particularly qualified. He was a tall and vigorous man, and was very widely informed. Mr. Mungovan leaves a widow and five children.

Catholic School Board.

On Tuesday evening the first meeting of the Catholic School Commissioners for the season was held. Severe criticism of the management marked the proceedings. Ald. Lapointe wanted to know why the repairs at Oler school had not been carried out as well as the extension built in time to receive pupils. Canon Adam stated that the undamaged section of the school was ready, but Mr. Semple, who is looking after the director-general's work for the time being, explained that the classes had not been started because the institution was not yet in a condition to receive pupils. Mr. Semple also complained about the absence of Mr. Primesau, principal of the school.

This caused Ald. Lapointe to complain of the general management, and he expressed the opinion that a competent superintendent should be appointed. Mr. Lafontaine enquired if the director-general was merely concerned with the educational side or if he was also supposed to look after the business or material end of the management. Canon Adam replied that the director-general was supposed to supervise the teaching and also see that the schools were properly equipped, but the party who really had charge of the work was the architect of the Board.

Ald. Lapointe considered this a queer way of having the interests of the board looked after. Canon Adam asked that the sisters in charge of St. Eusebe school be given a sufficient sum to engage a caretaker. The sisters did not want more than was given to other caretakers, but they wished to make the engagement themselves so that the caretaker might be more under their control. Ald. Lapointe was opposed to this declaring that probably the sisters wanted to realize a little profit out of this grant, either by doing the work themselves or getting someone to do it cheaper than other caretakers.

Canon Adam's request was nevertheless adopted on motion of Canon O'Meara and the sisters will receive five hundred dollars. A letter was submitted from Brother Julius, of St. Gabriel school, stating that the place was congested, there being only 286 seats to accommodate 287 pupils, that sanitary conditions were bad and that some of the teachers had been sick last term on account of this. Canon Adam reported that no less than 125 pupils had been refused admission at Plessis school for lack of accommodation.

Ald. Lapointe asked in what position was the board thus placed as regards the law which requires it to accommodate all children, and the chairman, Canon Dauth, replied that all available funds being presently used for the construction of schools, nothing more could be done for the present. In reply to a query from Ald. Lapointe, the chairman stated that a special committee had been appointed to see that the rules and regulations concerning hygiene and protection against fire are properly observed.

Plans for the construction of a new girls' school in the parish of St. Eusebe, at a cost of a hundred thousand dollars, were practically adopted, subject to the approval of the building inspector. A report was submitted showing an agreement between the booksellers to adopt a reduced rate in the price for school books, the price fixed by the firm of Beauchemin being adopted as the standard and official price.

A communication was read from Principal Doré, of Champlain school, now aged 73 years, asking to be relieved from his duties. The board decided to grant him one year's leave of absence.

OBITUARY.
THE LATE MRS. THOMAS CALLAGHAN.
On Friday morning took place the funeral of the late Mrs. Thomas Callaghan, daughter of the late Thomas McGovern, who died last Wednesday, after a long and painful illness, borne with Christian fortitude and patience. The presence of many friends and relatives in the funeral cortege, which left 86 Durocher street at 8.30 was an eloquent tribute to the deceased lady's sterling qualities of mind and heart. Among those present were: Mr. T. Callaghan, husband; Mr. J. McGovern, brother; Rev. Fathers M. Callaghan, P.P., Dr. L. Callaghan, brothers-in-law; Bud. McGovern, Thomas Callaghan, Martin Callaghan, nephews; T. Callaghan, J. Burns, T. Morrissey, Ed. Burns, W. J. Scullion, C. A. McDonnell, James Rogers, John Fallon, B. Tansey, O. Tansey, P. J. O'Neil, Dr. James Rogers, James Scullion, H. Chandler, L. McInerney, G. A. Carpenter, M. Hughes, John Power, Thomas Scullion, W. Fleming and many others. Much sympathy was felt for Mr. Callaghan in his sad bereavement. The staff of the Montreal General Post Office, of which Mr. Callaghan is the chief accountant, sent a pillow of sympathy and contributions for the celebration of over 700 masses. Many other floral tributes and mass cards were sent by sympathizing friends. St. Patrick's Church was heavily

PARISH NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The schools in all parts of the city are now fully started, and, in every instance, appear to be well filled. In St. Anthony's on Sunday last, at seven o'clock Mass, Rev. Father Heffernan announced the re-opening of the catechism classes, and after paying a high tribute to the teachers who had so faithfully worked with him in this noble cause in the past, invited them to resume the good offices for another term. The rev. gentleman then dwelt at some length upon the necessity as well as the nature of this special branch of Christian training, laying particular stress upon its importance. That his remarks were appreciated could be easily seen by the great number of teachers and children who responded to the call. It was estimated that upwards of five hundred boys and girls presented themselves for admission on Sunday afternoon at the appointed hour.

ST. GABRIEL.
Work is in progress in connection with the erection of a fine new pulpit.

Rev. Father O'Meara has again fully resumed his pastoral duties, greatly benefited by his trip.

Rev. Father Fahey is at present enjoying a few days of well-earned rest.

ST. ANN'S.
All the schools of the parish have re-opened, and judging from present appearances everything bears a most pleasing aspect. As is the usual custom in all our schools of the city, an annual retreat is given to the children, as soon as possible after the opening of the classes. This retreat will open on next Sunday afternoon, in St. Ann's. The work that for some time past has been going on in the way of outside painting and repairs to the walls and surroundings of the church and presbytery is just about finished, and despite the forty-seven years of its existence, everything looks charmingly bright and inviting.

WILL TAKE THE VEIL.
Miss Gertrude Egli, one of the most popular members of the C.P.R. telegraph staff, left on Saturday last for Peterborough, where she will enter the convent of St. Joseph to take the veil. A large number of her friends assembled at the Windsor station to bid her farewell.

SERVICES FOR THE DEAD AT CEMETERY.
On Sunday, Sept. 22, instead of All Souls' day, will be observed the usual custom of praying for the departed ones at the cemetery of Cote des Neiges. His Grace is very anxious that this ceremony will become general in his diocese, and emphasizes in an official announcement in this week's Semaine Religieuse the wonderful power of united prayer at the throne of Divine Mercy. He, therefore exhorts all who can to attend the ceremony at the cemetery on the afternoon of Sunday, Sept. 22, feast of Our Lady of Seven Dolours, where in place of Vespers will be recited solemn prayers for the dead.

GENEROUS GIFT FOR RELATIVES OF VICTIMS.
Archbishop Bruchesi on Monday received a cheque for $500 from Mayor Garneau, of Quebec, to be distributed to the Caughnawaga widows and orphans of the victims of the Quebec Bridge disaster. The money is part of the $2000 voted by the city of Quebec to the families of the victims.

CATHOLIC SAILORS' CONCERT.
Wednesday evening's concert was in the hands of Loyola Court, C. O. P., and no larger gathering has yet graced the rooms this season. The programme was an exceptionally fine one, combining as it did rare talent and marked good-will. Mention is due the following: Misses Hennessy, Sullivan, Mr. and Miss Laing, Misses Derkin, Whitlock, Burton, Buchanan, Burk and M. Derkin, as well as to Messrs. Collins, Flood, Thompson, Kelly and Bennett, who did all in their power to render the evening not only interesting but also worthy of the distinguished patronage under which it was placed. Towards the close of the concert the chairman announced that the next one would be under the patronage of St. Mary's Young Men's Society, and judging from past experience a treat is in store for those who will attend.

open in the afternoon to the public from two till four o'clock. A musical and dramatic performance was given on Wednesday evening, under the presidency of His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi, to which the public were admitted.

Pope Issues Decree Concerning Mixed Marriages.
Hitherto marriages between Catholics and non-Catholics, solemnized in the presence of a Protestant minister, were considered valid, but a decree just published by Rome declares all such marriages null and invalid.

Montreal has hitherto been governed by what is known as the Benedictine constitution, which recognizes the validity of marriages between Catholics and Protestants performed by men not ministers of the Catholic Church. The decree "Tametsi" of the council of Trent declares such marriages void, but it has not been promulgated in this city.

It is not for the present clear whether for the future Montreal will be governed by this new rule or by the old Benedictine constitution. The new decree says that the law applies everywhere, except where the Holy See decrees otherwise.
