MAKE IT A ROUSER.

All Kent Should Gather Here On Thursday June 10th.

Mr. Whitney should meet with a re peption in this city that will encourage him to prosecute the campaign with increased vigor and aggressiveness As the London Free Press very aptly nemarks, the time is now over-ripe for a change of men at the helm at Toropto. The people are heartily wears of those who have been in power fo so long that they have been fossilized and encrusted with moss-grown offi cialism. While Mowat was chief at Toronto, and a Macdonald, or a Thompson at Ottawa, the large mod erate section of the electorate felt that matters could remain as they were without much danger. That feeling has changed since the with drawal of Sir Oliver and the kind of political revolution that has been witmessed at Ottawa. The men whom Sir Oliver left behind him are striving to keep up tourage in the glamour of his shadow; faut every step they have taken without his active guidance has but served to emphasize their feeble the jail improved and beautified. purposes and lack of genuine capacity. These gentlemen know that the hand Prison labor could be utilized in keepof popular disapproval is upon them. They realize it is time to be up and going. And while the sun still shine their hay is being made. The people are not blind to th terror that has beset the men in office in having soon to come up for judgment. They see them grabbing all they can for themselves and their nelatives, preparatory to the keys being turned upon them by the sickened and disgusted electorate. Mr. his younger brother a judgship, and Mr. John Dryden, the "farmers' friend," secures for brother a registrarship. Mr. Ross finds a comfortable jailorship for his brother-in-law, and all over the departments there seems an almost indecent haste in rushing into shelter every relation who is blowing his fingers out in the cold . They are all profiting by the example of the wily old chieftain, who, forseeing a change it contains a hard pan statement of of weather, betook himself out to the fact. approaching frost while there was vet time. Sir Oliver left not a mother's son of all his connections unprovided for at Provincial charge. He did well for all the family and exceedingly well for his son, in giving him a strievalty in Toronto at $8,000 a year. There was no one left out to furnish the old gentleman with any vital object in remaining any longer, and now that he has so abundantly taken care of himself and kindred, the Provice has fallen into the hands of a broad of Mediocrities, who do nothing but bungle legislation, as we shall be showing later on, and look after pickings for themselves and their connec-

What the prople desire is that clean sweep be made, and a new set of men start in with a new set of books and improved ways of management. And there is plenty of room for improvement, which all can take note of, excepting those who are inured to their old methods and afraid to depart from any maxim that suited twenty years ago.

HOW PROTECTION PROTECTS.

Result of the Inc eased Duty on Tobac Liberals Should Ponder Over it.

No better illustration of the advant ages of protection is needed than the effect the increased duty imposed by the Laurier government on tobacco is having on the culture of that plant.

No more Havana tobacco will be used in the 5 cent cigars; it will be used exclusively in the 10-cent cigars. The protection given the Canadian tobacco by the new tariff tends to improve its quality, as the grovers can afford to give more attention to its culture. Essex and Kent will be able to produce enbugh to supply the Imminion. Immensa quantities will be grown this year. Since fan. 1, Lewis Wigle, of Essex, has shipped sixteen carloads of tobacco grown between Ridgetown and the rope to its tail and fastened the other end to a post sunk in the sand. As the whale was washed inshore by the waster, in the slack in the rope by the waster, and when the tide rope was taken up, and when the short a train was run down with Terminal officers aboard, and the whale was purchased for $155.
