HER FACE HER FORTUNE

Wh . One Girl Got a Good Paring and Easy Position.

She was a sweet looking girl, with as fair a pink and white complexion as wom in ever desired, and was chatting with one of her own sex on a Staten Island ferryboat, while I was seated so rear that I could not help hearing. Sev ral times my truant eyes deserted my paper and stole a glance at the face that was so attractive.

"It was the luckiest thing that ever happened to me," she said to her com panion, "when I went into that Fifth avenue store just to buy a comb. How little I thought that I would be working there at greater wages than I had ever hoped to earn! I hesitated about going in, because I feared the prices would be too high, but I did go in and came out with a comb without paying a cent for it. And, better than all, I had been engaged to begin the next Monday as a saleswoman. "I was nearly discouraged before that, for I was getting only $4 a week, and we were awfully pinched at home, but my luck changed on that day, and it was Friday too. Fortunately for me, the store was crowded when I went in, and the proprietor left his desk that stands in a little railed off corner and came to wait on me. I noticed that he looked very sharply at me, but not at all in an impudent manner.

'Pardon me, miss,' he said, 'but I am looking for a young lady to assist me in the store here, and if your circumstances are such that you would care for the place I would like to have you consider it.'

"I was wonderfully surprised, but thanked him, saying that I knew nothing about the business. "That doesn't matter,' he replied. You can soon learn it. To be frank, I would like to have you on account of your complexion. You know we sell all sorts of goods for the complexion and articles for beautifying, and your face would do more to make sales than all of the arguments and representations that could be made.' "Well, the result was that I got a fine place, with easy work, at $15 a week. My hours are short, and 1 simply play the agreeable while selling goods at an immense profit. I wouldn't let any of the concoctions touch my face for anything, but the customers appear to be impressed by my complexion, and the proprietor is satisfied.

POULTRY POINTERS.

A close, unventilated house is emphatically a foul house,

Ground or crushed bone is a good form in which to give lime. The nests should be arranged so that the fowls can walk in on them.

Bran is a better feed for fowls than corn because it contains more nitrogen. An excellent feed for young chicks is cracked or coarsely ground wheat for the first week.

A cock that fights and picks his mates every time they are fed is not a good breeder, and few of his hens' eggs will ever hatch.

Cane or sorghum seed can be fed to fowls to good advantage. It stimulates egg production and in many ways is good to use for variety.

For a good breeder select a rooster with plump, full breast, broad across the back, wide between the legs and that crows often, loud and long.

It is a good plan to mate up the towls early, for occasionally one of the iens will want to sit during the winter, and it will be best to have the eggs

"A Lutheran minister in a western Maryland town told me an amusing story the other day," said a gentleman to a reporter. "Some time ago as this minister was walking along a state of the town an old German advanced toward him with extended hand. The minister shook hands, but remarked that he could not recall his name. 'Oh, yes,' said the old German, 'you remember me! I am the man who gave you a pig when you married me.'

"The minister smiled as he recalled the incident, and as he was about to ask about the wife the old German said: 'Now I tell you what I'll do. When you married me, I gave you a pig, so I'll give you two pigs if you now unmarry me.'

Paine's Celery Compound surely and truly makes people well. It is the one true specific recognized and prescribed by eminent physicians for all diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system. As a spring medi-cine for the banishment of blood diseases, dyspepsia, kidney disease, liver complaint and rheumatism, it is une qualled in the world.

Mr. A. Forsythe, Manvers, Ont., says: "For two years I was in a low condition of health, suffering from nervousness, fainting spells, pain in the head, stomach troubles and loss of appetite. I was under the care of two doctors, but received no benefit from their treatment. I was then advised by a neighbor to use your wonderful medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. The use of this marvellous prescription soon produced the vry best results. I am glad to report that my health is improved in every respect; I am stronger, sleep better, and my appetite is good and natural. I am pleased to recommend Paine's Celery Compound to all sick people, as believe it is the best medicine in the

LACK OF FORESTS.

Thirty Counties in Old Ontario Have Les Than the Proper Area of Bush Land.

According to the report of Thomas Southworth, Director Forestry for the Province, twenty five per cent. of a country should be perpetually covered with timber to secure favorable climatic condi tions and regulate the water supply Thirty of the counties of Ontario have less than this percentage.

The counties in the province having over 20 per cent. of woodiand are Stormont, Glengarry, Russell Renfrew, Haliburton and Hastings. Russell Those having between 20 and 30 cent. of woodland are Essex, Elgin, Norfolk, Lambton, Simcoe, Lennox and Addington, Leeds, Pres cott, Lanark and Peterboro. Kent, Haldimand, Welland, Bruce, Grey, Middlesex, Frontenac, Gren-ville, Dundas, Oxford, Waterloo, Duf-Lincoln, Halton, Northumberland and Prince Edward have between ten and twenty per cent.

The following: Huron, Brant, Perth, Wellington, Wentworth, Peel, Ontario, Durham, Carleton and Victoria are between five and ten.per cent.

Mr. Southworth explains that overclearance has affected the western and midland counties to a greater extent than the eastern portion of the province. In Prince Edward and Grenville counties and in two groups of townships forming southern portions of Lennox, Addington and Hastings Counties, the progress of deforestration has been arrested, and there is a slight increase in the wooded area. A survey of the forestry situation in Ontario gives reason for both congratulation and dissatisfaction, says the report. The Province has towards solving the forestry problem as far as lands are concerned, but the woodland area in older Ontario is getting scantier and scantier, until denudar tion is imminent. As regards refor estration, he says that Ontario's position is much better than that the adjoining States, owing the fact that lands are held by the Crown when timber licenses are granted. Speaking of the growth of forest eserves, Mr. Southworth says that the Lake Temagami reserve, which comprises 1.400.000 acres, contains from 3,000,000,000 to 5,000,000,000 feet, board measure. He recom-mends the further increasing of these reserves, in districts where the land is fitted for the growth of timber He says there are large tracts country on the north shore of the Georgian Bay, and lying along the C.P.R. between Pembroke and Mattawa, which are being reclothed with young pine, and he thinks these could be advantageously set aside as timber reserves, the difficulty being the cancelling of the He recommends an addilicenses. tion to the Sibley Township re-

"I have such a love for books," she that when I go into a house where know there are a whole lot of them I just can't keep away from the dear things. I can't see how people can be satisfied to sit down and play cards or just gossip about common, ordinary things when there is a library to look through. My Professor, what a lot of fine books you have! I like to see books arranged that way, too, with the different kinds of bindings all mixed up together. It makes a library look so much more easy, don't you know, than where the books that are just one size and bound alike are all in long rows after each other. Ah!" she exclaimed, picking up a neat little volume from one of the tables, "Bliss Carman (the Canadian poet). I'm so glad you like her, professor, for I do think she's so sweet. I've been reading several articles about her in the newspapers lately, and I'm just in love with

THE "DROP-OFF" HEART

For fifteen years Mrs. John A. James, of Wiarton, Ont., was a great sufferer from Heart Disease. For days at a time she was confined to Disease. For days at a time she was confined to bed, and it seemed as though every breath might be her last. Her physicians said that she might "drop off" any minute. With woman's tenacity in suffering, and believing that "while there's life there's hope," she started using Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Three bottles cured her. One reads with absorbing interest the brief yet admirable sketch of his life which prefaces the complete collection of follows his poems, and one finds there only the story which the poems themselves reveal. Yet in the verses the inner life is revealed as no autobiography ever published has been able to accomplish. In this age, when the rage for robbing the private life of the individual of the sheltering veil rampant, one turns away with a sensation almost of disgust from those "lives," which are at the best but poor attempts to solve the mystery of "personality," and delicate, cameo-like, as is the work of Lampman's friend and brother poet, seems almost superflous beside the written record we have in the poet's Lampman's life stands recorded in one sonnet, which I have often quoted, but which in its grasp and pow-

The Public Ought to Know, The fatal accident in Lindsay the other day whereby Mr. Walker, Y. M.C.A. secretary, was killed by an electric lighting wire, inspired Judge Dean to write to The Lindsay Post on an important question. He says: "It appears that poor Wal-ker met his death while handling an electric lamp attached to an or dinary covered cord, such as scores of people in town have in their houses—especially in their cellars. Whatever he intended to do with it, whether to attach another piece cord, or simply to move it so as to throw light upon some other point, does not matter; he was handling it as we all handle lamps nearly every day, and the important question to be settled by the inquest is whether there is danger in handling them? The popular im pression has been that with cords and lamps no electricity could escape. If this is not correct the public should know it. I that no pains will be spared to settle this point, so that the Government will be asked to supply extra testimony on the point the Government, as the whole public is concerned in the proper ans wering of this burning question."
