Charity begins at home, and if everybody loved his home as well as charity does we would have fewer divorces.

Skin Soft as a Child's
"I was a great sufferer from eczema and skin troubles for years," writes Mr. John W. Niles, Lehigh, N. B. "My only relief was the Ointment of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me, and my old trouble never returned. My skin is soft as a child's skin, and I shall always say a good word for this Ointment."

"Love makes the world go round, quoted the Wise Guy. "Yes," assented the Simple Man, "provided you have enough rocks for ballast."

A little girl who thought she had grown up past the age of dolls was asking her mother to put them all away for her. "What do you want them kept for if you have finished with them?" asked her mother. "Oh," said the child, "they will do for my children." "But," replied the mother, "suppose you never have any?" "Very well, then," was the reply, "they will do for my grandchildren."

Wire Wounds.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks the sores were healed, and best of all, the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.
F. M. DORSET, Weymouth.

When a country doctor in Maryland arrived at a certain patient's house he found the man in a comatose condition, a circumstance that necessitated several hours of restorative labor.
"How did this happen?" demanded the doctor when the trouble was over. "Did you give him the powder I left?" "Yes, sir," responded the tearful wife.
"As much as would go on a dime and no more?"
"Yes, sir, we done just like what you said. That is, we couldn't find no dime. So I shook a nickel and five cents out of Billy's bank and gave him just what they would carry."-Harper's.

How Ether's Use Was Found.

Before the discovery of ether it took a week, and in some cases a month, to recover from the enormous dose, sometimes five hundred drops or more, of laudanum, given to a patient to deaden the pain during a surgical operation. Young Dr. Morton believed that there must be some means provided by nature to relieve human suffering during these terrible operations; but what could he do? He was not a chemist; he did not know the properties of chemical substances; he was not liberally educated; he did not resort to books; however, he did go to scientific men for advice, but immediately began to experiment with well known substances. He tried intoxicants even to the point of intoxication, but as soon as the instruments were applied the patient would revive. He kept on experimenting with narcotics in this manner until at last he found what he sought in ether.

Be a Blessing.

Sidney Smith cut the following from a newspaper and preserved it for himself: "When you rise in the morning, say that you will make the day blessed to a fellow-creature. It is easily done. A left-off garment to the man who needs it; a kind word to the sorrowful; an encouraging expression to the dejected-trifles in themselves as light as air-will do at least for twenty-four hours. And if you are young, depend upon it, it will tell when you are old; and if you are old, rest assured, it will send you gently and happily down the stream of time to eternity. By a simple arithmetical sum, look at the result. If you send one person away happy through the day, that is three hundred and sixty five in the course of a year. And suppose you live forty years only after you commence that course of medicine, you have made four thousand six hundred persons happy-at all events for a time."

Help for Those Who Have Stomach Trouble
After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and spending nearly five hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' fees, I purchased my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicines I bought before.-SAMUEL BOYER, Folsom, Iowa. This medicine is for sale by all dealers. Samples free.

Perfumes for Royalty.

What are the perfumes favored by royalty?
In the British court 'Ess Bouquet' probably the first favorite, and has been so since about 1829. The recipe for this special perfume is jealously guarded by the manufacturer, and all that he admits is that it is composed of amber, mixed with essences of rose, violet, jasmine, orange flowers and lavender.

The post-Queen of Roumania, Carmen Sylva, has also a secret perfume distilled. It is said, from flowers gathered in the heart of a forest, to which none but the Queen's flower gatherers are admitted.

Perhaps the greatest lover of scents is the Tsarina of Russia, who uses a great many of violets, and her apartments are daily sprinkled with the essences of various flowers. While the Queen of Holland uses nothing but eau-de-Cologne.

Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be obtained when on board the sea or steamships. For sale by all dealers.

Convincing Argument.

A certain colonel's gardener was going through the woods belonging to his employer when he saw a man gathering nuts.
As the Colonel had given strict orders that this was not to be permitted the gardener accented the man. "You'll have to clear out of this," he said, "I've had orders to keep all these nuts for the colonel this year."
"That's all right," replied the man. "I'm getting 'em for the colonel."
A week later the gardener came across the man again.
"Look here," said he, angrily, "you weren't getting those nuts for the colonel at all."
"I tell you I was," was the emphatic reply. "Do you think I was getting them for the shells?"

Happiness.

To the convict it means getting out.
To the social climber it means getting in.
To the hypochondriac it means getting well.
To the ambitious man it means getting there.
To the religious it means getting to heaven.
To the unhappily married it means getting loose.
To the young man in love it means getting 'solid.'
Happiness means different things to different people.
To the selfish man it means getting what he wants.
To the young woman in love it means getting kissed.
To the philanthropist it means getting other people what they want.
In any case you will notice that 'happiness' and 'getting' are pretty closely related.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.
Paw Paw, Mich.-"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."-MRS. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 8, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

Counting the Cost.
One glass of whiskey a day would by many a young man, be considered very moderate drinking. But instead of wasting ten cents a day in that way, if he should put it away in a savings' bank at 3 per cent. interest, in twenty years he would have the handsome sum of $24.00 to his credit. Which would pay best? Many a young man might consider three cheap cigars a day very moderate smoking. But if, instead of spending fifteen cents a day in that senseless habit, he should place it in a savings' bank at 3 per cent. interest, he would have in twenty years $1,475.00 to his credit. Which would pay best-the smoking or the saving? He who drinks two glasses of whiskey and smokes three ordinary cigars each day, in twenty years throws away the large sum of $4,415.00. Do these habits pay? Not And yet there are hundreds of persons thus squandering their earnings, who are not thoughtful enough to count the cost. This is the financial side of the question. Who can count the cost in mortality and dissipated manhood?

A Child's Leading.

"Daddy! Daddy! And you said you wouldn't!" There was a world of disappointment in the tiny tot's voice that sounded strangely out of harmony with the surroundings in the kitchen of the old-fashioned country inn where Jack Mitchell and two companions sat drinking their hall-pints. "U'll cry again," she continued, and then, putting her finger in her mouth, stood strangely silent.

Dot, the apple of Jack's eye, from her home on the opposite side of the road, had caught sight of her father entering the saloon. Before her mother could stop her, away she toddled as fast as her legs could carry her, calling out gleefully, "Daddy! Daddy! Dot's coming!" for she loved Daddy and she knew Daddy loved her.

But when she entered and saw him with a mug of liquor raised to his mouth, her voice lost its sweetness, she looked, stopped, and then uttered her childish reproach.

It didn't mean much to the others, but to Jack it meant a lot. As if stricken nerveless, the mug fell from his grasp, and ashamed of himself he hid his face.

Jack was a good man, hardworking, full of affection and devotion to his wife and child. Yet the enemy had been gaining the mastery over him. Only the other day, he had gone home under the influence of liquor, his nature for the time being quite changed.

Snappish and churlish, he had reproached his wife, and when little Dot sought to clamber on his knee, he had pushed her away.

"Daddy won't love me!" cried the child, and tears trickled down her cheeks, to keep company with those that welled from her mother's eyes.

A sensible woman, she said nothing then, but when he was sober she had pleaded with him. "Jack, do give it up!" and he had promised he would, and his little daughter coming in just at that moment, he had picked her up in his arms and said "Daddy won't have any more of the horrid stuff!"

And now his promise was broken. But it was the last time.

Woe preaching could not have done that childish reproach had done. "The young teetotaler," as Dick Brown called her, fixed his resolve, pulling himself together, he paid his money, gathered his heart's treasure into his arms, then turning to his mate's said: "Chaps, no more for me. I've taken my last. The little un's made a man of me. She shant reproach me again!" He went out of the house and the saloonkeeper never welcomed him as a customer again.

"A little child shall lead them." A little child led him, just when he needed to be led.-Grit.
