WOMAN WALKS 8000 MILES

A walk of 8000 miles was recently finished by Mrs. Stella Wolf, and her husband, Dwight H. Wolf, when they arrive at their home in Kansas City.

The trip started at San Antonio, Texas, where they started on their journey on the 21st of February, and then to New York, where they turned their steps toward home. Previously they made two other such tours and have covered a total of 10,000 miles on foot.

When you get into a rut with your work, it is a good idea to get out of it for a while. Mrs. Wolf's trip was a most interesting one. She has seen some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. Her husband, Dwight H. Wolf, is a well-known writer and has written many books on the subject of travel.

With their walk, they have seen some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. They have seen some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. They have seen some of the most beautiful scenery in the world.

MY LADY'S COLUMN.

HAIR POWDER

The first English ladies who had the courage to wear powdered hair were as much pointed at for their singularity as the wearers of a crinoline would be to-day. It was in the beginning of the reign of George the First that the pioneers ventured to make themselves so conspicuous, and at the time when the next King was crowned there were only two hair-dressers in London; but in the year 1785 it was calculated that there were in Great Britain no less than fifty thousand hair-dressers! A writer with a turn for statistics reckoned up the probable amount of flour these fifty thousand would use in a year, and arrived at the conclusion that it was equal to what would make 5,314,280 quarter loaves.

Apart from the question whether the flour might not have been better employed, it must be owned that there was more excuse for the artificial production of grey hair than there is for the dyeing of the hair when nature decides that it is time for it to be grey.

Simple Resplendency

Sometimes a wife settles down into a dreary, domestic routine, honestly believing that until her husband's life there is no other course for her to pursue. The very fact that many people cannot afford elaborate entertainments does not imply that they cannot enjoy simple ones. Novelty is the charm of life, as variety is its spice, and very often the guests who come from luxurious homes are the most easily pleased. The young housewife who, through fear of criticism, refuses to invite her richer or more experienced friend to her home is cheating herself of much pleasure.

SMART WINTER COSTUME

DOCTORS HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE

"Fruit-a-tives" saved my Life

RIVIERE A. PIERRE, C. May 9, 1910.

"I look upon my recovery as nothing short of a miracle. I was for eleven years, constantly suffering from Chronic Dyspepsia and Indigestion. I was treated by several doctors and they simply did me no good. During the latter part of my illness, I was so thin that I weighed only 90 pounds, and I vomited everything I ate."

The doctors gave me up to die as the stomach trouble produced heart weakness and I was frequently unconscious. I received the Last Rites of the Church. At this time, a lady strongly urged me to try "Fruit-a-tives". When I had taken one box, I was much better and after three boxes, I was practically well again, and had gained 20 pounds. I have taken 13 boxes in all and now weigh 150 pounds and am well."

Madame ARTHUR TOURANGEAU.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of intensified fruit juices and always cures Indigestion, colic, a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CAMPBELLTON HOCKEY

Firemen Win Their First Game.

On Wednesday evening at the skating rink, a well contested hockey game was brought up by the I. C. R. and C. F. D. their firemen winning from their opponents by 3-1.

The game was well refereed by Delaney of the Vics who held the men well in check.

This win puts the Firemen and the Colonials on level footing and an interesting race should now be seen for the wooden spoon of the League.

League Standing	Played	Won	Lost	Drawn	Pts
Vics	6	6	0	0	12
I. C. R.	6	1	4	1	3
C. F. D.	6	1	4	1	3

BOB FITZ THE MOST REMARKABLE FIGHTER

Who was the most remarkable heavy-weight fighter who ever put up his gloves under the Marquis of Queensbury rules? Answer: Bob Fitzsimmons. The freckled-faced Cornishman, maker of horse shoes, and built like a reversed pyramid, was the most extraordinary fighter.

Fitz was thirty-five years old when he won the championship of the world from Jim Corbett at Carson City. He was thirty-seven when he lost the title to Jeffries and thirty-nine when he was beaten by the Californian the second time.

Age is a big factor in this story. It serves to show that the rugged product of the antipodes was more extraordinary than Jeffries, who up to the recent disaster at Reno was generally conceded the distinction. Likewise it proves that care of a body can combat the advance of years to a certain extent.

Jeffries was twenty-four years old when he beat Fitzsimmons at Coney Island. He was thirty-five years, two months and nineteen days old when Johnson whipped him in the "battle of the century," July 4. At thirty-five he is an old man. At this same age Fitz was in the zenith of his great power.

After the two knockouts which Jeffries imposed on him, the Cornishman went out and beat all candidates except Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, with whom he creased, until the total period of his existence totalled forty-three years. What other fighter in the history of pugilism can claim such a record? None.

Fitzsimmons is to be considered all the more extraordinary because of the weight handicap which he suffered after he defeated all the middle-weights. Never scaling more than 170 pounds he had all the punching force of men of fifty pounds more left.

At twenty-nine Jeff retired from the ring and rested on his reputation. He did much hunting and fishing, but idleness was his principal occupation for six years. And when he was induced to train and knock the packing out of Johnson, his punch bulged out like a submarine boat. He reduced to his old weight after much effort. In training he looked as good as when he had made mince meat of Jack Munro, as his farewell fight. But Ed Dunkhorst could have put up a better battle at Reno than the "mighty" Jeff.

BASEBALL SALARIES WONT BE CUT.

The fact that the minor baseball leagues intend to reduce salaries of players in future has alarmed members of the profession who firmly believe that in the course of time the magnates of the majors, the National and the American, will decide to adopt a similar policy. Alarmists point to present conditions in organized baseball as favorable. From the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico there isn't an outlaw circuit. The players, big and little, are at the mercy of organized major and minor leagues wherever professional baseball thrives upon game receipts. If the major league magnates wanted to slash the screws and chop salaries the players would be compelled to submit or retire from the diamond. They could get no baseball employment anywhere else unless with semi-professional teams paying nominal salaries for one or two games a week.

Fashion of Black Velveta

An apron front edged with knitted silk fringe is the feature of a street costume of velveta.

This walking suit is of black, old blue satin being the contrasting tone in the revers upon the three-quarters-length jacket. The revers, too, are edged with fringe and are embroidered with soutache braid of the blue tone.

The coat is trimmed with Herolite braid. A touch of white is given this walking costume with marabou. This delicate feather outlines the collar and cuffs.

The lines of the skirt show a slight tendency to fullness and in length it just escapes the floor.

The model would be pretty in corduroy or cloth.
