The Passover Wine.

A member of the editorial staff of the Methodist Times, London, gives a very interesting account of what he saw and heard at a modern celebration of the Jewish Passover, at the house of an orthodox Jew, to which he had been in-Mrs. Knox has quite recovered from vited on the occasion. We give the closing paragraph :-- "Supper being ended, I said, amongst other things, to an ictelligent and affable Rabbi, who sat next me, 'May I ask with what kind of wine you have celebrated the Passover this evening? 'With a pon-intoxicating wine,' he promptly replied. 'Jews never use fermented wine in their synagogue services, and must not use it on the Passover either for synagogue or home purposes. Fermented liquor of any kind omes under the category of "leaven, which is prescribed in so many well-known places in the Old Testament. The wine which is used by Jews during the week of Passover is supplied to the com-munity by those licensed by the Chief Rabbi's Board, and by those only. Each bottle is sealed in the presence of a re-presentative of the ecclesiastical authorities. The bottle standing yonder on the sideboard from which the wine used to REAL ESTATE AND night was taken was thus sealed. I may also mention that poor Jews who cannot afford to buy this wine, make an unfer mented wine of their own, which is nothng else but an infusion of Valencia or Muscatel raisins.
