Regarding the Barrier of Sex

A second time, Marian encountered Meadows, the rich young man, by accident on one of her morning strolls on Riverside Drive. On the third morning, she met him at their favorite bench by appointment.

"Let's take a ride on a motor bus," he proposed on the latter morning, and together they hailed and clamored to the top deck on one of the passing vehicles. The noon-day sun flashed and shimmered on the surfaces of the Hudson. Marian's companion talked of the Riviera, of interesting adventures in odd Italian nooks, of a journey through Provence. As the bus approached a certain famous and exclusive inn on upper Riverside, Meadows proposed luncheon. Like a girl in a pleasant dream, Marian did as she was bidden, and presently they were seated at an open window at a quaint little table, amid superb surroundings. The host ordered a wine so light and exquisite that it passed Marian's lips without protest.

"How do you like it?" demanded Meadows, sweeping the place with his eyes.

"It's the most beautiful eating place I've ever been in," admitted Marian. "But you shouldn't have done this," she added hesitantly. "You shouldn't have gone to all this trouble."

"I was hoping you wouldn't say that," was the grave reply. "I understand, of course, that no woman ever trumps a man. From unpleasant experiences she knows better. Yet, there are exceptions to the general rule that the barrier of sex doesn't jibe with trusting or being trusted."

"I didn't mean that—exactly," put in Marian.

"But it applies almost universally," added Meadows. "Every woman feels a subconscious distrust of every man—particularly every stranger. I don't say that men haven't earned the distrust. They have exploited and taken advantage of women for a good many hundreds of years. It's too bad. But it's a fact, and will probably continue to be a fact until we..."

A Marvel of Speed, an Unfailing Cure for Old Chronic Cases.

GET A TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY.

With reliable old Nerviline you can rub out the pain of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, or Neuralgia—rub it away so completely that you feel like new all over.

It matters not how deeply seated the pain is, or how long you have had it—rushing with the king of all liniments "Nerviline" will cure you.

Nerviline is highly concentrated—about five times stronger than the ordinary white ammonia liniment—therefore it penetrates quickly—sinks in deeply—and gets right at the core of the pain at once—draws out the lameness, takes away the stiffness—eases the joints that have hurt you so much.

Out comes the pain every time you rub on Nerviline, which contains some of the most valuable pain-subduing remedies known to science. Worth its weight in gold to every family in the land, and sure to cure the emergent and minor ills of a hundred kinds that constantly arise. Get the large 50c. family size bottle; small trial size 25c. Nerviline is sold by every dealer everywhere.

In Memoriam.

William Lewis, an old and respectable resident, died at Holyrood on Wednesday evening last. Deceased, who was a strong and robust man, had enjoyed the best of health up to a year ago, when he began to fall visibly. Having consulted Dr. Jones the disease—cancer of the stomach—gave such alarming symptoms that the patient was pronounced incurable. He bore his sickness with true Christian resignation, and was often visited, comforted, and fortified with the rites of Holy Church by the pastor, Father Finn. He was a staunch member of the Star of the Sea Association, who paid the last tribute of respect to their dear departed brother by marching in processional order at his funeral and assisting at his funeral Mass. The mournful procession was in charge of Undertaker Dunphy, and wended its way slowly from the home of the deceased to the Church of Holy Cross, when Requiem Mass was sung by Fr. Shean, thence to the Central Cemetery, where the remains were reverently laid to rest in the midst of sorrowing friends and sympathizers. The deceased leaves a widow, one son, the well-known and successful banking master, Capt. J. F. Lewis, three daughters, Mrs. Cantwell, Torbay; Mrs. Cranley, South Side, and Mrs. R. Mulowney, Grand Bank, to all of whom we tender our sincere sympathy. Requiescat in Pace.—Com.

Sault Ste. Marie, 13th Dec., 1911.

Canada Life Assurance Co., Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs:—

In acknowledging receipt of cheque in payment of my endowment policy now maturing, I wish to thank you for the prompt way in which you have put my claim through. I did not have to wait a single day for my money as the papers were all in order beforehand.

I am pleased, too, with the way my investment has turned out. Besides having my insurance protection for $1,000, I have got all my money back and $400 besides. The Canada Life has my best good wishes for its continued success.

Yours truly,
R. H. KNIGHT.

A TREATISE ON TEA!

When you buy our Teas in lead packages you are sure of getting Tea fresh, fragrant, strong, clean and, last but not least, airtight. It is impossible for tea not to get stale in packages not airtight, such as paper bags. In other countries for years past tea is sold by retailers only in lead or tin cartons.

If you have not been buying Tea that way, start in to-day.

It is necessary, however, to buy the right teas. They are as follows:

ARMADA: Packed in the most attractive package in the market. A pure Ceylon Tea, at 50c. per lb.

OLD HOME BLUE: In lead packets. A blend of Indian and Ceylon Teas, at 50c. per lb.

SERENDIB: An old favourite, price 40c. per lb.

OLD HOME RED: A blend of Ceylon and Indian, at 35c.

TIGER: Another old favourite, at 35c.

LION: At 30c.
