LORD RANDOLPH AND THE WAGS.

Bidcallader Waddle, Wadbillader Caddle or Widbollader Diddle.

Here is a Philadelphia story by way of the (London) Westminster Gazette: When Lord Randolph Churchill was last in America he visited the city of Philadelphia, and while there set about collecting statistics relating to the State prisons of Pennsylvania. He was referred to the head of the State Prisons Board, a gentleman rejoicing in the somewhat singular name of Cadwallader Biddle. Before calling on Mr. Biddle, however, Lord Randolph fell into the hands of some wags of the Union League Club,

"You've got the name wrong," said one of these merry jesters. "It's not Cad-wallader Biddle, but Bidcallader Waddle." "Don't mind what he says, Lord Ran-dolph," exclaimed another, "the real name is Wadbillader Caddle.

A third member took the ex-chancellor of the exchequer aside, and imparted to him in confidence that he was being gulled

"What, then, is the actual name of the prisons board chief?" anxiously asked the noble lord. "The actual name," confided his false friend, "is Windbollader Diddle." And when Lord Randolph drove to the prisons thoard that evening he was so upset that he stammered, "Will you take this card into Mr. Bid-cad-wid-wad-did-dollader Whatshisname ?- I mean the chief of the board, but I forget his extraordinary nomenclatural combination.' Mr. Cadwallader Biddle himself, who has been recently staying in London, is the amused narrator of this story.

Escape. Toronto, Sept. 10 .- Late this evening Senator Sir Frank Smith and Col. Mason, of the Tenth Royal Grenadiers, were driving on Queen street when their horses became frightened at a trolley car, bolted and dashed into the car. Both gentlemen were thrown violently to the ground. Sir. Frank Smith's escape from death was almost marvelous. His buggy was overturned by a motor, and while entangled n the wreck of the buggy he was pushed for several yards ahead of the trolley beore it could be stopped. As it is, he has three ribs broken, and may have suffered internal injuries. Col. Mason escaped with a shaking up. The horses were badly cut, and the carriage smashed to splint-

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. Thos. Ballantyne has just returned from a visit to the old country. A few days before sailing for England he had this letter from the late Hon. C. F. Fraser: "There is hardly any need for this line to assure you of how deeply I regret your defeat in South Porth. If there is one man in Ontario who should have been without opposition from the Patrons, you are that man, and it is an immeasurable puzzle to me why the farmers could not see that you deserved their support. I hope, not less for the sake of the Province than for the farmers themselves, that your retirement from public affairs is only temporary, and with the warmest esteem, believe me as ever."

COLOSSAL FRAUDS

Involving a Number of Canadian Victims.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 .- According to allegations contained in a complaint filed in Cologne express between Noyon and Chauny the United States Circuit Court, Judge Luscombe will be called upon tomorrow to take action with the object of preventing the continuation and final consummation of one of the most colossal frauds in modern times. The chief actor in this scheme, John C. Beatty, although an American, at present resides in Mexico, and his victims include prominent New Yorkers and other residents of the United States and Canada.

How far the scheme has succeeded has not yet been determined, but one victim, James H. Beatty, president of the German and Northwest Insurance Company of Ontario, Canada, and of the Federal Life Assurance Company, of Hamilton, swears he has lost $37,500, and it is charged that the goal of John C. Beatty's ambition was to fraudulently obtain possession of $7,500,-

The complainants in the case, in addition to James H. Beatty, are James C. Aiken, Benj. H. Doane and Leo Wormser, of New York. The defendants are Frank A. Miller, Charles H. Dow, Samuel N. Wood, Finnis P. Ernst, Frank Church, James H. Brown, Charles W. Kittredge, James W. Carlisle, Thos. J. O'Donnell, of California, and John C. Beatty, of Texas, all directors or trustees of the Colorado River Irrigation Com-

The known assets of the company did not exceed $40,000. It had no bank account since last October, and was obliged to give up its offices at 66 Broad street, this city, last July, for non-payment of rent.

James H. Beatty, the Canadian, pur chased 10,000 shares and paid $35,500, and each one of those mentioned as complainants held 550 shares. At this time it is impossible to ascertain how much money that has been paid, it is declared, has gone nto the pockets of John C. Beattv.

The company was first organized on Jan. , 1892, under the name of the Arizona and Senora Land and Irrigation Company, but the title was changed on Jan 9, 1893, to its present form. Its ostensible object was to carry on the irrigation of lava in California, Arizona, Lower California and Mexico. Its capital stock was $7,500,000, divided into 150,000 shares of $50 each. According to the complaint, however, the company was organized by John C. Beatty for his sole nterest and benefit, and to enable him to realize $7,500,000 on a tract of worthless land containing 1,500,000 acres on the Altar River in the Province of Sonora in Mexico, to which he did not even have a Monday Afternoon and Evening. Committee work went on apace at the Methodist General Conference Monday afternoon and evening. It is likely that the morning sessions will be given up entirely to committee work, and the afternoon and evening sessions devoted to regular business. Thirty committees were down to meet yesterday in three different groups, but owing to the number of times some delegates were repeated on different committees, it was impossible for all to meet. Dr. Potts withdrew his motion before the committee on education to give conferences veto power in the appointment of university professors. The whole matter was thoroughly threshed out and discussed until a late hour. The committee on superannuation discussed the new constitution recommended by the commission, and adopted quite a large portion of it with several slight amendments. In fact so many articles were accepted as to render the adoption of the whole by the committee an assured fact. The committee on itinerancy had a close fight over the proposal to lengthen the term of the recommendation through conference. | next Wednesday, Thursday or Friday." The committee on temperance did not think it possible to have a third or prohibition party, and will recommend as a better way that the interested parties attend the primary conventions and meetings of both political parties and see that staunch temperance men are selected as candidates, so party will not be sacrificed.

The sustentation fund committee decided that each conference should have its own separate sustentation fund. This is in Friday.

The memorials committee passed a resolution relating to the solemnization of marriage in Manitoba. In view of the fact that in Manitoba men who are not ministers | China. As to the cheap labor objection, in good standing are allowed to perform the marriage ceremony, the conference is recommended to secure the union of various Christian Protestant bodies in an endeavor to induce the Manitoba Legislature to take steps to prevent the same. The Sabbath observance committee instructed the secretary to draw up a resolution by which Sunday trains, Sunday street cars, Sunday excursions (especially by steamboat) and Sunday funerals are condemned; in which Sunday bicycling is called a growing evil that should be discouraged. Sunday parades of societies were also condemned and Toronto was congratulated on her firm anti-Sunday street car stand.

The superannuation committee accepted the proposal to reduce the superannuation board from 28 to 16 members and so save expense. The book and publishing committee will recommend the reduction in price of the Christian Guardian from $2 to $1 a year.

THE LENGTH OF PASTORATE. The Detroit News has this to say of one of the "burning" questions: A movement session in London to extend the time of the itinerant preacher's residence in one place from three to five years, so that there may be a "compromise" when the final issue is met and when they will be willing to drop to the United States figures for the sake of peace. If the old consideraations, upon which the Americans make their changes in the itinerancy from one to three and three to five years, are valuable, they must apply with equal or better pertinency to the Canadian itinerancy. The theory was that a preacher could tell all he knew in one year, and as Methodist education advanced this period was extended to five years. It is now conceded that there exists among the Methodists no reason for any limit at all which does not apply equally to all the denominations. The Methodist ministry is now as well trained a body of men in all learning as any other body in the land. This is quite as true of the Canadian Methodists as it is of our own. Indeed, of Canada it must be said that she is behind no country in her general literary culture. Detroit knows, perhaps better than any other city of our country, the value of the Canadian pulpit. We import some of our best preaching from the Dominion, and the importation is a constant flow. This means that there is just as good reason in Canada for a five years' residence as there is here.

Tuesday Morning. It was but a continuation of the work of previous days that characterized this morning's session of the Methodist General Conference. Motions, notices of motions, and memorials were received and referred in rapid order and the conference has not yet entered on that interesting portion of their work-the discussion of committee reports. There is such a quantity of work before the committees that the conference adjourned at 12 o'clock to spend the afternoon in committee work. The delegates met again at 5 in the evening, however, to receive Rev. H. J. Pope, the British representative.

A very interesting memorial respecting Chinese immigration received from the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and accompanied by a communication from Rev. Principal Grant, was read by the secretary. The latter said among other things:

"I beg to inclose a communication from the General Assembly appointing a committee, of which I am convener, to bring to the notice of sister churches the unjust and edious discrimination practiced by Canada against the Government and people of China. The object is to secure united effort in bringing such influence to bear upon the Government of Canada as may result in the removal of the present unjust restrictions. * * Should the conference appoint a committee to consider the question, this sumfrom three to five years. This legislation was pronounced by the doctor as un-British and opposed to interdirect opposition to Dr. Sutherland's national comity. They had only to reverse scheme propounded to the conference on the position, and suppose that China admitted freely men of all countries save Canada, to understand how offensive the Canadian restrictions were. The latter were great obstacles to Christianizing he submitted that wherever labor was engaged in conflict labor could triumph only by appealing to the principles of justice and the rights of humanity; and that its cause must be lost when it refused to recognize that God had made of one blood all nations to dwell on the face of the earth, and when it draws distinctions based upon race, color, creed or sex. The royal commission decided that fears of a very extensive Chinese immigration into Canada were baseless. The immigrants came from tropical or semi-tropical parts of China, and the climate of Canada was not suited to them. If restriction should be considered necessary it should be made according to treaty between the two nations, and not by high-handed action on the part of one or the other. The communication from Principal Grant was referred to the committee on sociological questions. Dr. Potts, Toronto, then introduced Rev.

complete the course. Another motion by Mr. Rowell, seconded by Rev. J. E. Lanceley, was calculated to stimulate the growth of Christian fraternity between Epworth League and other young people's societies in the churches of the various Christian denominations of this country. It arranged for the holding of a series of united conventions for mutual improvement and advancement.

The same delegates also moved that the Epworth League and Sunday school board be divided and constitute two separate boards. A number of amendments to the discipline were moved, the object of which was to place Epworth Leagues in the same position as Sunday schools, requiring them regularly to report to the official boards. To save expense Messrs. Rowell and Lanceley also moved that the membership of the book committee be reduced by one-
