The most important and successful of the closing recitals of the Conservatory of Music was that given in the Auditorium last evening, it being the graduating recital of Mr. Charles Percy and Miss Agnes Templeton. Both of these young musicians acquitted themselves in a manner which spoke well alike for their own abilities and for the excellent training to which they have been subjected. Mr. Percy is the winner of the gold medal presented by W. Caven Barron, principal of the conservatory, for the best pianist of the year, and he is also winner of the $50 scholarship, donated by the Helmsman Piano Company, of Toronto. Mr. Percy is a pupil of Mr. Barron. He possesses the technique and the individuality to enable him to do still better things than he has yet done. Miss Templeton is possessed of a rich full contralto voice, of great compass and flexibility, which shows careful and excellent training. She uses it with excellent control and great feeling. The sympathetic quality of expression was deeply marked in her rendering of Schubert's "I Dream," and Combs' "The Journey is Long." Miss Brown, her teacher, and Mr. F. G. Simpson, who has just joined the conservatory staff, acted as accompanists. The programme was: Concerto, op. 16 (Grieg), Mr. Percy, accompanied by Mr. Barron; "I Dream" (F. WANT A BAND STAND

Water Commissioners Will Consider the Erection of a New Stand Near Springbank Pavilion—Quarterly Financial Statement—Other Matters Dealt With.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the water commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, those present being Chairman Jones, Commissioner Little, Mayor Rumball, Superintendent Moore and Secretary Ellwood.

Ald. Brown, an Jolly, representing the London Old Boys' reception committee, urged upon the commissioners the desirability of erecting a band stand in front of the Springbank pavilion, before the date of the Old Boys' reunion, Aug. 6, 7 and 8. Several American bands will be present, and it was felt by the reception committee that it would not be right to take them to the park and have no place for them to play. The cost was estimated by Ald. Jolly at $200, of which the street railway company would pay $50. Superintendent Moore's estimate of the cost was $300, and reference to the council minutes showed that the stand in Victoria Park had cost $685. The commissioners were of opinion that they could not afford to spend the money this year, unless the council were willing to accept a reduction in the department's revenue. They will consider the matter again.

Walter Bradford, lessee of the pavilion, was present with his counsel, J. M. McEvoy, in regard to the expressed intention of the commissioners to have the second story of the pavilion open to the public, except when being used by private parties. Mr. McEvoy stated that Mr. Bradford was willing to keep the pavilion open, except on holidays or other special occasions, provided a policeman was stationed there to prevent disorder and damage. The commissioners wanted it opened when there was a large crowd at the park, as well as at other times, and the matter was referred to Chairman Jones.

Auditors Jewell and Cottrell presented their quarterly report, showing receipts from March 1 to May 31 to be $32,351.21, of which $18,144.67 was for water rates; and expenditures of $8,649.68, leaving a balance of $23,701.23.

A four-inch main will be laid on Wellington street, north of Regent, to cost $100, and a two-inch main on William street north, to supply Wm. McLaughlin's residence, at a cost of $75.

John Merritt applied for a main on Kensington street, West London. The chairman and superintendent will report.
