BISHOP PREACHED ELOQUENT SERMON
Optimism and Progressiveness Characterized His Lordship's Words.
MANY THEMES OF PASTORS
Interesting Subjects Touched Upon In Some of London's Churches On Sunday.

Bishop Williams preached a most optimistic and progressive sermon at St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday from the text, Exodus xiv, 15: "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward."
"These words," his lordship said, "must have seemed strange to the people to whom they were addressed, as the children of Israel at this time had the Egyptians pursuing them closely and behind them the Red Sea. They saw no escape and fell to cursing their leader. There are people now just like them who are afraid to trust themselves and go ahead. But it is imperative that we must go ahead, and go ahead at once. This was never more true than right now in Canada. Within the past ten years, there is not a commercial enterprise that has not greatly enlarged its facilities. Few factories now would be so foolish, as to attempt to do the same old volume of business with the same plant they had ten years ago. It is foolish for any church to try and accomplish the work to be done today with the means it employed ten years ago. As the business world has expanded, so the church world must expand. We are living in a momentous time. Now, since the coming of Christ has the world experienced such a feeling of expectation that something is about to be done. China, with her millions, is ripe for education, and is seeking it wherever she can get it. In India there is unrest, and in Turkey the rising sun has Young Turks and their demands is most significant. The yellow races believe the white races have what all have been seeking, the true religion, and they are hungering and calling for knowledge of it. Never before in the history of the Christian church has there been so many calls from all over the world for missionaries. The Church of England in Canada at the recent synod meeting in Ottawa pledged itself to christianize the whole Province of Honan in China, and will send out a bishop and a large number of clergy to carry out the work. This is a step never before undertaken. The synod also has struck a forward note in its effort to get young men interested. Young people's societies and the Sunday schools will be given greater attention than ever. The church realizes its opportunity, and the churches' opportunity is the individual's opportunity. God extends a call to all of us to help in the great work of christianizing the world.

Dr. Ross on Excuses.
A large number of children were present at St. Andrew's yesterday morning, when for five minutes before the regular sermon, Rev. Dr. Ross talked to the young people particularly on "Excuses." Dr. Ross urged all children not to make excuses when they have done wrong, but to own up and face the punishment whenever it is.
Last night Dr. Ross preached to a large congregation on the subject "God Our Home," from the text Psalm xc, 1: "Lord thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations." Dr. Ross showed that the man who has the best home is God. He offers us easily what a good home is a shelter from the weather and from the cares of life, so God is a shelter from all sin. Home is a place of supply for the children, the place where they get their food and clothes. Man finds in God a similar place to supply all his spiritual needs.

God is to the spirit what home is to us in our present state.
On Monday evening an at home will be held in St. Andrew's school-room, at 8 p.m. Thursday evening Mrs. Gordon Wright will address a meeting of the W. F. M. S.
First Methodist Church.
"The Value of a Man," was the subject of a practical and interesting sermon by Rev. W. L. Rutledge at the First Methodist Church last night. Mr. Rutledge chose two texts, the first Isaiah xlii, 12, "I will make a man more precious than fine gold," and the second, Matthew xvi, 26, "What is a man profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul." Mr. Rutledge showed that values were expressed by comparison. In the first text Isaiah was looking for some adequate measure of the social value of a man in the world about him. In the second text, man is measured by Christ's standard of value and allowed to live up to the highest standard possible, and not sell themselves cheaply. If we do we will think too much of ourselves to sin against Christ.

The Memorial Church.
At the Memorial Church Sunday morning Canon Hague gave a practical review of several of the important questions that came up for discussion at the recent meeting of the synod in Ottawa. Canon Hague spoke most hopefully of the outlook in the church world.
In the evening Canon Hague again occupied the pulpit, and in the course of his remarks made a strong plea for all to try and live so that everyone would know that they were to be thoroughly relied upon. Too many people, he said, are afraid to do things that they do not mean, and their work and actions are characterized by a spirit of unthoroughness.

Seventh Anniversary.
Sunday marked the seventh anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. D. S. Hamilton, at the First Congregational Church, and the occasion was celebrated by a large attendance at the services, and by a splendid Sunday school rally in the afternoon.
Rev. D. S. Hamilton preached both morning and evening and his sermons were thoroughly appreciated. In the evening Mr. Hamilton thanked the members present for the support they have given him throughout his pastorate here, and spoke most hopefully of the work in the future.
The rally services were presided over by Superintendent Anundson. An address, given by Rev. A. Collins, was greatly appreciated. A programme, consisting of solos by Mr. G. H. Zwicker and Miss Edith McBride, and readings by Miss Gwendolyn Anstehle, was greatly enjoyed.

Harvest Home Services.
Special Harvest Home anniversary services were celebrated in the Colborne Street Methodist Church yesterday morning, the pulpit being occupied by Rev. E. B. Lancelley. Mr. Lancelley spoke on "Life's Harvest," a theme appropriate to the occasion.
In the evening Rev. F. E. Malott spoke on "The Reasonableness of Religion," showing that religion is composed of justice, mercy and reverent faith. Many persons have the first quality, but if they have that alone and live up to it their life is imperfect. Justice, added to justice, seasons it, and when reverence is added to these two qualities a perfect religion is accomplished.

London Junction.
Next Sunday marks the beginning of a new era in Methodism at London Junction, when Rev. E. B. Lancelley will dedicate the handsome new church that has been erected there. It is only a few months ago that the Methodist conference decided to extend the work to London Junction, and they met with such splendid encouragement that it was decided to build the church. The church has already a large and growing congregation. Rev. E. B. Lancelley will preach the first sermon next Sunday morning, and in the afternoon Rev. Hector McKay will give an address. Rev. A. K. Birks, of Askin Street Church, will preach in the evening.
The first meeting of the new adult Adult Bible Class.
Bible class that has been formed for men in St. Andrew's Church, was held yesterday afternoon with a large attendance. In future meetings of the class will be held every Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Lancelley.
"The Triumph of a Principle" was Rev. E. B. Lancelley's subject at Dundas Centre Church last evening. Mr. Lancelley dealt with the appointment to office of public men. "Our standard today," said the speaker, "does not seem to be so high as it was in former times. If a man is a successful ward politician, or if he can manage a voters' list so as to deliver a certain number of bribed voters at the polls, he seemingly has the proper qualifications for a Government position. The country needs men with strong convictions, men with a principle for which they will fight and die if necessary."

A splendid rally of the Epworth League of Dundas Centre has been planned for this evening and a programme of a decidedly unique character has been arranged.
Rev. Mr. Gilpin.
Last evening at the Unitarian Church Rev. Mr. Gilpin spoke on "The Modern Attitude to Christ." Christ was deeply rooted in the hungers and needs of the people. Caesar belonged to imperialism and Napoleon to republicanism, but the work of Jesus had worth for all men. He was regarded chiefly as a wonder and mental healer in his own age, and during the last five centuries as a priest, interceding ineffectually for men. But recent Christianity tends to see in his life an eternal means of cleansing and vitalizing men.
Jesus was a discoverer of the spiritual force. He saw in love, mercy, meekness, quiet bravery and tenderness, powers to overcome evil. He exemplified his gospel. He left the comforts of home for the hazardous life of the fields, roads and peasants' cottages. He lived the unconventional, simple life. He paid no respect to the ceremonial of hand-washing or to the Sabbathian laws of his day. He went the full hazard of life and proclaimed the invincibility of the virtues of the human heart. Our attitude to him is that of love and devotion to a leader, a teacher and a brave, unconquerable person.
St. Peter's Cathedral.
Rev. Father O'Neil celebrated Vespers at St. Peter's Cathedral last evening. Rev. Father Aylward occupying the pulpit.
In last evening's sermon the preacher began a series on "The Creed." In an interesting manner he outlined the Apostles' Creed, and gave an excellent introductory sermon.
The morning services were as usual. Large congregations attended both morning and evening.
Rev. Mr. Inkster.
Rev. J. G. Inkster, inducted on the first Sunday evening of every month to preach a sermon especially for young men and young women. Last night Mr. Inkster dealt with the young man who came to Christ, asking what to do in order that he might be saved, and pointed out that the Lord loved him for four reasons. The first was that he was a follower of the old-time religion of the Hebrews, and did not heed the wave of Greek materialism that was then sweeping over Palestine. Christ loved the young man also for that they must in like manner stand fast against the wave of scientific materialism that is sweeping over our country. Christ loved the young man also for his fine moral character, for his prepossessing appearance and because he was an anxious enquirer after the truth. Notwithstanding the immense wealth the young man had, he still had a great longing for something, and Mr. Inkster said it was this same longing that is taking thousands of young people to more or less questionable places of amusement. It is the same longing for something that is bringing thousands of emigrants to our country. Mr. Inkster in conclusion strongly urged all to accept Christ if they would know perfect peace and relief from such longings.
In the morning Mr. Inkster continued his series of sermons on "The Facts of Christ."

celebrated special harvest thanksgiving services yesterday. The church was very beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit and grains, and large congregations were present on both occasions to hear Rev. Canon Downie, B.D., of Port Stanley, preach. The choir rendered a special programme of music, and in the evening the St. John's choir was augmented by the members of the choir of Emmanuel Church.
The harvest supper will be held shortly at the home of the late E. Sifton, in London Township. A most attractive programme has been arranged, and the affair will undoubtedly prove a great success.

Appointments To Be Settled Tonight
The appointment of Assistant Chief Aitken to be chief of the fire brigade will be made at the council this evening.
Mr. Aitken has a majority of the aldermen pledged to support him, and there is no doubt of his selection.
Among the citizens generally and with several aldermen the opinion prevailed that both Foreman R. Aitchee, of the Hamilton brigade, and Capt. Thomas Davis, of Toronto, were better qualified for the position than Mr. Aitken.

MEN 100,000 YEARS AGO
Exchange Professor Peuck Deduces This From Conditions in Alpine Cave.
London, Oct. 4.—Prof. Peuck, director of the Berlin Deep Sea Institute and American Exchange professor, sailed for New York on Thursday. The professor may lecture in New York on the interesting anthropological discovery made in a wonderful cave named the Waldkirchloch at Sanis, Switzerland.
Dr. Eckerhardt discovered this cave and later on Dr. Bachler unearthed in it numerous remains of a colony of bears with a quantity of human bones of the prealaeolithic period. The discovery showed that mankind dwelt in the cave and lived on the bears which they killed in hunting.
Prof. Peuck in the course of a visit to the cave ascertained that this state of things could only have occurred during the last interglacial era. He thereby proved that human beings must have lived in the mountains before the last glacial period.
The Alps, which, according to Prof. Peuck's calculation, was about 100,000 years ago.
