Legislative Proceedings. Our Legislators did good service in the House yesterday. To the senior pation; and even Canada, which is now so city member we are indebted for in- united and so prosperous, was then under a troducing and successfully carrying passing cloud of internal discord (hear, hear.)
If we look around us and see the contrast through a resolution exempt- which is now presented, I think that there is ing from duty foreign corn, imported for conversion into flour, for and said too almost in a tone of reproach, the purpose of re-exportation. This that responsible government is a very simple exemption, while it will in no way interfere with the protection of the interfere with the protection of the interfere with the protection of the simple a matter, I should wish there were colonial producer, will encourage a more illustrations of it all over the world valuable branch of home industry, cheers.) But it is not found to be so in practice here in this country. It has taken a long time to construct the great fabric of to set one or more mills in immediate constitutional government, and it needed the active operation. The other resolution, though obviously a proper and just one, we hardly expected the honorable member would be able to engineer through the House. Since plant it to distant colonies, connected, after the Union proclamation and the consequent enforcement of the Tariff in here, the marvel to me is how it has been Victoria, the maintenance of the Chief Office of the Customs Department on the Fraser River has been a palpable absurdity and a glaring injustice to lines of Imperial and colonial relief to the sequence of the Chief of the Customs Department on the Fraser River has been a palpable absurdity and a glaring injustice to absurdity and a glaring injustice to lines of Imperial and colonial policy, or inthe country. That great proposal to which reference was made this evening—a proposal for the confederation of the North American provinces — has sometimes been objected to on the ground that proposals of such a character involve revolution and a gigantic innovation on the existing state of things. For my own part, looking at that scheme of confederacy itself, I cannot agree in that opinion. It is Barker, Judge Darien, J W C. J. S. J. P. L. & Co., E W.
