

The Weekly Monitor.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 31st, 1889.

The Late Henry S. Piper.

It has become a melancholy duty to announce the death of our esteemed townsman, Henry S. Piper, late editor, proprietor and publisher of this journal.

The deceased was the only son and the only surviving child of the gentleman named, and he too received the rudiments of education here.

In 1873, while he yet lacked some months of his majority, he formed a partnership with Mr. John E. Sanborn, of this town, and having bought the plant of the Free Press office, the firm of Sanborn & Piper began the publication of the Monitor.

With limited means, but unlimited determination to acquire increased facilities for his business, he fought the battle, in which the odds were against him, bravely and successfully.

He was a member of the Church of England and never absent from the sanctuary time the paper, under his management, became more and more popular; its circulation soon doubled itself; new job presses enabled him to cheapen his productions, and the work required to be done increased measurably with the increase in the circulation of his paper.

At the conclusion of this part of the ceremonial his brother Masons proceeded to their part of the solemn and affecting duty of the day. The fine ritual service by that body was then proceeded with in the form and with much solemnity. It was listened to with marked reverence by all those who heard it.

The procession, as we have stated, was very large, but it did not include very many of the friends and acquaintances of the deceased, who were present in the cemetery.

Amongst the visitors who have been pleased to welcome Mr. Horace B. Cropp, one of our Lower Granite boys, now resident in Brooklyn, New York.

Mr. Cropp holds a position of honor and respect in the city of Brooklyn, and is a very promising young man and rapidly rising in his business.

The weather during the early part of the week was not favorable to the hay harvest as that of last week.

Geo. H. Dixon has just received a car of Crown of Gold Flour, which will be sold for cash.

Notice is hereby given that the members of the Board of Health for the Health District are requested to meet at the office of T. D. Ruggles & Sons, Queen St., at 8 o'clock, p. m. Thursday, August 1st, 1889.

It is not unusual for the irritable papers of the Maritime Provinces to steal (now and then) an editorial paragraph from the Monitor, a course, which though not highly moral, has been hitherto passed over with a shrug.

QUEEN COUNTY GOLD MINES.—The gold mines of North Queens are almost daily giving fresh evidences of the wealth contained in that property.

A large number of American tourists are located on different parts of the Reservoirs, fishing and enjoying the balmy breezes of the best summer resort in the Maritime Provinces.

THE PRIZE LIST of the Exhibition for Kings, Hants and Annapolis Counties, to be held at Kentville, this autumn, beginning on the 24th of September, has been issued. Ten copies have been sent to each County Council; ten copies to every Secretary of Agriculture and twenty-five copies to the Municipal Clerk for Annapolis County, for distribution.

THE PEOPLE of Granville Ferry were startled on Friday night, July 26th, by an alarm of fire, which was caused by the Steam Saw Mill in the eastern end of the village. The fire was discovered about 11 p. m., but was too well underway to be extinguished.

Local and Other Matters.

Mr. Ephraim Bochman harvested a fine crop of wheat on the 25th of July, this, which was thoroughly ripened. This, we believe, the earliest time in the present generation, on which such a crop has been garnered in the usual degree of ripeness.

ROBBEY.—Siggins' cordwainer's shop was burglariously entered on Sunday night, 28th inst., and two pairs of boots were taken. The thief, perhaps unwisely, doffed the old pair which he had on at the time and left them to replace one of those stolen.

THE OBITUARIES.—The funeral of the late Mr. Piper was one of the largest ever witnessed in the county. On Tuesday—the day appointed for the burial—people from all sections of the county flocked to take part in the solemn rite, which seemed to afflict with a sudden sense of personal deprivation.

Clemensport Items.

The work is now going on more rapidly on the Missing Link. There are about 200 men still at work, though some few of the men left after the day of the 20th inst.

PERSONALS.—Mr. John Wilman, of New York, is on a visit to his relatives and friends at Round Hill, near which place he was born. He was accompanied by his niece, a daughter of the Hon. George Wilman.

Mr. George DeWitt, of North Easton, in Massachusetts, a native of this town, and son of the late Alexander DeWitt, who was a member of the town and surrounding country, is spending a short time with his friends and relatives here. It is good to see old friends once again, and to know that the place of their birth still has attractions for them, though domiciled in a foreign land.

Ingilville Items.

DEAR EDITOR.—Through the columns of your much esteemed paper I have been made aware of a reference to your correspondent at Ingilville, at whom I am not a little surprised. As it is plainly seen, he is not dealing fairly with his neighbors.

ARRANGEMENTS for the Halifax Summer Carnival are progressing in a favorable manner. The program of the week is one of extraordinary attractiveness, embracing not only every conceivable kind of reasonable sport, but all the glittering and important features of the carnival.
