Public Opinion.

London Advertiser: Our Kingston Conservative contemporary can call the registration system all the names that its dictionary contains. It has come to stay in Ontario, and will very soon be the rule in Dominion elections as well. It is the only fair, equitable method for providing an up-to-date voters' list.

Montreal Gazette: The idea of confederation with Canada is said to be rapidly rising in public favor in Newfoundland. The idea of confederation with Newfoundland is not exactly rising in public favor in Canada, but if the island knocks at the door of the union it will not be found locked. We are not of the kind to turn our backs on a hard-up relation.

Hamilton Spectator: The supreme court has dragged Sir Oliver Mowat out of the prohibition hole. It has decided that the little "parliament" at Toronto cannot prohibit the sale of liquor in the Province of Ontario. The famous plebiscite thus comes to nothing, and Sir Oliver's famous promise to the prohibitionists need not be kept. All of which must be quite comfortable for Sir Oliver and the other ardent prohibitionists of his cabinet.

Ottawa Pree Press: Opinions differ as to there being a meeting of Parliament or dissolution. Opinions may differ, but the best thing the public can do is to be ready for dissolution. It might come soon, and the Liberal party should be ready and armed for the fray. Organize and wait. A few months more or less will then be a matter of indifference. The fear of meeting Parliament exhibited by the Government is a good omen for the Liberal party.

Montreal Herald: Much ingenuity in the shirking of its responsibility on the prohibition question has been displayed by the Dominion Government. Its final exploit was to postpone decision indefinitely. And the report of the Royal Commission to which, as a last resort, it referred the matter has not yet been presented to Parliament; nor will it, upon presentation, awaken the slightest interest as a document of value in the discussion of one of the most momentous problems of the national life. The apparent division of authority made such contemptuous treatment of the matter a possibility. But the country knows where to look and the Government that would stand must settle the temperance question one way or the other.

The Globe: The "rounding off of Confederation" ought to be genuine, not illusory. Even from a British standpoint nothing would be gained by shifting any part of the French shore difficulty from British to Canadian control. In the end Great Britain would have to bear the brunt of all the disputes that might arise, and nothing would be gained by having them all continually ventilated at Ottawa, where they could not be finally settled, but where they would be the cause of incalculable strife, discord, and ill-feeling. Our sincere conviction is that the highest interests of Canada require that the settlement of the French shore question should be an absolute condition of the entrance of Newfoundland into the Confederation.

REV. P. C. HEADLEY, 697 Huntington Avenue, Boston, U.S.A., April 2nd, 1894, writes:

"I have found the Acid treatment all it claims to be as a remedy for disease.

"While it does all that is stated in the descriptive and prescriptive pamphlet, I found it of great value for bracing effect, one part of the acid to ten of water applied with a flesh brush, and towels after it; also an excellent internal regulator with five or six drops in a tumbler of water. I should be unwilling to be without so reliable and safe a remedy.

"I wonder that no mention is made in the pamphlet of the sure cure the Acid is for corns (applied once or twice a day), so many are afflicted with them. It was death to mine."
