

THIS MACHINE MAKES THE MONEY

It makes a perfect imitation of any open grain because it uses the wood itself to print from, and one operator and a couple of boys can do more work with it than a dozen men with any other so-called machine or pads on the market.

That's why its a money maker.
It imitates perfectly.

The enormous capacity of the

. . Falls No. 43 . . Undercut Face Planer

makes it particularly valuable to the door manufacturer. He can feed in several pieces of stock at one time and keep the machine filled for ten hours. At the end of that time he will find that the stiles are smoother than could be turned out on a hand planer and the amount is equal to that of several of the hand planers.

The same can be said of all other stock ordinarily worked up on a hand planer. Try the Falls Undercut on all your rough stock. You will be surprised at the result.
