

CHAPTER SEVENTH.		PAGE
Progress of the Colony.—Madame Champlain.—Fort St. Louis founded.—The Recollets. (A.D. 1615-1624).....		48
CHAPTER EIGHTH.
Champlain's efforts.—Arrival of Jesuit Missionaries.—Neglected state of the Colony.—Quebec taken by the English.—Champlain at Paris.—His return to Canada. (A. D. 1624-1633).....		53
CHAPTER NINTH.
Company of 100 Associates.—Champlain the first Governor of Canada.—The Indians.—Religious affairs. (A.D. 1633)		60
CHAPTER TENTH.
Champlain's last days.—His death and burial.—Character and services of Samuel de Champlain.—Progress of other European Colonies. (A. D. 1635).....		62
CHAPTER ELEVENTH.
Divisions of the History of Canada.—The governors to 1663.		66
CHAPTER TWELFTH.
What Canada was at Champlain's death in 1635.—Charlevoix.—Missionaries and "Relations des Jésuites."—Progress of settlement.—Seigneuries.—Foundation of Montreal.—Religious orders and the part they took in forwarding settlement.—"Engagés."—Selection of wives for the colonists.—Company of Associates suppressed in 1663.....		68
CHAPTER THIRTEENTH.
Deadly enmity of the Iroquois from Champlain's time to 1668.—The Iroquois settlements.—Maisonneuve and the Iroquois at Montreal.—Massacres by the Agniers (Mohawks).—Awful cruelty towards the missionaries Jogues, Brebœuf, and Lallemand.—Conquest and dispersion of the Hurons.—The Colony, on the brink of ruin in 1660, saved by Dollard and his companions.—State of the colony in 1662.		71
CHAPTER FOURTEENTH.
Civil and Religious affairs of the colony from 1629 to 1663.—Governors of "the Heroic Age of Canada."—Recollets and Jesuits.—Foundation of the Hotel Dieu and the Ur-		