A large number of Hamilton men and women were present at the "Kennels" yesterday afternoon for the big Hamilton-London ladles' golf tournament, which ended with London two up. A phenomenal score was made by Miss Nesbitt of Hamilton, who made the course in 91. The tournament was proclaimed to be a very fine one, Miss Climie captaining the Hamilton team and Miss Belton captaining the London team.

A very pleasant feature of her schemes for interesting the educational institutions of the land in this work is the annual trip to France, which will be given to some teacher of the province by the Secours Nationale to further the interest between the two nations. The teacher will visit the orphanage, making it her headquarters while there. The orphanage has now 140 resident children, all being supported by Canadian money, but there are in all 500 children who rightly come under the care of the Secours Nationale. A hig campaign to raise funds for this work will he launched in September.

Women At Home and Abroad

Mrs. Nellie McClung strikes the right note when she says that the Government's new budget hits hard the salaried and professional people of the land. Important as this body of people is to the country, for it is by their service that the whole mechanism is kept roing, they must hay the price as always, and be shoved farther and farther down into the realm of poverty. They are the type which appreciates good things. Their women keep up appearances by paying the price for a good dress and then wearing it for three or four seasons. Now, with the luxury tax, and with exterly the same amount of money to spend, hey must be content with the cheap thing, which their less frugal and yet slightly more affluent neighbor drags out in one season. The other two classes suffer not at all. The class which is accustomed to the cheap and sho go on its cheap and shoddy way untaxed, while the family of the profiteer can pay the luxury tax without feeling the pinch. Is it fair?

Mrs. Nellie McClung, the noted authoress of Edmonton, practically asks this The money has to be raised of course, and personally, I can do without silk stockings and georgette blouses, but I did hope that some of the war debt could be dug out of the war profiteers and the people who coldly proclaimed that they were not "running their business for the glory of God." The new taxes will not be any hardship for those. They will simply add it to the price of their products, and let the people nay as usual. But it will have beautiful on the salaried question when giving her opinion of the new taxes of the budget. She says: ducts, and let the people pay as usual. But it will bear heavily on the salaried and professional people, who are now burdened to the limit. To them it will mean a further lowering of the standards of living, and they will become more than ever the new poor. I would have liked to see the Government make dras tic reductions in the tariff, and cease to protect wealthy manufacturers, sugar people and others, and show a real strength in throttling the big interests. The present budget does not aim to do this. I am disappointed. I thought a Government that felt strong enough to conscript life would be strong enough to do of Ophelia roses. Mr. Ernest Reyes, brother of the groom, was best man.
After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. D. C. MacGregor, a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Keyes left later for Chicago and other points. They will make their home in Detroit.

A great part of popular "indigestion" and "liver complaint" is nothing but rebellion of the alimentary tube to the swinish habit of gormandizing. The remarkable part of it is that the digestive apparatus of civilized man does withstand abuse so well and so long. That nine out of ten victims of so-called "indigestion" owe their troubles, whatever these may really be, primarcalled "indigestion" owe their troubles, whatever these may really be, primarily to eating like hogs is self-evident in the fact that surcease so commonly follows a brief course of dieting. It is indeed difficult for those of us who are frequently or habitually exposed to luxury—and few of us are not so exposed these days—to avoid playing the hog with our allment, even though we earnestly wish to be temperate, for one who refuses to eat anything and everything on any and all occasions runs the risk of being deemed an unsocial animal, and man prides himself, at least civilized man does, on being that kind of animal.
