"Bob's" horse won the first two heats by a small margin, but Cotter was right there with the goods at the last, and seemed to have more staying power, stepping off the last three just a little ahead of the grey each time. Three half miles were stepped off in the 1.05 vicinity and that's going some.

The Keith Heron-Lily Sharon race was also well worth looking at. Three heats were trotted in grand style, but the other two were not up to expectations. Both horses seemed to lose their.

The four horses were well handled by their drivers, especially in Bob Mccown's case. The way he drove the gray mare Leila Burns was something swell.

The enormous crowd which witnessed the race went to show the interest the Sydney people really do take in good there was also well worth looking at. Three heats were trotted in grand style, but the other two were not up to expectations. Both horses seemed to lose their.
