KNOW NOT A WORD OF ENGLISH BUT PLUCKILY TAKE UP SCHOOL WORK

Here's an Inspiration in Overcoming of Difficulties by Two Russian Children in Victoria School

The plucky ambition of some of the foreign settlers in Canada is securing as future citizens is well illustrated by an instance which has recently come up in one of our public schools. Joseph Bessan and his little sister, two Russian children, came to this country but a few weeks ago. In spite of the fact that they did not know a word of English when the schools opened two weeks ago, they applied for permits and were admitted to Grade 1 in the Victoria school. It was found, however, that they were much older than their playmates and had already had some instruction in their native land. So they were placed in Grade 2, the little girl in Miss Linsley's room and the little boy in Miss Cummings'. There they are attending daily now, strangers among strange people, not understanding a word in the books given them or a syllable of what is said around them, but both bravely determined to try.

Two of their little playmates are Hebrews who understand Yiddish, with which they are also familiar. With these companions as interpreters and by the use of many signs and gestures the little strangers are getting their first acquaintance with the English language as soon as they have picked up a few of the more current phrases, and this they will do rapidly, for they are bright kiddies, their teacher will be able to get on more intimate terms with them and by giving them extra instruction will keep them well up with their more fortunately prepared fellows.

The case of these Russian youngsters is not unique in St. John. One teacher in the Centennial school had in her class five little Hebrews, who knew only their own language. They were quick learners, however, and one of them, little Morris Jacobson, took two grades in one year. He made rapid strides in learning English and before he left school at the end of the last term he confided to his teacher that he really believed "English was easier than Hebrew after all."

If these little ones keep just as courageous in meeting difficulties when they grow up as they are now Canada is fortunate in obtaining such material for her future citizens.

ST. JOHN MAN FALLS OVER EASTPORT WHARF; FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

An Eastport despatch of Friday says that John W. Daley, forty-five years old of St. John, who has been a deck-hand on the steamer Governor Dingy, fell from the Market wharf to the beach, a drop of about fifteen feet on Thursday night and was fortunately seen before the food tide, which would no doubt have caused his death by drowning. He was picked up unconscious. He is badly cut and has symptoms of internal injuries. He likely will recover.

AFTER MANY YEARS ABSENCE

Among the visitors in Fredericton this week was John H. Hamilton, of South Boston. He remained in Marysville a short time and this was his first visit since that time. G. S. and J. C. Boys' School Suits and For Fall Weather!

Understand, when we say "school suits," we don't mean an inferior sort or the theory that any poor sort of suits will do for school.

Quite the contrary! School Suits should afford the maximum of wear and be correct in fit and style.

That's what Oak Hall School Suits epitomize—for they are all Oak Hall Clothing and must measure up to Oak Hall Standards. The term "School Suits"—at Oak Hall—merely indicates the need in most boys' wardrobes for renewed supplies after vacation wear and tear.

Saturday is a good day for outfitting the boys, they are home from school and can be brought to the store and fitted without trouble.
