OTTAWA' LETTER

House Treated to Varied Bill of Fare.

The Ministers Looked Happy and Made Jocular Remarks-Canada's Gold Supply and Other Matters.

OTTAWA, May 20.-The house ommons was treated to a varied bill of fare yesterday, which came as a generous treat after a long diet of aunomy bill. The effect was that some of the members indulged in jocular remarks, and even Sir William Mulock felt much better than he had been for some days, and talked in a cocky sort of way, in strong contrast with his style of speech when he was apologizing for his kangaroo jumps with respect to the defaulting postmaster of Thessalon, Ontario. Hon. Mr. Fielding, too, looked as happy as if he had succeeded in imposing his views re the Northwest school question on the Conorable Charles Fitzpatrick, minister of justice.

The gamut was run, from the senate as a divorce court, on through railway Mr. Haggart asked. and canal estimates, to the treasury vaults and the gold supply of Canada, to divorce. It is rarely indeed that the commons enters more than a moral protest against the senate being endowed with power to dissovle the marriage tie, that protest being based on the conscientious views of members of at all?" asked the doubting member of Quebec province, he calls to mind the Roman Catholic church, which for Halton. treats marriage from the high standard of a sacrament rather than a civil contract, which can be terminated as soon as either party thereto is found guilty of having broken the letter thereof, whether by malice, or by aceldent. Last night, however, the protest came from the English speaking conservatives, Mr. Bryce of Algoma and Mr. Lancaster of Lincoln and Niagara. The case in question was the application of Clara Bidwell Mc-Dermot for divorce from her husband. which was endorsed by the senate and came down to the commons in due form for concurrence. The charge was based on statutory grounds, but Mr. Lancaster, who had carefully studied the evidence, took the position that no man should be convicted on the evidence of two women who, by their own admission, were disreputable characters and made their living by virtue authorized capital. of their personal immorality. The respondent had appeared before the committee and under oath denied the statements of these two vile creatures. If, continued Mr. Lancaster, the house grants a divorce on such evidence, it opens the door to a terrible state of affairs, and there would not be a respeedway between local horses. The the house being still left free to exergate money is for the hospital. The cise its own sense of what is the right kept. Sweet Clover Company is also billed thing to do under the circumstances. The lady who applied for divorce is without doubt, according to the member for Centre Toronto, a virtuous, discreet, honest loving woman, and her record was never brought in question before the senate committee. Whether she now wants to marry again is not material to the case, but the fact floats on the sur-

Mr. Boyce of Algoma, speaking as lawyer, entirely endorsed Mr. Laneaster's request to submit the case to the highest law authority in the house, and Lancaster followed with the argunent that as this was merely a question of passing proper legislation, why should not the minister of justice be consulted? He pointed out that under Canadian law a woman cannot seeure a divorce because she has not lived with her husband for so many years and because her husband may or may not have given her as much money as she thought she ought to have. If she into the civil courts and elaim alimony. Take the evidence in this case, contended Mr. Lancaster, and apply it generally. the rules it was stood aside and the house went into committee of supply.

There is no dignity in washing dirty linen in public gaze, a task from which the commons has hitherto revolted, but this discussion goes to show that the limit of endurance has been strained almost to the breaking point and that in future divorce will not be sanctioned by the parliament of Canada as a whole simply because it has pleased a committee of the senate to comply with the request of a beautiful or designing woman, or a man who has ducats enough to secure able and adreit legal advocates.

Concerning Canada's gold wealth, John Haggart precipitated an interesting discussion by asking the finance minister what percentage of gold the government held in reserve to cover the circulation of Dominion notes. The finance minister replied that up to the public service were dumped upon $30,000,000 the reserve was 25 per cent, but beyond that the government had worked, but everybody who knows to hold dollar for dollar in gold. Taiking about millions in gold seemed to give the members appetite for pursuing the subject. They lingered wearing a red neektie, the minister of over it for some time. "Where is this gold reserve kept?"

Mr. Fielding shook his head and laughed. "Would it be wise and prudber?" he said. "He had better take I'll tell him privately."

While the Ottawa papers, for local reasons, skim over the surface in treating the difficulty, they have said enough to make it apparent that Col. toper and some of his officers do not pull together, and do not intend to pull together. It is a case of freeze out. There is apparent arrogance and want of common sense on both sides. Some of the company officers are as stiff as the colonel, and while they obey the regulations they do not speak as they pass by. > LOST MONEY IN UBERO CO. FAILURE.

The company ran a big advertisement in some of the provincial papers, with the result that they gathered in a goodly not careful enough to make the inquiries necessary in such cases. Besides the ads. a large quantity of their literature was distributed from time to time through the mails. It seems curious that there will be found people ready to invest their money in wild-cat schemes of this character who will require all sorts of guarantees and inducements before they will invest a dollar in some worthy local enterprise.

N. S. VESSEL DESERTED. Brigantine Acacia of Port Medway, Found Abandoned and Waterlogged-No Word of Crew.

GLOUCESTER May 22.-The schr. Norman Fisher, Capt. John Williams, arrived this morning from the Rip fish ing. Capt. Williams reported that on May 8, about 30 miles south-southeast of the north shoal, they saw a vessel evidently in distress. When they approached near enough a dory was put over and sent to the craft, but not a Our Washington and Lincoln iving person or animal was found on board.

The wreck proved to be the brigantine Acacia, lumber laden, of Port Our Pilgrims learned the lesson Medway, N. The headsails of the vessel had been torn and hung in ribbons, showing that they must have been caught by a heavy puff of wind. All the square sails were neatly furled, but the mainsail had been unbent from the boom and hauled over the top of the house, and the dishes and fragments of food which were found under the canvas were evidences that the crew lived under this, after being driven from the forecastle by water.
