Who, in taking passage in a great trans-taland: estemare, does not feel a thrill or exultation over her magnificent power. Against her the Storm King may her his elemental forces, nor pierce her armor, nor stop, her ouward course. But let me describe a some when, one morning in mid-ocesn, there came an alarm from the pilot house followed by a cry. "The ship's rudder isloat!" From the con-fident expression, constartation came to every face. The wheelmas being helplese to direct her course, the vessel was at the mercy of wind and wave. The captain had been. negligent-the hangings of the rudder were allowed to wear weak, and suddenly it had dropped deep into the seal Strong in intellect, in physical vigor, in centry and in ambition, maso confronts, urwear wear, and summary it and coropsed deep into the weal. Strong in intellect, in physical vigor, in energy and in ambition, man confronts, un-danneted, pigan its tacks and commands ap-lant, all unexpectedly, an altern conne--the rudder of his constitution is gone. He has been carefueldly, an altern conten--tial strain, nervous excitement, irregular hadias, overwork, have destroyed the ac-tions of his kidney- and liver. This would not occur were Warnet's act curse used re War occur were Warner's safe oure used to ntain vigor.
