A NIH C oil and gas engine is no expense to you when it stands idle. It does not eat while not working, nor draw wages when it has nothing to do. When it does work, it is the cheapest power you can use, and it has many advantages over steam or electricity; when not working it costs you nothing. It will work just as hard at the close of the day as at the start—will work overtime or all night just as readily. It is ready to work whenever you need it; always reliable and satisfactory. The death of Mrs. Jessie McDouga Hall, for many years secretary of the A sociated Charities, occurred at 10 o'cloo

For more than twenty-five years Mr

St. John and she probably was better a quainted with their condition than an one else in the city. Every application for assistance that came to the Associate Charities, while sie was engaged with the association was sent to her, to see whethe the applicant was worthy of assistance of otherwise.

She had intimate acquaintance with th poor and her keen executive abilities an great experience made her a most valuable official.

Born of Scotch parents, in Wickham

Gorn of Scotch parents, in Wickham Queens county, sixty-eight years ago, the daughter of Donaldson Morton McDongall, Mrs. Hall came to this city whe she was twelve years of age. During he early life in the city, she was a member of the Congregational church but of lat years she had attended St. David's church where she was known as a diligent and effective worker.

George Jenkins.

Saturday, Aug. 31.

A great many friends in the city and province will read with sincere regret this morning of the death of George Jenkins, of the customs service. Mr. Jenkins had been for years a prominent and active member of the Orange fraternity, and a life long member of Centenary church, in which he at one time acted as local preacher. At the time of his death he was a trustee of the church. About two months ago Mr. Jenkins was stricken with paralysis and never recovered from the effects of the shock. He passed away at his home at about 10.30 last night. The deceased leaves a wife, two daughters, Frances and Pauline, living at home; and two brothers, Thomas, of the postal service, and John, of Reading (Mass.) Interment will be held from his late residence, 156 Leinster street, on Monday next, the services beginning at 2.15 p. m.
