Ottawa, March 20th, 1932.

Dear Sir:-

I have your letter of the 24th instant with respect to an application for pension by the widow of the late Fred Cooke, a gunner in the Expeditionary Force.

In this case it would appear that every resource provided by Parliament has been exhausted. No Member or Minister has any authority to over-ride the Tribunals or the Appeal Court, therefore I am powerless in the matter.

Could I have been of assistance in this case it would have given me very great pleasure indeed.

Yours truly,

Arthur Meighen.
