HE UNDERSTOOD.

An Old Backwoodsman Gives His Idea of an Oath.

"A number of years ago," said the well known attorney, who was in a reminiscent mood, "I was called up in the northern part of the state on an important lumber suit. I was anxious to win it for a number of reasons, and I strained every nerve to get a verdict in my client's favor. I had every hope that I would succeed till the opposing counsel put an old backwoodsman on the stand whose testimony was particularly damaging to my client's case. I believed then, and I believe now, that the old man was lying, but to prove it was another matter, as he told a straight story and stuck to it, so I was rather discouraged when he was handed over to me to be cross examined.

"You understand, of course," said I, "the solemn obligations of the oath you gave when you took the stand?"

"He merely granted in reply, 'I suppose, said I blandly, 'that you understand the nature of an oath?' 'I guess I do,' he growled.

"Well, give me an illustration of your idea of an oath," said I. "I was totally unprepared for what followed. The old man shifted his quid of tobacco, took a firm grip on his chair and ripped out a string of oaths that threatened to raise the roof. It was simply awful. I have heard hard swearers in my life, but nothing to compare to that. The profanity he used would have kept a six mile team on the jump for a week. His expletives were highly picturesque, abounding in fertility of invention and unlimited lung power. "When the judge caught his breath, he fined the fellow for contempt of court, and when I addressed the jury I made the point that he couldn't be believed under oath and won my case. I could afford to be charitable, so I prevailed upon the judge to remit the fine against the old man."—Detroit Free Press.

Salvage.

The stranger stopped on Madison street bridge to take a look at a tug that was passing.

A sudden puff of wind blew his hat off and it fell into the river.

Instantly a boy ran down the ladder at the east end of the bridge, and as the hat came along he managed by means of a pole to fish it out of the water.

He brought it to the grateful owner. The grateful owner took a look at it. "My boy," he said impulsively, "you may keep the hat as your reward."

The boy took a look at it and slowly shook his head. "Mister," he said, "couldn't you give me a dime?"—Chicago Tribune.

Getting Even With Her.

"You may tell him," she said haughtily, "that I do not care to meet people who deal in dressed beef."

Naturally this proud eastern aristocrat thought she had him properly put down, but she was in error.

"You may tell her," he said by way of reply, "that whatever I put on the market is at least dressed."

Then he looked long and fixedly at her delectable daughter.—Chicago Post.

His Mother's Explanation.

"Mamma, what's the difference between reality and imagination?"

"The difference between reality and imagination is explained by the difference between your papa and your Uncle Abner. Your Uncle Abner takes the saw-buck goes out in the back yard, says nothing and saws wood, and your papa takes the easy chair and a pillow, goes out in the front yard, says nothing and saws wood."—Indianapolis Sun.

Rules and Exceptions.

"Politeness is never wasted," remarked the man of Chesterfieldian manners.

"Well, mister," answered the roughly clad, weather beaten person, "that may be true in your part of town, but if you was in the canalboat business you'd know that there ain't any use whatever of sayin' 'please' to a mule."—Washington Star.

One Big Advantage.

"Dumbwaiters," said the architect, "are becoming more and more common and more necessary."

"I wish to thunder they had them everywhere," returned the man who lives at restaurants. "That's the kind I'd like to see. A dumb waiter couldn't ask you for a tip."—Chicago Post.

Cheerful Liars.

"I painted a winter scene the other day that was so true to nature that the thermometer in my studio fell twenty degrees."

"Humph! That's nothing. I painted a portrait of Mr. Brown last year that was so lifelike that I had to shave it regularly."

Only Two Classes.

Paine's Celery Compound

Woman's Home Friend.

IT HAS SAVED PRECIOUS LIVES AFTER PHYSICIANS FAILED TO RESTORE HEALTH.

No Other Medicine Can So Well Cope With The Ills Peculiar to Women.

What a blessing it would be to people, more especially to wives and mothers, if they could fully realize just what Paine's Celery Compound is able to do for them in times of sickness. The work that cannot be done for the sick after weeks and months of experimenting with the ordinary medicines of our times, successfully accomplished by Paine's Celery Compound.

If you are cast down and despondent over failures with medicines in the past, it will be wisdom on your part to make trial of the remedy that has succeeded thousands in times of peril. Mrs. F. M. Huff, Salmon Point, Ont., says: "After receiving so much benefit from Paine's Celery Compound I think it my duty to inform sufferers (what this great medicine can do for all who wish to regain health and strength; I have been a great sufferer for years from nervousness and weakness, and have had the advice and attendance of doctors with but little success. I was induced to use your Paine's Celery Compound some time ago; it is the best medicine I ever used; it has done wonders for me. I cannot speak too highly of it. I cannot speak too strongly enough in favor of Paine's Celery Compound, and you may be assured I will always recommend it."

The song of life, to the average young woman, sounds best arranged as a duet.

The Pain of Sore Feet.

Just about the most tantalizing of all pains comes from sore feet. To get relief is like the foot in warm water, and then rub them with Paine's Celery Compound. It penetrates through the pores of the skin, takes out the soreness, reduces swellings, invigorates the tired muscles, and prevents the feet from becoming sore again. Nervine is a protection and safe-guard against the pains and aches of the entire family and cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, &c. 25 cents.

Live to make somebody happy or you will never know what the true meaning of life is.

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questioning, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence, all letters being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other prating upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as a God-send to women. It makes weak women strong, and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither cocaine, opium or other narcotic.

One of the dangers of modern education is the sacrifice of symmetry to uniformity.

NINE Times Out of Ten Pain-Killer will be found to fill your needs as a household remedy. Use it as a preventative for stiffness and taken internally for all bowel complaints. Avoid substitutes. 25c. and 50c.

FOUND HER LOST FORTUNE

Of health through believing what she read—tested the claim—proved the truth. South American Kidney Cure cured a violent type of Kidney Disease.

Mrs. Norman Cooke, of Delhi, Ont., doctor for Kidney disease until she was tired—tried plaster and a dozen remedies before she tried South American Kidney Cure. When she had used one bottle she had derived great benefit. After taking six bottles she was cured. She was so great a sufferer at times that she couldn't lie down—was totally unfit for household duties. South American Kidney Cure gives relief in six hours.

HER PRIDE TOUCHED.

Plebeian Studies Not Included in the Curriculum.

The principal of the young ladies' seminary, after formally greeting her wealthy patron, waved her hand gracefully in the direction of the other room.

"Madam," she said, with a confident smile, "I am happy to say that your daughter is now ready for you. During the last few years that she has been under my charge she has become accomplished."

A slight shade of curiosity was evident on the face of her visitor.

"You consider, then," she said, with a rising inflection, "that her education is complete?"

"Indeed, yes," replied the principal. "She has a smattering of Greek, Latin, French, Italian and German. She has done something in the higher mathematics, understands the piano, and in history, philosophy and literature she will pass. But in the finer graces—in the art of conversation, in dancing and the indefinable chic that always distinguishes my pupils from others she is all that could be desired."

A shade of anxiety crowned the mother's brow.

"I had hoped," she said, "that my daughter might have been taught something useful; something that, in the duties which as a wife and a mother may lie before her, might be of some value."

A flush of pride suffused the countenance of the principal.

"Then, madam," she said haughtily, "you have evidently mistaken the purpose of my establishment. In the first place, no woman of true social instinct, should she be afflicted with children, would ever allow them to interfere with her career, and, in the second place, I never dreamed when your daughter was admitted that you intended her to marry any man who earned a living."

Her guest blushed and impetuously held out her hand.

"You are right," she said. "Forgive me. Just for a moment I remembered that I, too, was a mother and forgot all about my social position."—Life.

Hard Luck.

The cowboy sat down on the ground, fingered a roll of bills and looked sadly at his hand.

"Bill," he said, "it's no use. I can't go to town with you today."

"Why?" asked Bill.

"I've only got twenty-five dollars to my name."

"Figger it up ag'in," said Bill.

"No use. I've figgered it up a dozen times and it always comes out the same. I'll take twenty dollars for the drunk, dollar an' a half fer bed an' breakfast, three an' a half fer cartridges, an' that won't leave a cussed cent to pay the fine."—Indianapolis Sun.

Hands and Feet Swollen

The Serious Condition of a Well-known Woman Waives Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets Cured.

Mrs. Joseph Young, Division street, Welland, Ont., says: "I have suffered from backache and kidney trouble for four or five years. At times I could hardly shut my hands together so swollen and my feet the same. Going upstairs hurt my back so I thought I would die, and my breath grew awful short. I tried almost everything with no relief. Black specks floated all around and my eyes were very bad. The pain ran from the small of my back to the base of the brain. I could not sleep lying on my back. I went and got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Kidney tablets and they have been a great boon to me. They are just splendid. I can see to thread a needle and the pain in the head is about gone. All the old feeling of cracking and creaking in the base of the head is gone, and I feel like living again. I can work now with comfort, and go up stairs fast with no trouble. I am only too glad to recommend them to everyone. I used to be afraid to turn over at night and could not sleep, now I am not afraid at all, and can sleep well."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are the newest and most effective remedy for backache, lame or weak back, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, gravel, rheumatism, spots floating before the eyes, kidney weakness of children and old people, and all urinary troubles. Price 50c per box at all druggists or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

FACTS FOR CATARRHAL SUFFERERS.

The mucous membrane lines all passages and cavities communicating with the exterior.

Catarrh is an excessive secretion, accompanied with chronic inflammation, from the mucous membrane.

How's Saraparilla acts on the mucous membrane through the blood, reduces inflammation, establishes healthy action, and radically cures all cases of catarrh.

Excuses of all sorts and sizes are banal.
