The New York Sun wanted to know how the great German Catholic leader Herr Windhorst could rally his followers after the Encyclical of his Holiness Pope Leo XIII., had been promulgated? outspoken and peremptory mandate from the head of the Church?" The "mandate" is the last Encyclical, of which a telegraphic summary appeared a a week ago. The Sun mistakes the position of the German Centre party. When Herr Windhorst, in the debates on the anti-Socialist bill was accused of alliance with the Socialists, he retorted in the briefest possible manner. He characterized the accusa-tion as "a lie." "How," asks the Sun, in the face Leo XIII.'s new letter, can German Catholics consent to array themselves any longer, for any purpose, on the side of principles which the Pope has pointedly denounced as the most sinister agencies of social disintegration;" The answer is easy. German Catholics never did array themselves on the side of such principles, and scarcely contemplate doing so now. It is a surprise to us how so intelligent a jour-nal as the Sun can have so mistaken the position of nai as the sam can have so instance the position of parties in Germany. The Catholic vote went against the anti-Socialists bill, not because of any alliance between Catholicity and Socialism as promulgated in Germany to-day, but on the grounds of common sense, common humanity, and Christianity. Indeed, the motives for their action may be found clearly enough laid down in the Encyclical which the Suntakes to be a "peremptory mandate" against such action. What is Socialism but an extravagant demand for real rights withheld, a distorted protest against tyramy and wrong! It is the solid truth against tyramy and wrong. It is the sond train at the bottom of these demands, in Germany as in Russia, that gives them their vitality and force. Honest men see this as well as dishonest men. Poverty, hunger, tyramy, enforced by military service, taxation out of proportion to the needs of the people at large, and quite beyond their means—these are the evils of Germany, and they form the basis on which the agents of evil work. The ill-disposed have seized on these grave causes of disaffection, and the way has been made easy for them by the very Government that at first petted, and now regard them as their deadly foes.

There are two methods of dealing with the disaffected. One way is to throttle them into silence, or whip them into submission; the other, to remove the cause of disaffection. Prince Bismarck, in his the cause of disaffection. Prince Bismarck, in his anti-Socialist bill, adopted the first method; the Catholics maintained that the second was the right one; hence their vote against Prince Bismarck's bill. If the Sun sees in this action any alliance with Socialist principles, as expressed by Nobeling, or Hodel, or Lasalle, it sees very strangely What does the Popesay in this very Encyclical, as telegraphed? "When tyrmmy-prevails the Church shields the oppressed." On which side are the oppressed and on which side the tyramny to-day in Germany? "When the tyram is too strong, she (the Church) enjoins resignation." is too strong, she (the Church) enjoins resignation." Here we have the whole political attitude of the German Catholics explained in a single line. What is the Pope trying to find! "A solution of the ecils for which Socialism seeks a revolutionary remedy; or, rather the Church alone can furnish the remedy or, rather the Church alone can furnish the remedy; or rather, the Church with the State. He offers his services and begs for the State's alliance; not on the petty ground of winning back the doubtful friendship of Prince Bismarck by the bribe of the Catholic vote, which he could not offer if he would —for it is free—but on grounds broader and deeper and stretching out under all the world. Your empires are tottering, says the Pope, because you have led your people in revolt against God. The revolt now turns against yourselves. If you would lead them back to obedience to yourselves lead them back first The Church of God is and must be the great agent in such a movement. "Let, therefore, all the principalities and powers accept the Church— the safeguard of earthly, and the surety of heavenly

The past season has been one of the most successful in the British Columbia salmon fishing business, which, increasing as it is year by year with the most rapid strides, bids fair to become ere long at once one of the most important, as it is now one of the most paying enterprises in the country. In the earlier part of last spring and summer there was every promise of another big gold excitement at Cariboo. The L'Original Advertiser believes there is at last between the Comany and America which the work was to be resumed within days from the signing of the contract, the Company in the meantime selling all outstanding claims, in respect to which, as our readers know, there has been heavy litigation for some years. This led to negotiations with creditors, but it was at once seen that the resumption of the works within sixty days was an impossibility as a rangements could not be made with the creditors in that time. Another cacuse also affected it, namely, the interest of the Coteau and Province Line Railway, at the south side of the St. Lawrence, by which it was contemplated to make direct communication between Ottawa and the Province Line at or near St. Johns, the progress of this company being stopped by the litti-gation in respect of the Coteau Line. Now an s been arrived at satisfactory to the agreement has been arrived at satisfactory to the creditors of the Coteau Company, and an amalgam-ation of these companies is agreed on by which the continuous line it is hoped may be constructed. This arrangement must, however, be first sanctioned by the Lagislature, for which purpose applications will be made at the coming session of Parliament.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

MAN FOUND DEAD ON THE ROAD NEAR LAMBETH.

At an early hour yesterday, the body of a man was found on the road about one mile from Lambeth. It seems that Mr. Joseph Poole was proceeding along the road towards the Junction, and came upon the prostrate form of a man lying alongside the roadway. On examination he found that life was extinct. The body was removed to Lumbeth, and a messenger despatched to this city for a coroner. Subsequently deceased was recognized as Prof. Allsworth, a travelling music teacher, who has been in the locality for some time, but is known but little in the city. He has been given to intemperate habits, but has never been known to drink very excessively. No marks or evidences of violence were The roads leading from Brockville to the country | found on his person.

INQUEST ON THE REMAINS.

In the afternoon a jury was empannelled by Dr. C. T. Campbell, of this city, when the evidence of a number of persons who were acquainted with the deceased was taken. It seems from the statements made by the witnesses, that deceased was an old man made by the witnesses, may deceased many peculiar traits of about 70 years of age, who had many peculiar traits for homeoner and was a good musician. he was never again seen alive. Vesterday morning, a son of Mr. Joseph Poole, while proceeding towards Lambeth, found the body of the old gentleman in his father's field. The supposition is that, under the influence of the liquor he had taken, he wan-dered from the road, and being in an enfeebled con-dition, became exhausted and unable to retrace his steps. A post mortem examination was made by Dr. Morden, of this city, and Dr. Routledge, of Lambeth, when it was shown that the deceased's mental organs were in a bad state. The brain also showed slight apoplectic symptoms. ONE MAN BURNED TO DEATH AND AN-OTHER SERIOUSLY INJURED.

About 4 o'clock Wednesday morning a fire broke out at Mr. Robert Geary's homstead, on the 5th concession of London township, about three miles from the city. It appears that two hired men named Charles Cooper and John Everiss, occupied the back bed-room over the kitchen, and that the man Cooper, who is a light sleeper, was awoke by a crackling sound, and upon getting out of bed proceeded to the back window, which looks out over a small shed used for a summer kitchen and saw the flames bursting out of the shed and raising nearly up to the level of the window. He immediately ran to the other bed that was occupied by Everiss, who is a very sound sleeper, and shook him by the shoulders and cried "get up! the house is on quarters of this Company are hereby changed from fire!" and being somewhat alarmed immediately Fingal to St. Thomas. The poor fellow, Parish appointed to command No. I Company. To smoke, so much so that he could not discerrn one mad with dispair frantically rushed hither and thither in search of the door, frequently attempting to cry for help, but every time he opened his mouth he was nearly suffocated by the dense volumns of stroke, which now rolled all around him. To add to his terror the scorching flames ever and anon burst forth, and licked his face and head with their leaving the fiery tongue. After what seemed to him an hour, but which was doubtless but a few minutes, the door leading into the hall was opened by Mr. Geary, who had been awakened by his widowed sister, Mrs. Sutherland, who with her three children were stay ing with him, and the poor fellow was enabled to escape. Although seriously burnt about the head and face, he immediately nan to a frame cottage about 150 yards away and called for assistance, which was promptly rendered. So rapid had been the progress of the flames that the members of Mr. Geary's family had barely time to save their lives, and had to rush out of the burning building with pathing but their wicht decrease. and had to rush out of the burning building with nothing but their night-dresses on. In this sad plight the aged mother of Mr. Geary, her widowed daughter and three children and the hired girl had to traverse about five hundred yards in the face of a blinding and freezing snowstorm for shelter at a neighbor's house, all of them being severely frost-bitten. Whether the deceased man attempted to escape, or whether he was even awakened or not, will never be known; but when his temains, which were reduced to a cinder, were recovered from the debris, which was not until between nine and o'clock, they were in the opposite corner to which his bed was situated, but probably his body was thrown there when the building fell. At the time the fire broke out the inmates of the house were Mrt Robert Geary, his mother, widowed sister and her three children, a hired girl and the two hired men, one of whom, as before stated, came to such a horrible end. "I say, Jack, which would you rather that a lion tore you to pieces or a tiger?" "Why, you goose, of course I'd rather a lion tore a tiger in pieces."

Heads and hands are useful to earn money with, Heads and hands are useful to earn money with, and so, nowadays, are feet. O'Leary is said to have cleared $12,000 by his last walk in New York, and Mrs. Anderson, who accomplished the extraordinary task of walking 2,700 quarter miles in 2,000 consecutive quarter hours, in Brocklyn, had $8,000 to her credit when the task was done. But, after all, there is nothing new about making money by walking. Just count up all the defaulters who have walked away with millions in the past few years.

What a thrill of comparative virtue would aniwhat a tinil of comparative virtue would animate an old-fashioned sugar-sanding deacon, if he could read how his descendants adulterated sugar with tin, and tin with lead, and poisoned every article of food we eat; tea coffee, fleur, butter, meeting and formed a Committee to test the practicability of forming a joint stock company to prosecute this new branch of industry. From the remarks made at thh meeting by Mr. H. F. Gardiner, who seems to have thoroughly studied the question was entirely well.

everea. Inquiries were at once made by a doctor, and the fact drawn out that as a treatment for a cold the child had been dosed repeatedly with a patent cough syrup. The dostor then administered strong coffee as an antidete for the opium which the syrup contained, and in a few hours the child had been dosed repeatedly with a patent cough syrup. The dostor then administered strong coffee as an antidete for the opium which was entirely well.
