PUBLIC OPINION

As Represented by the Political Papers.

PRIME MINISTER AND THE CONSERVATIVES (Indian Head Vidette.—Con.)

"What would we have Conservatives do? With a view to putting an end to the unbearable state of affairs which now exists, we call upon them to summon, as early a date as possible—certainly before the next session of the Legislative Assembly—a Territorial convention. That convention should deal with the introduction of party lines into Territorial politics. We believe such a convention would declare unanimously in favor of party politics. Once that was done the lethargy now so pronounced would end. A Territorial leader would have to be decided on by that convention. If it were decided that the mantle should fall on some member of the Legislative Assembly, Haultain would, of course, be impossible. Let him go. No man in the Territories, or out of it, can point to a single act of Haultain which has ever been of benefit to the Conservative party. That party owes him nothing. His negative influence is better against the party anyway. The convention should also provide for an active campaign in favor of provincial autonomy, accompanied by a complete organization to that end.

"For the sake of the country we live in we ask the Conservative party to act, and to act at once. Let the moribund outfit which is hibernating at Regina be shown that it is possible to tackle the pressing questions of the day with an activity that cannot but make itself felt.

TARLE AND LAURIER.

(Waterloo Advertiser.—Lib.) On the surface at least Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Tarte part the best of friends. It is Mr. Tarte's intention, however, to continue to agitate for a protective tariff. He claims that, as a protectionist, and intends to remain true to the faith that is in him. Outside the Chamber, a simple member of Parliament, he is free to take what course he chooses without compromising the Government. He will probably pose as a Liberal protectionist. It must be said in justice to him that he was a good Minister of Public Works. His administration of his department was able and honest, and he entertained broad views on all matters concerning transportation and the development of the country. There will be no disposition in Liberal circles to gloat over his leaving the Ministry, but rather regret that circumstances made the separation imperative. Sir Wilfrid acted promptly, firmly and wisely. No other course was open to him, and he did not hesitate to take it. The Liberal party, if not indeed the country at large, will commend his action and have a still greater admiration for his qualities as a leader.

A PREDICTION.

(New York World.) A speaker at the "Soo" celebration predicted that in ten years' time not a ton of coal will be used for manufacturing purposes in Canada between Quebec and Hamilton. The fall of water between those two places is said to be equal to 10,000,000 tons of coal per year, and the inference is that it will be set to work, paying its way.

A New York reporter has been interviewing Sir William Mulock and reports him as declaring most emphatically that the Government should possess and operate in the public interest, all corporations that are essentially monopolies. He would, if he is correctly reported, not only have government ownership of the telegraph and telephone services, but of the railroads and every other concern or corporation requiring a franchise. It is to be hoped that Sir William will make an early start in putting his ideas into practical shape. He might begin by nationalizing the telegraph and telephone services as has been done in Britain. We have, of late years, heard and read a great deal about government ownership of public utilities, but so far not a move by the Dominion Government or any Provincial Government has been made towards carrying any of the much talked of ideas into effect. Government ownership of monopolies is a coming reform, and if our present Government does nothing in the matter they will be losing a great name for themselves and being gratefully held in remembrance by future generations. DEDICATION SERVICE.

At St. John's Church Sunday Nov. 16th.

On Sunday morning, Nov. 16, the Chime of Bells, presented to St. John's Church, by Lieut. Col. Kaulbach, was dedicated by the Ven. Archdeacon of Nova Scotia, brother of the donor. At the close of morning prayer, the Archdeacon, accompanied by the Rector, Church Wardens and Col. Kaulbach, proceeded to the gallery where the playing stand is situated. The following prayers were then said by the Archdeacon: O Almighty God; the Fountain of all Goodness; we thank Thee that Thou didst put it into the heart of Thy Servant, to present unto Thy Holy House this gift. We now dedicate these bells to Thy Service and grant O Lord that they may ever be a tuneful voice o'er land and sea to call Thy people unto Thee. Through Jesus Christ Our Lord. AMEN.

We praise the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, One God, Worthy art Thou at all times to be celebrated by joyful and holy lips. Thou Great Giver of all good. In dedicating to Thy service these Bells and in presenting all our gifts may we remember that all things come of Thy hand and that of Thy own do we give Thee. May we together with them truly and entirely dedicate to the glory of Thy Name our bodies and souls with all our powers and faculties, and all our thoughts, words and actions as a holy sacrifice to Thee. So that out of the abundant merits of Thine only-begotten Son in Whom Thou art ever well pleased our offerings may be accepted, ourselves blessed, and Thy Holy Name forever glorified. Hear and answer us for Jesus Christ's sake. AMEN.

At the close of which the chime, Mr. Lotz, played "The Old Hundred." The congregation then stood and sang "Praise God from Whom all blessings flow." The sermon followed, in which the preacher spoke in eulogistic tones of the music loving community and the chime of bells would be to them specially attractive. He drew very practical lessons beyond the ten bells and the ten Commandments.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CHIMES.

The Chime consists of Ten Bells arranged to the Diatonic Scale of F and tuned from F to the G above the octave and also includes the diminished or Flat 7th.—Eb Bell, making the F, G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G.

HOW THE CHIMES ARE PLAYED.

The manner of playing tunes is unique yet very simple and perfect. A Playing Stand of Polished Quartered Oak, finished in Antique, with finely plated brass fittings, contains as many levers as there are bells, each lever bearing the Note of its respective bell and connected by rods and chains over a carefully adjusted series of pulleys. By this method the playing is done easily and the tone is clear and prompt, noiseless action and allows a very comprehensive expression in playing. A quick downward stroke of the lever and the note sounds from the tower above clear, smooth and promptly without the least jar on the tower.

The whole outfit is a splendid exhibition of the Bell Founder's Skill. The Firm of MENEELY & CO., WEST TROY, N. Y., are well known the World over and their productions are to be found in the finest Cathedrals, Churches and Public Buildings both in the United States and Dominion of Canada.

INSRIPTION ON THE BELLS.

Each bell bears this inscription:— Presented by Lieut. Col. C. E. Kaulbach, M. P. 1902. GLORIA IN EXCELSIS DEO. On the Tenor or largest bell is this additional inscription:— Lord may this bell for ever be a tuneful voice o'er land and sea to call Thy people unto Thee.

SMITH CONFESSES.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 13.—Elmer A. Smith, who was shot by Gertie Welch in a lodging house in this city last evening, has made a statement as to how the affair occurred. Smith says that the woman was preparing to leave on account of complaints that had been made against her. At her request he called her. They drank together several times during the evening, and she pleaded with him to go with her. He repeatedly refused, and finally she drew the revolver from under the mattress and fired at him, then turning it upon herself. After she had fired the second shot he got into the hall that he realized he was wounded. Then he dropped the revolver and returned to the room. Miss Laura Welch, the sister of the dead woman who lives in charge of the house, is charged with the crime.

BRIDGEWATER.

Mrs. Putman is conducting a class of ladies in domestic science.

The hygienic blackboards placed in the Manual Training High school are proving very satisfactory. John Corbett was called home suddenly to attend the funeral of his father, Calvin Corbett, Bridgetown.

The winter car is now attached to the Central train and is much appreciated by the travelling public. The Secretary of the Lunenburg Co. Exhibition has been busy paying the prize winners the last few weeks. The Exhibition was a success in every way and the management deserves great credit for their painstaking work.

There is a great rush in shipping here at present preparatory to the closing of navigation. Mr. Saunders, the hustling agent of N. Phinney & Co., is making room in his ware house for a large consignment of sleighs. Hon. J. I. Tarte is to address the Atheneum Society of Acadia College in the near future. Mr. Tarte would draw a large audience if he favored us with a visit.

Our Member Spoke in Time.

Hon. William Ross, the member for Victoria, Nova Scotia, is the first public man to sound the alarm about the Newfoundland fishery treaty. He speaks too late to the people of Canada. Their chances to intervene in the treaty is now closed. The only hope is that the treaty will be denounced by the United States senate, and that chance is made less by everything that is said to show that the treaty is an injury to the Canadian fishery interests.—St. John's Sun.

CHARLES F. HEWITT.

Charles F. Hewitt has left us. For more than a year we have missed his active movements, his pleasant smile, his cheery voice, his hearty laughter, in the sail loft, in the Lodge room, on the street, and wherever good men gather. For more than a year he has been shut in from the activities of life, and now, having passed his three score and ten by two years and a half, he has passed away. Born in Lunenburg on the 23rd of April, 1839, he died in his native town on Saturday morning, the 15th of November, 1902.

His father, of loyal stock, moved from Shelburne County to Lunenburg and settled here, and the son lived here nearly all his life. He served his time in a sail loft in Halifax, mastered his business thoroughly, conducted for many years the only sail loft in Lunenburg, and trained a goodly number of apprentices, including his partner, Henry Adams, Sr., and Thomas Hamm, heads of the two sail lofts now doing a successful business in the town. Capable and upright, shrewd and industrious, he prospered in business and accumulated a competence. At the same time he never allowed himself to become engrossed in money-making, but provided freely for the education of his children, and never forgot a deaf ear to the appeal for charity or for objects of public utility.

It must have been nearly fifty years ago he became a member of Hamilton Lodge, No. 4, I. O. O. F. When the Lodge surrendered its charter, he had passed the chair and was in good standing, and when Rising Sun Lodge, No. 59, I. O. O. F. was instituted here on the 18th of February, 1892, he at once joined the new Lodge, and continued to be one of its most interested members till the day of his death. He was its treasurer from its institution till June 30, 1901, when failing health compelled him to send in his resignation, and his son, William F. Hewitt, was elected in his stead. From 1892 to 1900 inclusive, he was a member of Grand Lodge, and never failed to attend its annual sessions, which he looked upon as an opportunity to take part in and become better acquainted with the work of Odd-fellowship. One of his last acts was to present Rising Sun Lodge with four handsome chairs upholstered in appropriate colors, for the Right and Left Supporters of the Noble and Vice Grand respectively.

In 1888, when the town was incorporated, Mr. Hewitt was elected a Councillor for the Newtown Ward, and served his fellow citizens in that capacity for upwards of six years, until he voluntarily retired in February, 1895. An attached member of St. John's Episcopal church, Mr. Hewitt served for a number of years as a member of the vestry, and for thirty years as a member of the choir. On the occasion of his retirement from the choir, the congregation presented him with a handsome gold chain, as a mark of its appreciation of his long and valuable services. Some time in the '60's Mr. Hewitt married Sarah E., daughter of the late Henry Hamm, and she (now Mrs. William Morash). A goodly number of children were born to this union. Several died in infancy and childhood. Five children survive, two daughters and three sons; Julia, wife of Daniel A. Moore, of Cow Bay, Halifax County; Minnie G. (Grade A.) the assistant principal of our High School; William P., engaged in his father's business; Harry W., instructor in the Manual Training school; and Frederick C. (Grade A.) teacher in the public school here. To lay the mortal remains of Charles Frederick Hewitt will be laid hundreds of mourning friends, and the solemn rites of his church and the impressive ceremonies of his Lodge, something the better for his having lived in it. Would there were more of whom the same could be said when they pass from our sight.

Eyes Ruined, He Killed Himself.

Kansas City, November 13.—The pioneer citizen and prominent dealer, W. H. Kimbrell, was shot dead in his office this afternoon by John Scanlon, formerly a policeman, who had not recovered from his insanity. "Not my brother at all," said Kimbrell, who was shot through the eye. Scanlon had been receiving treatment from Dr. Kimbrell for a week or two. Another patient, who was waiting in an outside office, today said of the affair: "I heard Scanlon go into the doctor's private office and I heard him and the doctor talking. There was no quarrel or hot words, however, until Dr. Kimbrell came out. "Oh, don't follow immediately. A bullet came through the wall and passed over the chair, from which I jumped in the shooting began. When the room was entered both men lay upon the floor, eyes and blood and dead. Scanlon had shot himself through the head. Dr. Kimbrell was fifty-eight years old and had practiced in Kansas City for thirty years. Scanlon was thirty-seven years old and unmarried."

Did Get Message over Sea.

Rome, Nov. 11.—The Ministry of Marine has received a dispatch from the captain of the Italian cruiser Caracciolo, which was placed at the disposal of Signor Marconi for wireless telegraph experiments, and which is now at Sydney, Nova Scotia, stating that the ship daily communicates with the Marconi system with the station at Poldhu, Cornwall, England, throughout the voyage and after entering the port of Sydney. The experiments confirmed the possibility of communicating simultaneously with Europe and America during the navigation of the Atlantic at a distance of at least 3,000 miles. It will be easier to assure communication when instruments more powerful than those that can be carried on ships are installed at shore stations.

MOLINEUX OFFERED $2,000 a Week to go on the Stage.

New York, November 12.—Molineux will remain in New York and go into business with his father. He is going to the country for a month to recuperate his strength after his long confinement in the hospital. He will return and settle down to serious business of life. This statement was made by a friend of the family, who added that the relations of Molineux and his wife had been strained during the trial, and that they were very probably in Brooklyn.

Molineux said he was too old to begin life over again, and he felt it would be much more to his credit to stay here and live it all out. He is very strong. Molineux was not entirely hopeful of acquittal until the last day of his trial. He insisted that he was being hounded by powerful enemies, and that they were trying to get him to the chair. Then again, yesterday, before the verdict, he expressed some doubt of the result.

Molineux, who seems overjoyed with the verdict, will only say: "I have been able to bear the trials and hardships during the past four years during which I have rested under this accusation, because I knew it was innocent. I am rejoiced to have learned that I am home to my mother with this verdict, and that I can go on with the satisfaction that she could give me with the knowledge that I have been declared innocent. I cannot think of the future, as my heart is full of joy to recall anything but my deliverance to my family. It is a satisfaction to know my father's trust in me has been vindicated by the verdict of the jury which set me free. God be praised for all."

Many theatrical managers desire to engage Molineux. Robert Gran, who offered him 2,000 a week for ten weeks to appear in a variety of cities. All he will be asked to do is to state and proceed on the incidents of the first trial, but imprisonment in Sing Sing and the case just ended. Clay T. Vance, through Charles E. Haney, has offered Molineux $1,500 a week for three weeks to appear with Blaney's Stock Company. Sullivan Harrison and Woods are willing to give him $1,500 a week and advance him $15,000. The part which will appear in it is "Jack Morton," in the "Road to Ruin."

The authorities have not as yet considered any future course regarding the death of Mrs. Adams. Mr. Bates' wife, one of the women who were not after Corbett's body, and would not place the evidence they have found against him before anyone. If Corbett can go through his case and get an acquittal, it is not likely that he will do so, unless Molineux's lawyers can do so.

Gloucester Fisheries.

THE LOSS OF LIFE THIS YEAR IS BELOW THE AVERAGE. Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 14.—The day ended the Gloucester fishing season and today was reckoned the loss of life and treasure among the men of Gloucester who follow the sea on the fishing banks for their living. For twenty years the loss of life has averaged 95. For the past year the number has been below that average, 71 seamen being lost, these children behind 22 widows and 48 graves in the near 62 men found a few schooners hailed away from the port and were not heard from again. John and the Alva—United States number 50. The schooner Betts, of Parkport founded in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, carrying over seven hundred and one passenger. Events in all have been lost the past year, a total of $87,700, with an insurance of $25,943.
