

MEN'S WORK FOR MISSIONS.

Toronto Speakers Addressed Saturday Afternoon Meeting Here.

Thomas Senior and Thomas Gibson Speak to Men.

Evangelization of the World in a Generation the Object.

There was a good attendance at the Association Hall on Saturday afternoon, when the Laymen's Missionary Association held a mass meeting, chiefly for travelling men and others who cannot attend evening meetings. Mr. W. H. Wardrop, K. C., was chairman, and had to announce that the two speakers for the afternoon were unable to be present. Two good substitutes were sent, however, and they proved very acceptable. Mr. S. J. Moore and Mr. Thomas Findlay, both of Toronto, were the two speakers who should have come, and Mr. Thomas Senior, and Mr. Thomas Gibson, Deputy Minister of Mines, both of Toronto, were the substitutes.

After prayer and scriptural reading, Mr. Wardrop called upon Mr. Senior, who dealt with the religious aspect of the movement. It had to do with foreign and home mission fields as well. The home department has need of attention just as much as the foreign department. He considered that prayer was a mighty force in the forward movement of the Laymen's Missionary cause. It was shown that the movement was born in prayer. There was a large difference in the missionary work of 100 years ago, and to-day. Now all the doors of the foreign countries are open, and the people are eager and willing to hear the word of God from the lips of the earnest missionary. To the mind of the speaker there was an awakening in the hearts of the people, and a change toward the work of the missionary. Days gone by, the work of every community thought that the problem was for women only, but now men are beginning to realize their responsibilities. The younger generation are getting an insight into the condition of affairs in heathen lands, such as the people of a generation ago were not. It was indeed a wonderful influence that could make business men forsake their offices and go from place to place and tell the story of the progress of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The plan of the movement was to evangelize the world in the present generation. That was perhaps a big task, requiring strong men to step into the breach, but the reaction that has occurred in the Christian Churches among the men has been wonderful, and there was every reason to believe that such a task would be accomplished. The work must be done on a business basis, in a business way, and by business methods. The idea of these meetings was to show the man in the seat just how much responsibility came to him.

Mr. Gibson followed with an address on the practical side of the work, quoting figures in support of his statements. The movement was not for business men, but for men of business. The purpose of making money for itself, and in fact it was not an organization at all. The appeal of the Laymen's Missionary Movement was not to women, but to the mature men of the church, who should realize the importance of the problem. The work was not for business men, but for men of business. The idea of these meetings was to show the man in the seat just how much responsibility came to him.

After a brief encouraging speech from the superintendent, the following programme was presented by George H. Sulphuric Acid Kills Five.

Evansville, Ind., March 21.—Five men were killed and a score injured in an explosion at the Sunnyside Coal Mines, near this city.

The explosion was caused by a windy shot due to an overcharge of powder. The dead were all killed by sulphuric fumes, which followed the shot.

The Dominion Steel and Coal Companies appear to have arranged all their differences, except the point as to the right of the Coal Company to distribute any bonus in the Steel Company's claim for damages. The Steel Company is prepared to limit its claim to $200,000, while the Steel Company is prepared to limit its claim to $200,000.

CANADIAN FODDER.

Jamaica May Bar It to Help Stamp Out Cattle Disease.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 20.—The Government is taking measures to stamp out the foot-and-mouth disease that has appeared among the cattle in the banana district of Jamaica. It is thought the malady came to Jamaica through American and Canadian corn and hay. Members of the Council are urging the introduction of a bill to prohibit the transportation of fodder from United States and Canadian points, and the measure will be introduced and probably passed as urgency business next Tuesday. The act will apply to hay and corn afloat at the time the bill is passed.

FIREMAN'S DEATH.

Amherstburg Man Found Dead on the Beach.

Windsor, March 21.—John Conway, a fireman belonging to the Amherstburg fire department, was found lying dead close to the beach yesterday under circumstances which indicate that death may not have been altogether the result of accident. Conway was missing from home for 24 hours before the discovery of his body by some children playing on the beach. The body showed several severe abrasions.

On the plank of a boathouse not far from where Conway's remains lay, the police discovered bloodstains, and a bloody imprint on the handle of the door leading into the boathouse. Coroner Park has taken charge of the case, but no inquest has been decided upon.

TRAVELLER AND LOCAL OPTION

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—With your kind permission, I wish to say a word or two in reply to Mr. W. Scott, secretary Commercial Travellers' Association, as well as others, who from time to time are seeking through the press to alarm the people, as to the undesirable conditions that are likely to obtain throughout the Province in case local option continues to gain ground, as it is doing.

As one of the eight thousand five hundred commercial travellers to which Mr. Scott refers, and having the management of several other members of this association, I wish to state emphatically that I believe that Mr. Scott represents correctly in his statements the views of all the members.

On the contrary, I believe that there are a goodly number who do not solely consult their own interests or comfort, but would, if necessary, make some sacrifice for the good of their fellows. I contend, however, that such sacrifice in this case is not at all necessary, even in the communities where the dreaded local option is already in force. Of course, there are exceptions to all rules, and as it is well known, the friends of the liquor interests seize upon any opportunity that presents itself in an endeavor to discredit local option and the temperance cause in general. This is frequently illustrated by ex-licensing holders nailing up their shovels, locking their pump handles, etc., and again others write articles to the press, endeavoring to persuade the people that blue ruin would quickly overtake the country in case licenses to sell intoxicants were not continued. Does experience justify such a conclusion? I think not. Anyone knows who has had an opportunity of judging that the passage of local option means an improvement to any community.

Now, in regard to hotel accommodation, I contend that the facts, as usually represented in connection with this question, are decidedly misleading, and, speaking from personal experience, I have no hesitation in stating that some of the best places I have ever been obliged to seek accommodation at in this country were hotels (so-called), licensed to sell intoxicating liquor. As is well known, license to sell liquor is often granted where the house and rooms are small, and in such communities these places frequently the nightly resort of the tough element of the neighborhood. One can imagine what opportunity the weary traveller has to rest in close proximity to a drinking, swearing gang, who frequently keep it up until the small hours of the morning.

It is well known that the holders of licenses set much more value on and pay much more attention to the liquor selling end of the business than they do to any other part of it. We do not have to go outside of our own city to prove the truth of this statement. I know the assertion is frequently made that hotel keeping cannot be made to pay without a license to sell intoxicating liquor. This, I contend, is no bona fide reason why any community or individuals should be made suffer, as they invariably do in order that hotel keeping may be made profitable.

It is possible that there may be some small inconvenience experienced while the change is being made from the license system to local option. This might be expected, but, as before intimated, these matters would very soon be adjusted and the benefits that would accrue from the change would be more than compensated in an improvement in business and otherwise.

Now, Mr. Editor, instead of local option making matters worse than they now are, in many places the very opposite will be the result, and that instead of travellers avoiding local option districts, many of them will time their trips so that they will stop in local option districts.

However, on a recent trip I had an experience well calculated to justify such a conclusion. In a neighboring county I stopped at a town and hotel where they had a license to sell intoxicating liquors. The next day I stopped at a hotel in the same county where local option prevailed. The accommodation at the latter hotel was decidedly the best. To be sure, we had to pay 15 cents more for our meals, but who would object to this, especially when the place was minus undesirable features, which frequently are so much in evidence where liquor is sold.

I think that those who have the real good of the country at heart could devote their energies to a much better purpose than in trying to discredit the very thing which has invariably proven to be a benefit to all communities where it has been given a fair trial. Thanking you for such liberal space, I remain, Sir, your obedient servant, Traveller.

THE I. P. B. S. AT CHURCH.

Annual Sermon by Woodstock Preacher Las Night.

To a Large Congregation in Church of St. Thomas.

Dishonesty the Great Evil of the Day, He Says.

Eloquent and philosophical was the address given in St. Thomas' Church last night when Rev. T. D. Wallace, of Woodstock, preached the annual sermon to the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society. In his opening remarks he said he appreciated the honor of being invited to preach the annual sermon to the society and desired to thank them and also the rector for being privileged to occupy his pulpit. The subject for the sermon was from the story of Abraham and Lot and a brief reference was made to the present theological controversy now being waged, and all were urged to cultivate a spirit of tolerance and be broad minded on all questions. But whatever attitude we took on the controversy no man with any conscience could deny the spiritual value in some of the beautiful stories in the book of Genesis and all should be thankful to God for such spiritual narratives.

Then the speaker drew a beautiful word picture around the story of Abraham's unselfishness and how in spite of what, at the time, seemed a loss, yet nobody would dispute the wisdom of Abraham's choice, for Lot's gain was ultimate and eternal. From that choice could stand in the twentieth century learn a lesson. All have the privilege to follow higher or lower motives and the choice was made every day, and every day brought its own moral issue. To-day in Canada the greatest evil of the day is dishonesty and there is an eager desire to follow selfish ends and material advantages instead of higher motives.

The evil of dishonesty must be grappled with, for it springs from base motives and was eating like a cancer at the heart. Is the business morality of Canada anything to be proud of? There is a tremendous amount of dishonesty behind it all and even in our national life, purely personal gain is the motive. Not only is there dishonesty in business and national life but it is in religion itself, and philanthropy to-day, in many instances, springs from a spirit of self-interest. If what is given is not given for a pure motive it loses its value. How many follow good for the sake of good and right for the sake of right? All of us follow for the sake of gain to some extent, and that is the highest deal. People used to be told to be Christians to avoid "but" there need be no bribe to follow Christ. In conclusion the speaker pointed out it would be an excellent thing to examine ourselves and take away anything that is base and fold our hands. Dollar worship must not predominate or Canada's future would be small indeed. Cultivate the fear of God and follow righteousness. Men who will not give up their personal gain are what are wanted—men who realize the truth of God's word, which says, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

Now, in regard to hotel accommodation, I contend that the facts, as usually represented in connection with this question, are decidedly misleading, and, speaking from personal experience, I have no hesitation in stating that some of the best places I have ever been obliged to seek accommodation at in this country were hotels (so-called), licensed to sell intoxicating liquor. As is well known, license to sell liquor is often granted where the house and rooms are small, and in such communities these places frequently the nightly resort of the tough element of the neighborhood. TWO CLOUD ARMIES

Fought a Battle Above a German Village.

Heidelberg, March 8.—A terrifying phenomenon in the heavens recently alarmed the superstitious villagers of Dorndach and Oberndach. In the clouds, just before 10 o'clock in the forenoon, there appeared a right red streak, on which could plainly be seen a landscape, with fields, streams and woods, among which two bodies of troops in battle formation were advancing toward each other. The scene was held by the garrison of Mergentheim, some twenty miles distant, and had been mirrored on the clouds.

Half an hour later the picture suddenly disappeared, but the excitement and fear aroused among the villagers lasted until next morning, when the explanation appeared in the newspapers of this district, that a sham fight had been held by the garrison of Mergentheim, some twenty miles distant, and had been mirrored on the clouds.

ALMOST A WRECK.

Boy Flagged Train When Sleigh Blocked Track.

Galt, Ont., March 21.—A bad railway smash-up was narrowly averted this afternoon. Joseph Hallman, of St. George, was on his way to Galt with a big sleigh load of young cattle, when the sleigh struck on the C. P. R. track at Barrie's cut, and all efforts to move it proved vain. In the midst of the work the rumble of an approaching train was heard. Mr. Hallman, whose young son was with him, had the presence of mind to send the boy down the track to flag the train.

Fortunately, the engineer of the first engine—it was a double-header—noticed the wild signals of the lad, and pulled up, bringing the freight to a standstill within a foot of the sleigh load of cattle blocking the track.

Welland Suing the Gas Company.

Welland, March 20.—This town has entered suit against the Mutual Natural Gas Company for fifteen thousand dollars. Nearly two years ago the town steam roller broke a gas pipe, setting fire to and burning the Methodist Church. The town was compelled to pay damages. It now claims the gas company had no right to put the gas pipe where it was.

Veterans' Land Grants.

Ottawa, March 21.—The number of warrants issued by the Interior Department for land grants to South African veterans has now reached 6,500, but of this number only some 400 locations have as yet actually been made. It is estimated that nearly 4,500 warrants are now in the hands of speculators, who have purchased them from the veterans.

Ontario incorporations include Canadian Telephone Co., $1,000,000; Whittier Motor Bus Co., $12,000,000; Industrial Cash Buyers' Union, and Union Mission for Men, Ottawa.

FIREMEN HURT.

Pigs With Tuberculosis—Officers of the Dragons.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)
Brantford, March 22.—A peculiar fire occurred here on Saturday night at the G. T. R. round house, when a cabin on an engine caught on fire, probably from a lighted torch. There was a lively blaze and the city fire department was summoned. One stream of hose had to be put on the engine, and while this order was being carried out, Firemen F. Howarth and Ribby, who had hold of the nozzle, stumbled down a hole made between the tracks from which to repair the under part of engine. Howarth had four ribs crushed in and his back was severely hurt. Ribby was severely shaken up. The place was pitch dark, and filled with steam from the engine. A large quantity of packing also ignited and made things worse. Before it could be extinguished the outer casing around the boiler had to be cut into and the packing removed. The condition of the injured fireman is critical.

GENERAL NOTES.

Market Inspector Cutcliffe on Saturday seized five pigs infected with tuberculosis, and ordered the same to be destroyed by the sanitary department. Mrs. Mary Duteau, the mother of Mrs. George Battye, Cainsville, is dead, in her 69th year.

Mr. McLellan, formerly of Essex, has succeeded manager Hood of the town Bank, Scotland.

Another outbreak of chicken thieving has been reported from West Brantford and vicinity.

COOPERS OUT ON BAIL.

Rosh of Citizens File Bonds of Nearly $1,500,000.

Nashville, Tenn., March 21.—Last night, after filing a bond totalling nearly a million and a half dollars, Col. D. B. Cooper and Robin J. Cooper, convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary for the killing of former Senator E. W. Carmack, retired to the home of Judge J. C. Bradford.

Although Judge Hart fixed the bond at $25,000 for each defendant, there was a rush to sign it on the part of many wealthy citizens of Nashville, which fairly swamped the clerk in the Criminal Court.

In vain he protested, over and over again, that more than enough sureties had been signed, but the inevitable answer was, "We want to put our names on that bond, too."

WOMAN LEAPS FROM WINDOW.

Former Resident of Owen Sound May Die in Butto.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 21.—Mrs. William Ferguson, 37 years old, of Owen Sound, Ont., leaped from a window on the third floor of a rooming-house in Washington street here to-day.

She had been enticed to a room by a man who had promised her liquor. Mrs. Ferguson had some words with the man and then rushed to the window and threw herself to the pavement, 30 feet below. Both of her legs were broken and her spine was hurt. She may not recover.

Mrs. Ferguson deserted her husband and two children a year ago and has been living in Eagle street here as Mrs. William Wright. Her father, John C. Wright, living near Owen Sound, is reported to be a well-to-do farmer.

Arthur Barker, 52 years old, from whose room she escaped by jumping, is under arrest. He is held on an open charge.

Galt's New Lecture Hall.

Galt, March 21.—Knox Church, whose pastor is Rev. R. E. Knowles, widely known as a preacher and novelist, had a high day to-day, to celebrate the opening of the magnificent new Sunday School and lecture hall. The new building, constructed of solid stone, has been erected at a cost of about $25,000, is most complete in every arrangement, and will seat a thousand persons. The services to-day were conducted by Rev. Dr. Ross, of St. Andrew's, London, and large congregations attended. Rev. R. E. Knowles assisted in the services.

Dr. Charles Moxley, of North Bay, died on Saturday at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, after an illness of several months, following an operation for appendicitis. Dr. Moxley was thirty years of age and unmarried. His parents reside in Kingston, where the funeral will take place.
