THE HOSPITAL SHIP "LOYALTY"

HER INTERESTING CAREER RECALLED

1915, ex-R.M.S. "Empress of India" Hospital ship "Loyalty," Bombay.

Quite recently the hospital ship "Loyalty" has been converted in Bombay into a troopship, and the occasion appears to justify publication of some account of her career as a hospital ship, a career which was not only one of great service but which reflects in a very remarkable way the great generosity of his Highness, the Maharajah of Gwalior.

Incidents at Sea. Unique as part of the ship's life-saving work was the rescue of the crew of the steamship "Ben Vorlich," after that ship had been shelled and torpedoed by a German submarine near Ushant, on August 1st, 1915.

Record of Four Years. The "Loyalty" sailed from the Persian Gulf on November 29th, 1914, having been renamed by Lady Wellingdon on the previous day, and from that time up to nearly the end of last year she was in commission.
