LECTURE.—The Society of Christian Endeavor of the North Street Methodist church has secured Mr. T. McGillivray to deliver his lecture on "Backbone" in the church on Monday evening next.

ORGAN RECITAL.—The "opening of the pipe organ recently put up in Knox church, Goderich, will take place on Friday evening next, 11th May, beginning at 8 o'clock p. m. The keys will be manipulated by Dr. Verinder, the well known London organist, and Miss Nettie Seegmiller of Goderich. A number of anthems will also be sung by the choir during the evening. FOR FRUIT-GROWERS.—We have received, neatly bound in cloth, a copy of the "Reports of the Fruit-Growers Association and Entomological Association for 1882," and believe it should be in the hands of every lover of horticulture. It contains many valuable hints regarding the culture of fruits and vegetables, and is worth much to the progressive Canadian farmer or the amateur gardener. Among those contributing to the interest of the work we observe the name of our townsman, A. McD. Allan, who is regarded as an authority on fruits.

HIGHLY SATISFACTORY.—The report of Inspector McLean on the state of the Goderich High School has been forwarded to Mr. Peter Adamson, secretary of the board of trustees by Mr. Alex. Marling, secretary of the board of education. The school was inspected on the 18th of April. The number of pupils on the roll was 119, of whom 95 were present. In the report the trustees are recommended to introduce vocal music, especially as Mr. Halls is amply competent to teach that branch; also that drawing, in Walter Smith's method, be given in the lowest forms. The report concludes as follows: "The school continues to do good work. The results of examination of several classes were very good. The mathematical master,

Mr. Moore, was not present.

The unitary class very well. The intermediate class has had a good foundation laid in mathematics. Mr. Halls' class did exceedingly well, as also did the principal's class. Miss Oliver is a clear and energetic teacher. The discipline is good, and the general tone of the school is very excellent.

"Backbone."—Rev. S. Jones, pastor of Knox church, Brussels, says of Mr. T. McGillivray's lecture, to be given in the North Street Methodist church on Monday evening:—"We have paid $25 to bring a lecturer here who didn't give us such a treat." No admission fee will be charged on Monday, but a collection will be taken up for the Society of Christian Endeavor in connection with the church.

An exchange thus alludes to an accident which happened to a gentleman who has been paying a visit to old friends in Goderich since the occurrence:—Mr. H. S. Holmes, station agent at Theford, had a narrow escape from death a few nights ago. A lamp exploded, setting fire to the bedroom and Harry had his whiskers burned and was otherwise scorched before he got out. The fire was extinguished before much other damage was done. Harry is a son of the veteran conductor D. Holmes, who pioneered the first R. R. coach to Goderich and who is still on duty.

Rev. J. Wakefield, of this town, has a remarkably intelligent parrot, which took up a position at the recent bazaar, and coolly surveyed the crowds who patronized that affair. At one time Mr. Wakefield entered the room by a door at the end opposite where the parrot was clinging to the cage, and whistled. " Polly" immediately took wing, flew over the heads of the surprised people present, and alighted on the crown of her cleric owner. Then she sat on his finger and cooed satisfaction. She was not in talking mood on Tuesday, that Polly took a rest.

BAZAAR.—The "apron bazaar" in aid of the North St. Methodist church, held on Tuesday and Wednesday, was a marked success. A large quantity of aprons, pinafores, baby's dresses, etc., were disposed of at very reasonable prices, while the restaurant department did a roaring trade. The dinners were amongst the best served in town, and the tables were well patronized by several judges of a good dinner, and pronounced her—sustained an injury, the great pulse of America throbbed sympathetically for her, and the press of the United States gave decided expression to the feelings of the people of our country towards Britain (a Queen in her physical suffering. This was to be should be, and was equalled by the kindly expressions of sympathy by the great London papers—the Times, and Telegraph, and others—when President Arthur was stricken down with illness on his recent trip to the South. Somewhere he had read that a prophecy had been made that this world would be eventually ruled by two great nations, and these nations would be Britain and America. He had an abiding faith in that prophecy, and believed the day of consummation was nearer at hand than most persons imagined. (Hear, hear.) The Major then went into the questions of kindly relations, brotherliness, &c., &c., and after again thanking the chairman for compiling his name with the toast closed with a brilliant peroration amid tumultuous applause.

"The Prince of Wales and Royal Family." Song by Charlie Thomas.

"The Day we celebrate," was next introduced. The chairman in bringing the toast before the meeting gave a brief history of the growth of Oddfellowship in America, and pointed out the many benefits to be derived from connection with the order.

The toast was fittingly responded to by Bros. F. F. Lawrence, Joseph Beck and John Naim—three of the pioneers of Huron Lodge.

Song by D. McGillivray.

"Huron Lodge," was coupled with the names of Bros. Murney, Ball and Mitchell, who responded in suitable terms. Song by Geo. Striven.

The Press" was replied to by D. McGillivray.

Song by William Babb.

The Ladies, fired the hearts of Messrs. W. H. Ridley, D. Cantelon and Russell, and caused fervid rhetoric and gladsome gushfulness to flow in an almost unbroken stream from their lips. Some of the remarks, it is true, were highly imaginative, owing to the fact that none of the respondents was in a position to speak other than theoretically on the subject; but as one of the speakers naively put it: "Yet in a little while I shall be able to testify steadfastly and without fear of that, which, in response to this toast—"The Ladies"—I now approach with tenacity and trembling.

"The Host and Hostess," was replied to by Mr. Babb.

The pleasant gaiting was formally closed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and the "National Anthem."

Long John Reilly, an American baseball player, made a home run in a game played last week. In moving from first to second base, he took just thirteen strides.

It is remarkable that Tipperary is in these days one of the quietest counties in Ireland, while Galway, once a peaceable, has become a "power of murder."

The statement that John Brown left $5,000,000—a sum larger than has ever been left by any British lord chancellor—is utterly untrue. He may have left a few thousand pounds, but that is all.

THREE LINKS.

Goderich, and follows Celebrate the 66th Anniversary of American Oddfellowship.

The members of Huron Lodge, I. O. O. F., and their friends celebrated the 64th anniversary of Oddfellowship in America by a supper at the Ocean House on the evening of Thursday, April 26th. There was a large attendance. The spread was an excellent one, and reflected credit upon the caterer, Bro. Wm. Babb, and also testified to the culinary skill of Mrs. Babb.

After the tables had been cleared, Bro. F. W. Johnston, who occupied the chair, introduced the list of toasts in his usual happy and felicitous fashion.

"The Queen"—A verse of the "National Anthem."

"The President of the United States," coupled with the name of Major Crane.

The Major in responding to the toast, said he was pleased to be with the Oddfellows tonight, for although not a member, he had found many good friends among those who professed the principles of "Oddfellowship." As an American citizen he thanked them for honoring the toast of the President of the great Republic, and was glad to do so, since the time when the colonies severed their connection with the mother land, now over a century since—had more amicable relations existed between the people of the two lands, and he trusted the feelings of friendliness and fraternity would ever continue. (Cheers.)

Lately when the Queen of England—God bless her—sustained an injury, the great pulse of America throbbed sympathetically for her, and the press of the United States gave decided expression to the feelings of the people of our country towards Britain (a Queen in her physical suffering. This was to be should be, and was equalled by the kindly expressions of sympathy by the great London papers—the Times, and Telegraph, and others—when President Arthur was stricken down with illness on his recent trip to the South.
