The Guy Celebration.

The Western Daily Press of Bristol more than a column appears about the tercentenary of the establishment of Guy's Colony in Newfoundland.

In its issue of March 1st, an article of more than a column appears with Bristol and Newfoundland, and the early fishing days and attempts at colonization. On March 2nd appeared a still lengthier article, which concludes with the suggestion that Bristol, the birthplace of Guy, should be associated with the enterprise. "In any measure of this kind Bristol should be associated, and the city's commercial links with the British dominions of North America suggest that the opportunity should not be lost sight of."

We notice also in the issue of March 1st a review of a souvenir of Bell Island by Mr. J. F. Jardine, with special reference to a visit to Bristol paid by His Grace Archbishop Howley, and his observations on the Cabot Towers at Bristol and St. John's and on Cabot's Landfall.

Governor's Speech

IN PROLOGUING THE ASSEMBLY THIS AFTERNOON.

Mr. President and Honourable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council: Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly: It is with pleasure that I find myself in a position so speedily to receive you of your Parliamentary duties. The session, whilst almost unprecedented in your history for the number and variety of the measures considered, comprehending creative and constructive legislation—perhaps without example in the Colony's annals, has been marked by such elasticity and business-like methods as have enabled a great volume of business to be transacted in a remarkably short time.

The early opening of the session has, I am pleased to observe, been welcomed by the community, in that it has enabled the sittings to be conducted with the least inconvenience of both branches, and to elicit the best of both branches, an eloquent and earnest interest in the proceedings from the public generally. The many important measures that you have considered should be productive of great good to the country at large, especially those which will aid in the establishment of an industrial policy of varied aspects. The encouragement which you have afforded for the development of Coal, Petroleum refining, Copper smelting, Wool manufacturing, Mineral discovery, and kindred lines of industrial activity, should result in greatly extending the avenues of employment for the people, and diversifying the pursuits upon which the prosperity of the Colony is based.

The measure for the extension of the Railway system of the Colony is one that should exert very beneficial influences on the future of Newfoundland. The unanimous testimony as to the advantages which the Railway construction thus far has bestowed on the Island justifies the conclusion that the proposed Branches will contribute in an important degree to the same direction. The reception which the measure has met at your hands gives confidence that the generous support of all classes towards carrying out a comprehensive policy for the well-being of Newfoundland will bear fruit in her attaining in the near future a degree of betterment far exceeding any she has yet enjoyed. The policy outlined by my Ministers with regard to Agricultural development must commend itself to the Colony generally. Its details are so fully set forth, and it embraces all classes so completely that its benefits cannot fail to be widely diffused and to result in an effective stimulus being imparted to our Agricultural industry with marked good to those who follow this avocation, and to the country as a whole. The determination to make agricultural subjects more a feature of the educational system of the colony is a step in the right direction, and it is especially gratifying to observe that it has been found possible to substantially augment the vote for Education against this session in addition to the handsome increase which was voted in June last.

The widespread destruction to public wharves, breakwaters, roads and bridges caused by the storms in November and December last will, I am glad to say, be made good in a great measure by the appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) which you have provided for the purpose.

The enactment of a measure for the prohibition of steam vessels engaging in the Labrador fishery, which has been advocated so strenuously for some years past by the thousands of our people who fish on that coast, will assure the permanence to them of the industry in the form it is at present prosecuted, unthreatened by the ruinous competition which the employment of steam power has wrought to similar industries in other countries. The unanimous adoption of this measure by both your Houses is a testimony to the manner in which questions affecting the great industry of the people are considered by you. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly:

I thank you for the liberal supplies which you have provided for the public service, and which shall be devoted economically. I am pleased to note that a substantial surplus is anticipated for the current fiscal year, and to realize that the various measures which have been determined upon this session can be effectuated without any increased taxation.

In view of the Colony's gratifying financial position, my Ministers will devote attention, during recess, to the matter of the revision of the tariff. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly: The question arising out of the interpretation of Article 1 of the Treaty of 1818 between His Majesty's Government and the Government of the United States submitted to the arbitration of the Hague Tribunal will come before that body in June next for determination. United action has been agreed upon between His Majesty's Government, the Government of the Dominion of Canada, and the Government of this colony with a view to the adequate presentation of the British case before the Tribunal.

In relieving you from your sessional duties I again congratulate you upon the expeditious manner in which so large a volume of business has been disposed of. I trust that the prosperity of the country may long continue, and I pray that Divine Providence may bless the labors of your people.

CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH.
Mrs. Wm. Ball, Bracebridge, Ont., writes: "My three boys had whooping cough and we could get nothing to help them until we used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the cough at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. This was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

Small Pox and Diphtheria Increasing.

Three additional cases of small pox were reported this morning from Grand River, Codroy. The totals about 16 cases to date in that place. It is of the usual mild type of disease, nevertheless Magistrate McDonald and the doctor there are doing their utmost to stamp it out. All the people are submitting to vaccination and the infected houses have been placed under strict quarantine. In other patients, a female, was removed from the General Hospital this morning to the Fever Hospital. It is feared she is developing diphtheria and she was placed there to be under observation. Two new cases of diphtheria were also reported to-day from Pouch Cove. The disease has been there for some time, the houses of Messrs. Ryan and Noseworthy being infected. Both these men had intended going to the States, but could not do so owing to the outbreak of the disease. Members of the families of Messrs. Flight and Williams to-day have developed the disease. Their houses are quarantined and efforts are being made to stamp out the malady.

The engines were taken abroad and given necessary attention, and the ship's well was cleaned and painted under the water line. The superstructure is to-day being chipped and painted, and the staterooms, saloons and steering apartments are being newly painted and decorated. Her bows have been strengthened with heavy steel stringers and beams to enable her to better withstand the shock of contact with the ice, and everything has been done by her owners, Bowring Bros., to put her in first class condition for the northern service this season.
