N.I.W.A. Condemn New Business Tax Scheme.

At the regular weekly meeting of the N.I.W.A. Association held in the L. S. P. D. Hall last night, the matter of an imposition of a tax of 25 per cent. on net business profits of over $2,000 annually was greatly criticised and condemned as unfair. The majority of those present were of the opinion that the passing of such an act would mean the throwing of hundreds of workers out of employment at a time in the year when they could least afford to be out of work. It must be remembered that the Association stands for fair play, and the interests of the honest business man will be safeguarded by them. However, excess profits should in all cases be taxed, and on reasonable profits over a certain amount a graded tax imposed. A letter was received from the Premier intimating that the request of the Association for two-thirds representation on the proposed Board of Food Control would be laid before the Executive. A resolution protesting against the limiting of the Board was passed. The number should in no case be less than ten. Forty new applicants were admitted to membership which brings the total strength to 750. The Association in taking a firm stand in protesting against the passing of an act that spells ruin to the commercial life of the country is to be commended for its action.

THE Sunlight enterprise and organization for production, manufacture, and distribution were made complete long before the war. But during the war the difficulties and costs of transport have been multiplied. Therefore, Lever Brothers have purchased a fleet of steamships to convey raw materials direct from their plantations to Port Sunlight.

The Housewife is given the full benefit of this enterprise, and thus, in spite of the difficulties caused in England by the war, Sunlight Soap remains the best soap throughout the world, and gives the fullest value for the housewife's money.

WEEK END NOTES.

(I. C. M.)

There is something about the term "National Government" which seems to smoothen the pathway of our local politics and to impart to the public a close feeling of brotherhood. Of course a very little unity would improve the spirit of our public life; that is, if what our leaders have said about not true, but much of it was necessary for the maintenance of party interests. And what an abyss of wrangling our party politics have been and how much bitterness has been displayed by every faction. Would it be too much to expect, or would the hope be too bright, that for our public life, and that our public men be respected and looked up to and believed in as becometh their position and their high calling?

The country is to be congratulated that for awhile at least the old and overworked and hackneyed terms of Liberal and Tory, are buried, and that we breathe the atmosphere of a better system. Perhaps during the interim we may have time to see our mistakes in this respect, and to decide a better course for the future. Our public life should at all times have the very best that can be devoted to it, but while leaders bicker and followers quarrel, the best cannot be obtained, nor can the country's interests be safe-guarded as they should be. We do not know how much we have lost because of our extreme party politics; in dollars and cents the price has been steep, but in ill-will and hard sayings the record is lamentable and surpasses one's ideas of decency or citizenship.

But under the regime of a National Government such undesirable exhibitions will not be possible, nor can men display their smaller selves. This certainly is the cause for congratulations, and it may permit of a hope that a better and more honourable day is in store for us in these things. At the present moment the heats of the them seem quite possible and perhaps desirable they did not admit of anything beyond supposition. If we could have a few years of united government it would indeed be a great blessing, for we truly have had enough of party strife. Some people say that there must be opposition; but why so much of it? Why not every man do his best and leave the rest with the Auditor General? Surely such an official as Mr. Berteau has proved himself to be a man to be trusted for awhile, and his expertness can be depended upon. Much of the opposition, so called, which we have had in the past has not been genuine; in many cases it was only a game of hindrance and of crookedness and proved but a waste of time. With a National Government this is not possible, and because of this we heartily congratulate the leaders upon their decision to join hands for awhile at least; and whatever the result may be we should give them credit for sincerity in this step, and back them up with our sympathy and thereby do our part in helping our people over the crisis now upon us and through the storm that now beats against us. The seriousness of the moment demands our best service. Let us then readily give it, and when the storm ceases and we again anchor in the haven of tranquillity we will have the great joy of knowing that when danger threatened us we forgot our differences and joined hands, and thereby saved the situation.

THE BIG FAMILY.

Our family, in times of peace, has many rows and wrangles; it sometimes takes the town police to quell our little jangles. Then a mother, losing all her tact, complains of which and father reads the riot act, and sister nags her brother. Sometimes the pans and skillets fly, heaved by indignant tosser, and uncle catches, with his eye, perhaps a cup or saucer. Sometimes our grandma takes a broom and knocks the dust from auntie, and now and then we wreck a room, and fairly rock the shanty. But if a neighbor seeks our door, with warlike furs and bluffing, we cease our rows forevermore, and from him knock the stuffing. Forgotten every grievance then, all friction has an ending; the women line up with the men, our little shack defending. In normal times this happy land is full of noisy friskers, who see that harmony is canned, and pull each other's whiskers. A stranger standing on a height, our ways not understanding, would think we lived to whoop and fight, some neighbour's scalp demanding. But when outsiders come along, to mix in, uninvited, we cease to thrash the private wrong; and we all stand united.

Scientific Cure for Eczema

New Discovery—Thousands Find Relief.

No scientific discovery in recent years has attracted such wide-spread attention among physicians in this country and throughout Canada as the wonderful D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

After years of debate, medical authorities are now agreed that eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood but are caused by myriads of microscopic germs gnawing the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased.

Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin. The medicine must be in liquid form in order to penetrate properly. The true remedy has been discovered in D. D. Prescription. The instant you wash with this cleansing, soothing liquid you will find the itch gone. Simple to use, absolutely harmless to the most sensitive skin. D. D. Prescription is the most scientific and efficient remedy known for Eczema in all its forms. Bad Leg, Phlegm, Scalp Troubles, Open Sores and Itching Rashes, Salt Rheum and Ring Worm, and all other skin troubles yield to D. D. The first bottle will prove it.

Stop that itch now, get a bottle of D. D. Prescription to-day.
