ways successful, and the latest addition to under-sea power was at once towed to the dockyard for completion.

The new vessel is the last word in submarines; she is really a submersible battle-cruiser. Her displacement when submerged will be 3,600 tons, 1,400 tons greater than that of the largest German submarine and considerably greater than any of the existing American types. On the surface the X-1 will use steam for navigation, but when submerged will use electricity.

There is a great diversity of opinion regarding the size of the new vessel's armament. In some quarters it is said she will mount a gun of 12 or 13.5-inch calibre. It is possible, however, that the X-1 has been designed for a high surface speed, enabling her to work with the Grand Battle Fleet. If this is true a big gun would not be carried.

The cost of the new submarine, apart from armament and ordnance stores, will be nearly $5,000,000. At present there are 59 submarines in the British Fleet, and of these the M class, which mount a 12-inch gun, are the most powerful.
