BERENBACH WINS DECISION

OVER JACK DELANEY.

Verdict by Narrow Margin—23,000

Fans Witness Match.

New York, Dec. 15.—Paul Berenbach of New York world's light heavyweight champion, successfully defended his title in a fast 15 round match against Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., at the first show ever held in the New Madison Square Garden, to-night.

The champion won a judges' verdict by a narrow margin in a furious battle in which both fighters went down for a count during the fierce encounter. The champion measured his length when Delaney landed squarely with a mule-kicking right to the jaw in the fourth round. The challenger went down in the twelfth when Berenbach's bone-crushing left found its mark. Twenty-three thousand fans jammed the new arena to see the match.

Fight by rounds:

Round 1—Delaney was given a rousing ovation as he was introduced to the throng which packed the New Garden. The challenger was forced to rise and bow three times before the cheering subsided.

Delaney danced around the champion for half a minute with out a blow landing. Delaney crossed his right but Berenbach caught it going away. Both appeared cautious and the crowd roared for action. Delaney landed two weak left jabs and the champion countered with a left to the body without damage. They were dancing at the bell. It was a lame round.

Round 2—The dancing continued; neither man appeared willing to open up. Delaney bounced a left jab off Berenbach's jaw and stumbled as he evaded the champion's return, falling to the ring, but he was up immediately. Delaney missed with his left and Berenbach landed a right to the jaw. Jack jarred the champion with a stiff left to the face. They continued to dance and jab weakly as the bell rang.

Round 4—The champion landed solidly to the challenger's head and body and Delaney countered with left to face. Berenbach rushed Delaney to a corner and had the better of a wild exchange. Delaney knocked Berenbach down with a well-timed right to the jaw and the champion took a count of three before he came up. Blood trickled from his mouth. It was a vicious knockout blow. Delaney was cool as he started to deliver the blow which almost changed the championship, but Berenbach covered completely. The bell rang with the fighters dancing cautiously.

Round 5—Delaney jabbed with his left and Berenbach backed away. A tantalizing jab brought fresh blood from Delaney's nose. Delaney cleverly blocked a left lead and kept sticking his left into Berenbach's face. Another stinging jab sent the champion into a clinch. A well delivered right sent Berenbach to his heels. Both bled as the fight assumed faster proportions. Delaney staggered Berenbach with his wicked right just before the bell.

Round 6—Berenbach stuck his right jab into Delaney's face and the challenger slipped to the ring in going away. Delaney continued to bother the champion with his tantalizing jab. Delaney was boxing cleverly and the champion could not get set for a punch.

Another well-timed right to the jaw forced Berenbach to clinch. A second one backed him to the ropes. Berenbach landed his left to the nose and the blood flowed more freely. Berenbach landed a vicious body blow as the bell ended the round.

Round 7—Berenbach rushed at his challenger with flying fists, landing both to the face, but Delaney boxed himself away. Berenbach sank a left to Delaney's mid-section but Delaney turned the champion around with a right to the jaw. Two smacking left jabs stung Berenbach. Another crashing right caught Berenbach on the jaw and he backed away. The challenger started an uppercut but it went wild. Delaney was jabbing as the bell rang.

Round 8—Both poked away with weak jabs. A vicious left bounced off Berenbach's brow and before he could counter another arrived. The third left jab caught Berenbach coming in and he landed two good blows to the body.

Round 9—They touched hands. Delaney sped over his jab to Berenbach's eye and danced away from a return. A right to the body doubled Delaney. They clinched. Another right to the jaw and Berenbach sagged. They hammered away mercilessly in Berenbach's corner. An uppercut drove Berenbach into a clinch. Both landed crashing drives to the face and jaw. The fans roared at the furious exchange. A weak right to the heart caught Berenbach coming in. They stood toe to toe and punched at the face. They were dancing at the bell.

To Encourage Native Authors and Artists

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 14. (G.P.)—Hon. Athanasius David, provincial secretary of Quebec, speaking before the Women's Canadian Club, urged women to encourage Canadian writers, poets, historians, novelists and magazine writers, Canadian artists, actors and especially screen actors.

"The sooner we take our inspiration from the words uttered by the men and women in our own country the better for our national life," he said.

The speaker told of the $5,000 fund voted by the Quebec government for the encouragement of Canadian authors.

to the body. Delaney was landing his jab, frequently crossing with his right at intervals, and the blood streamed from the champion's nose and mouth. Delaney swung Berenbach around with a straight left just before the bell rang.

Round 11—Berenbach slowed his challenger with his left to the stomach. Then he staggered him with a left to the head. Delaney missed an uppercut by inches but landed a left jab followed by a hard right to the jaw. Delaney landed a weak right to the jaw, the champion countering with two good body blows. Delaney staggered the champion with a right and Berenbach clinched as the bell rang.

Round 12—Berenbach's right eye was puffed double as he came up. The champion was moving away when Delaney crossed a right. Delaney put over another jab and the champion's right eye all but closed. Delaney punched Berenbach at will in a fierce exchange in the centre of the ring, rocking his head back with straight lefts and uppercuts. Delaney's right eye started to swell as Berenbach's left played its tattoo on the cheek bone. A short jabbing left floored Delaney as he was coming in but he was up without a count just before the bell rang.

Round 13—Berenbach started to punch wildly and chased his challenger around the ring. A stinging left spun Delaney around but he pulled in to a clinch. Both continued to jab away with lefts. The champion was growing stronger as he battered Delaney with both hands. The blood flowed freely from Delaney's nose as Berenbach's jabs landed to the face. Delaney landed a weak right at the bell.

Round 14—Both landed good jabs to the head. Berenbach's left glanced off Delaney's ear but Jack plugged away at the champion's ribs with his right hand. Berenbach staggered Delaney with a vicious left to the body and Delaney went to one knee but was up immediately. The blow hurt the challenger. Delaney lifted a right uppercut and followed with a jab and Berenbach got over an uppercut in return. They were clubbing away at the body at the bell.

Round 15—They touched hands. Delaney sped over his jab to Berenbach's eye and danced away from a return. A right to the body doubled Delaney. They clinched. Another right to the jaw and Berenbach sagged. They hammered away mercilessly in Berenbach's corner. An uppercut drove Berenbach into a clinch. Both landed crashing drives to the face and jaw. The fans roared at the furious exchange. A weak right to the heart caught Berenbach coming in. They stood toe to toe and punched at the face. They were dancing at the bell.

Round 16—Both poked away with weak jabs. A vicious left bounced off Berenbach's brow and before he could counter another arrived. The third left jab caught Berenbach coming in and he landed two good blows to the body.

Health and Prosperity
at Hampden

The following message from the Telegram correspondent speaks in the highest terms of the conditions at Hampden, and describes the progress made in connection with the church and school:

Special to Evening Telegram.

WESTPORT, Dec. 15.

Last Sunday Hampden celebrated with much enthusiasm the opening of the new building for church services above the new school house. The place was packed with people from Hampden and the logging camps, and repeated references of gratitude were made for what the people were enjoying in health and prosperity, and for what Mr. Crowe had done to bring this about. There are now about fifteen hundred persons that Mr. Crowe brought from all parts of the coast, and who are now in and around Hampden depending upon the labour here, and the men are earning from three to five dollars per day cutting pulpwood, for which they are paid in cash or food and clothing. About 49 new families arrived in Hampden this year, the old ones remaining. Doctor Greenman and Nurse Layton after visiting all the shacks, and reporting that the people were contented and comfortable, also said that everything possible was done for the comfort of the new families on their arrival. There are over two hundred children and Rev. Mr. Lacey declared he never saw brighter, healthier and better dressed children in any of the Sunday Schools that he had visited. Captain King, Principal of the Day School, attributes their mental advancement largely to the modern Kindergarten training received at Hampden during the past two years. Church and schools, the latter having three teachers, are united and the women of all denominations are uniting in a fancy sale on Wednesday night from which they expect to realize a good sum. Preparations are being made for a mammoth Christmas Tree for which Santa Claus has made ample provision.—COR.

At a meeting of the Nfld. Poultry Association, held last night at the Board of Trade Rooms, five new members were elected, viz., E. C. Smith, Robert Munn, Alec Cobb of Harry's Brook, Douglas Thomas, Thomas Hussey.

President Dr. Arch Tait was in the chair and received the congratulations of the members on his election as Municipal Councillor.

Simple, Sensible
—a method
for skin beauty

IS your complexion somewhat a disappointment—each time you face a mirror? Have you perhaps overlooked the very simple, common-sense method of skin care which millions of women today employ?

If so, you will be well repaid for reading this.

New loveliness

The surest way to keep that priceless birthright of every woman—beautiful skin—is to cleanse the skin correctly, every night.

During the day foreign substances accumulate in the tiny pores: powder, rouge, dust from the air. Permitted to remain, these injure the skin—deadens and dull its loveliness. Blackheads and disfiguring eruptions often result.

One caution

Cleansing must be correctly done. It must be thorough—but it must not be harsh. That would be as dangerous as the unremoved dirt.

And there you have the real secret—millions of women have learned. The most desirable cleanser is Palmolive Soap—because it is blended of fine natural oils. It is thorough, but very gentle and mild.

What to do

At night, before retiring, wash thoroughly with Palmolive. Massage the delightful, soothing lather well into the pores. Then rinse. Once more—repeat washing and rinsing. Then a bit of good cold cream if the skin is dry.

This is all you need do. No fear then to use powder and rouge if you wish—and as much as you wish.

Only natural oils

No other oils than those from the African palm, coconut palm and olive trees are used in Palmolive. They—and nothing else—give Nature's green color to Palmolive Soap.

No need to risk using unknown soaps. Palmolive costs so very little it may well be used for the bath—doing for your whole body what it does for the face.

A week of this simple treatment will amaze you. Results anyone can see in even that short time. Obtain a cake today—and make the start.

Palmolive Soap is never sold unwrapped!
