CHICAGO MARINE BAND.

To Be at the Grand Opera House Next Thursday Evening. T. P. Books, the musical director of the Chicago Marine Band, which created such a sensation in Chicago, with its concerts of popular music last season, has long been known to musicians as a composer and leader worthy of respect. On the formation the Worlds' Fair, to take charge of that immense battleship which was such a grand happened to be in Chicago, was induced to organize a marine band for this amateur navy. The recruits, being from the best and wealthiest Chicago families, gave Mr. Brooke carte blanche to get a band that would be a credit to them, and he did. This was Brooke's great opportunity and he in June, 1893. He was arraigned yester- improved it. When the first appearance of day, but the evidence taken was that of the band was made, at quite a pretentious military affair in the First regiment armory. Not only were the naval officers astonished but all Chicago received a sensation. There was something new and decidedly exciting about the way the band played popular music. There were some elaborated Gilmorean ideas, but much more that was in the line of revelation. The devotees of military music had never heard such thrilling music from any band, and from that hour the name and fame of the favorite Chicago band has been spreading. In importance it was at once lifted away above the militia itself, and is now regarded as one of the greatest institutions in Chicago. Arrangements were made speedily for a series of concerts which ran throughout last season, and proved to be the most successful in every way of any known there.

After Better Rates.

Mr. Alf, Robinson Visits the Canadian Northwest

In an Endeavor to Secure Better Commercial Privileges for Representatives of Western Houses.

Mr. Alf. Robinson, the secretary of the Western Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association, returned this morning from a two weeks' trip in the Northwest in the interests of the association. Mr. Robinson's chief object was to confer with the railway men of the Northwest for better privileges than commercial travelers at present enjoy. In that country the regular rate varies according to the locality traversed. At present travelers receive a reduction of 25 per cent and a baggage allowance of 300 pounds. The traveling men think that they should get a reduction of at least 33 1-3 per cent and be allowed 400 pounds of baggage. Mr. Robinson was well received by the C. P. R.'s Winnipeg agents, and he thinks that prospects are bright for the granting of the request. He went as far west as Brandon and also went as far west as Brandon and also went into Southern Manitoba, visiting Mor- $7,000 Stock of ris, Baldwin and Miami. This year's harvest, he thinks, will set a great many farmers on their feet. In traveling through the country Mr. Robinson met many representatives of London wholesale firms. He states that the wholesale trade of London houses with the Northwest is better in proportion than that of either Toronto or Montreal. Many of the merchants have at times been in business in Western Ontario, and as London prices are as low as any their predilections run this way.
