THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Opening of the Local Season Sept. 8.

The House Undergoing a Thorough Renovation-Strong Class of At-tractions Booked-A Successjul Season Assured.

The season of inactivity and rest is nearly past and the long winter evenings will soon be here. The theatrical season will open in a couple of weeks time, and to many it will be welcomed with pleasure. The intelligent theater-goer in London of recent years has become a connoisseur in dramatic and operatic works, and a play with any sort of a metropolitan success will always be well attended. Last season's bookings were about the best ever given, and financially the theater came out ahead and financially the theater came out ahea and financially the theater came out ahead of any year previous. Successful management combined with the personal popularity of the officials has had a great deal to do with it.

The Grand this year will open on Friday, Sept. 8. The house is now undergoing a thorough renovation. During the summer much has been done to improvathe theater in the way of comfort for its patrons. An entire cleaning and renovathe theater in the way of comfort for its patrons. An entire cleaning and renovation of the interior has been made. New carpets will be laid throughout. A new floor will be laid on the stage. The scenery will be retouched and new drops painted. The dressing-rooms will undergoa thorough over hauling. Several new pictures of prominent professionals will adorn the lobby. The improvements will be pleasing to the several new professionals will adorn the lobby. hauling. Several adorn the lobby. The professionals will adorn the lobby. The improvements will be pleasing to the eye, and the house, always attractive, will present and cleaner appearance. The and the house, always attractive, will present even a neater and cleaner appearance. The strong attractions booked promise the most successful season of the Grand Opera House. Mr. C. J. Whittney, now one of the largest theatrical managers in the country, is in New York city engaging more companies. He has now some seventeen theaters under his contral and seventeen the sev more companies. He has now some seventeen theaters under his control, and every prominent house in Ontario is included in this list. Both houses in Toronto, the Hamilton, London and Woodstock theaters are leased in his name. The American theaters funder his management are the three houses in Detroit, awo in Buffalo and one each in Toledo, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Bay City and Saginaw. This will give London a chance of seeing the more recent successful plays, as is seen in the booking given below. The orchestra will again be under the leadership of Mr. Fred L. Evans, who the leadership of Mr. Fred L. Evans, who gave patrons last season the best music the theater ever had. He has just returned from Detroit with an entire new set of orchestral music and is aow, busy rehearsing the different pieces. Mr. James Lamb will remain as chief usher and Mr. Gus Schabacker as stage manager. Mr. Ernest Ruse has been appointed chief ticket seller. Manager A. E. Roote has in the aboves competent set of (filicials, and under his careful.) petent set of officials and under his careful eye a second year's success is no doubt in store for the Grand under his care.

eye a second year's success is no doubt in store for the Grand under his care.

"Held in Slavery" will open a preliminary season Sept. 8 and 9, and matinee on latter date. Jarbeau puts in the entire fair week—18th to 23rd. Before Christmas the following companies are booked: Silver King, Rhea, Modjeska, Walker Whitesides (the boy tragedian). Clare Celeman, Lady Wildermere's Fan, Robin Heed, Robert Downing, Corinne, Faust, Arthur Lloyd, Ramsay Morris Company, Tavary Opera Company, Fire Patrol, The Drews, Jane, Dan McCarthy, Fay Foster and Ivy Leaf. Commencing in January are the following: Spider and Fly, Rice & Barton, Kellar, Isle of Champagne, Wilson Barrett, Master and Man, Field's Minstrels, Lillian Kennedy, Thomas Keene, Barlow Minstrels, Tuxedo, Mantell, and Primosejk West's Minstrels. Henry Irving will probably play in some of the Canadian theater late in April.
